A close-up photograph of a black car door handle. The handle is mounted on a dark grey or black textured surface. A small red triangular button is visible on the handle, likely for emergency window release. A bright yellow sticky note is attached to the door panel to the right of the handle, with the number '518' handwritten in dark blue or black ink. The lighting is somewhat dim, highlighting the contours of the handle and the texture of the door panel.

A close-up photograph of a black car door handle. The handle is sleek and modern, with a red triangular keyhole cover. To the right of the handle, a yellow sticky note is affixed to the dark, textured door panel. The number '519' is handwritten in dark ink on the note. The background is a dark, textured surface, likely the interior of a car door.
