HELLO AGAIN!

As you can see from this relatively rapid follow-on to UT21 by UT22, I am beginning to catch up on the backlog of editions for this year; although even this issue should have reached your homes in early March '93. Hopefully, though, UT23 should reach you around the end of May this year, and thereafter – with a little bit of luck! – July's edition should be on time (hooray!), as should all further issues hence.

THE HYPOCRITICAL OATH?

As promised in UT21, I have begun to serialise the 'Quantock Horror' case. The reason I have done this is because the case contains all the familiar elements to be found in most of the other close-encounter cases documented all around the world, i.e.: the witness has had to live in a post-event traumatised state, he was given short shrift by the medical and psychiatric professions as soon as he mentioned the dreaded word "UFO", his social, work, family and marital life disintegrated catastrophically, he has reported other instances of time-loss and, from what seems to be the common denominator of all close-encounter witnesses, he has reported instances of extra-sensory phenomena in his life.

Whether the professions believe in UFOs is not the issue here. What is at issue is that the professions should, by now, be aware that reports of this kind is a global phenomenon which crosses all national and cultural frontiers and, as such, professionals, to whom the witnesses/victims turn for advice and treatment, ought to be taking the subject of close-encounters more seriously than is presently the case. Furthermore, the psychiatric profession should start to bone-up on the causes and manifestations of post-event trauma, so that, armed with the new perspective of PET, they might begin to listen to what the witnesses are saying to them and, thus, hopefully propose some effective treatment and counselling for these unfortunate people who go under the label of 'Close-Encounter UFO Witness'.

CONSPIRACY?

Again, as promised in UT21, I have begun to feature some papers by Mary Seal and her colleagues of the 'conspiracy school'. UFO 'conservatives' might not like this airing of the conspiracy hypothesis at all, but like all the other hypotheses before it, we must give it some consideration and allow Mary's argument to develop to the full. I, personally, am neutral at this stage, but increasingly I am beginning to see more manifestations of conspiracy papers and books, particularly from the USA, with ever more people lending credence to the claims being made. Indeed, much of this literature is backed by documented evidence, but time will tell whether or not the conspiracy hypothesis supersedes all the others developed over the past 40-odd years.

There is never a dull moment in this business, is there?

16 July 1990 Gordon Creighton,
FSR

Dear Gordon,

Most people would assuredly be at least as reluctant as I was to disclose some of the more peculiar activities of the vermin. There are still many things, candid though I have been, that I still can't bring myself to say. However, I have overcome those that fit neatly into the category of 'delusions of grandeur', though some of it remains hard to spit out. Hardly grandeur!

In the early hours of 16 July I was woken by a sound from the street and caught the tail end of a hastily discontinued chant in what sounded like a Semitic language (Aramaic perhaps?). Earlier this month the possibility was raised of someone coming to Boumemouth and doing some regressions on me – if that's the right phrase. Though I am reluctant to be hypnotised this particular investigator was very helpful and I hadn't ruled it out. Were the vermin perhaps teaching me the language or more likely making me fluent in a few choice phrases with references to events and place that could later be authenticated by genuine scholars from whom the phrases may have been plundered, for example, in an unpublished treatise. Harvard's School of Semitic Studies is only a short walk from where Borden was living. Any one of us thousands of likely lads unlucky enough to have fallen in the path of the vermin could be doctored in this way. What fun! This was by no means the first time I'd woken suddenly to surprise them in the middle of a chat with me. One time it was the words of a song that could conceivably be considered to have a subliminal suicide message. The vermin take the measure of their victims with such idiocies. This week in Nevada an English rock band called Judas Priest is being sued by the relatives of two teenagers who, it is alleged, committed suicide under the influence of subliminal messages in the band's songs. The band is composed of 'normal family men'.

My charges against those people I have named can be proved by usual police procedures. Photographs of them can be shown to all abductees and 'contacts'. If they are picked out from a number of innocent pictures that's a prima facie ground for continuing the investigation. Photos of the closest friends of the suspects' can be similarly circulated without undue fuss. Frequent visitors to Borden's apartment in 1986-87 included a man in his mid-twenties who, whenever I saw him, was always dressed in black (though I thought nothing of it at the time). Yes of course this is extreme but we cannot be extreme enough in this deadly struggle. Not Judas Priest, they are too well known, but their closest friends' photographs can be similarly and discreetly circulated. Okay it smacks of a witch hunt and I am an extremist because I'm in extreme peril and pain. So you sober, level-headed, objective guys think of a less hysterical strategy along those lines.

Yours sincerely,

M.S.S.

7 August 1990 Ron West

Dear Ron,

Most mornings I wake up with eyestrain but by mid-day my eyes have had a rest and they are alright again. They only cause of the eyestrain is the visual data I am bombarded with mostly while I am asleep in the form of vivid 'dreams'. Since I never was much of a dreamer I don't know if normal dreams affect the eyes and until the last couple of years I didn't know what eyestrain really felt like. Typing this I find laborious, but the eyeache feeling I woke up with is actually wearing off while I am doing it, now that THEY are not beaming the data to my eyes via the pellet which is the method of transmission.

I don't know that the illustrations of aliens in your first issue weren't all your cartoonist's fantasy pictures but the one on the lower right of page 17 gives me the chance to mention a very 'frightening' image that was transmitted just once, quite early on, that was not unlike that head, in a light yellow colour, that I was given to believe was THE BOSS. I was particularly impressed at the time because I was still unaccustomed to the DEEP FEAR I felt simultaneous to the transmission of this metallic looking being. Hundreds of weird looking entities have been relayed since then mostly without the emotional accompaniments. The point I am trying to make is that this is the first time I have mentioned METAL MAN because at the time I felt it was too absurd and mad sounding. Your reader-investigators should always bear in mind not only how intimidated by his vermin experiences the witness-victim is but also, being perfectly sane and aware of the difficulty of giving a convincing account he will arbitrarily withhold information that he thinks will lend itself too easily to the too facile conclusions of the sceptical listener.

After due consideration only two of the images I have seen might be the real thing in my opinion. One of them is very similar to that on the front cover of COMMUNION and has been frequently relayed to me as the indisputably most favoured form, appearing in Garden-of-Eden-like settings and is – how to say this? – that body within which they are offering me immortality!! During one transmission, before I went to sleep, a crowd of these creatures gave me a standing ovation when I said, "Whatever it is you have, I don't want." As they applauded I noticed only three digits on fungi-like hands. The only alien I saw 'live' was on Kirkland Street in Cambridge, Massachusetts at about 11.30 pm on Saturday March 7 (or the 14th). Early March in New England is usually cold and often snowy but that night was warm and clear and if this little man was wearing a vest and shorts as I recall it wouldn't have been all that unusual. Pictures of him spraying my hotel window with a noxious gas, from the fire escape, have been gloatingly relayed to me here in Bournemouth although at the time I couldn't see clearly out the window that it was he. Convincing pictures of the hotel room, the location of the furniture and of me and what I was wearing make for persuasive circumstantial evidence. But more than that are pictures of the curious aftermath early the following morning.

This alien looked much more human than the other type and had no features that I noticed that were particularly strange except perhaps his shortness of stature though he's not the shortest person of about 'thirty years of age' that I have seen amongst humankind. In two relays of him though he has appeared with wings and looking decidedly more sinister and also as a playful little 'elf' sporting lush, lengthy eyelashes. This last was at the end of a day when they a 'pillaged' a record number of mine.

Removing various bits of hair hasn't been all that intolerable but I really don't appreciate kindly meant advice by some people that I should ignore the assaults. Many of these apart from being painful are also disabling, like being jabbed in the knee or the foot. And no one who hasn't experienced it can really have any idea of what cosmic horror and terror is really like. I know I wouldn't have. The carefully orchestrated attacks I have been subjected to were probably designed that way in order not to lose me en route to the hell I am now in. Like first getting my feet wet in the shallow end of the murky mire. It's odd how some people who might at least half-believe my story have taken fright more at the idea of human criminals/drug dealers, and so on, than at the idea of cosmic criminals. Perhaps it's not so odd when you just don't know them. Interest in the corn circles will swiftly wane when you find what the perpetrators are really about. The vermin are only too well aware of this and are playing it for all its worth. With the circles you are getting a tantalising glimpse of their undies. Like a child badly bitten by an animal that originally aroused curiosity, you aren't going to want to see much more.

As criminals the vermin don't bother me nearly so much though the enclosed tape, made when I thought that is what they were, doesn't exactly sound unconcerned. Still it was never the MIBS (which I now know is what they were, although they did not always wear black) that bothered me; it was always actual physical assault and distress and harassment that I could not ignore. Being accosted on the street by idiots making inane remarks, however personal, I could shrug off. Even the hold-ups seemed stagey and not as traumatic as you might think. The only truly dramatic moment occurred when I eluded a bunch of MIBS who rushed me in Portsmouth in December 1988. That particular 'mise en scene' had nothing to do with them and is therefore not worth recounting. Probably not worth recounting also are the somewhat anecdotal verbal exchanges I have with them but they may afford some idea of the personality of the vermin at least when interacting with me, though how they interact with someone else might be quite different.

In terms of menace most of the MIBS I saw couldn't hold a candle to the swaggering 'hard knocks' who ruled the valleys (at least on Saturday nights) when I was growing up and with whom I played football in the park for years. XXXX and XXXX, for example, are a squalid-looking pair with crude jailhouse tattoos on the backs of their hands though I am not sure that they have criminal records. A friendly desk sergeant did say he knew "XXXX of old" but Huber couldn't find his name on the drug computer. This pair, who in September 1987, shot some sort of pop-gun gas pellet in my face, were easy to shake off, or so I thought. Appearances are deceptive; all the MIBs and WIBs are equally dangerous. You'll notice my earlier letters don't refer to the MIBs as such. It was only as recently as the June 13 letter to Clive Edwards that I finally and fully articulated who these creatures were and, true to form, the vermin who take their cue from such 'milestones' unleashed a final flurry of MIBs (& WIBs) at me in the few days subsequent to it. I say final because there has not been even one accosting or street 'incident' since. Before that there were at least two a month for thirty months in Bournemouth alone plus several elsewhere.

Sixty MIBBINGS, then, at an average of three new persons per MIBBING comes to 180 people. A MIBBING is here defined as an encounter with Men-in-Black, though by no means were all of them men nor, probably, were most of them wearing black except for the final flurry of mid-June when the MIBs and the WIBs were clothed entirely in black. Each encounter qualifies as a MIBBING because it included the reciting of personal details about me and/or the calling of my name. For instance, in August 1987 a smartly dressed family of four – man, woman and two boys – began throwing an American football at me as I was seated on the promenade in Bournemouth. As I moved away they started singing "God Bless America" and when I was further away calling my name. I turned back and they just looked blankly at me. Of the 180 about 120 were aged 18 to 26 of whom 20 were female. There is no reason at all to assume there aren't just as many females in this age group as males. Forty MIBs were aged 10 to 18, almost all male and there is also no reason to suppose there aren't just as many females and, furthermore, this age group has probably more vermin in it than any other! The twenty others were aged over 26 with at least two men in their fifties. I don't think either of these was XXXX, XXXX's stepfather, who moved from Poole to Lancashire some years ago with a lady who is at least wife number three. This latest wife, for all I know, is also in her fifties, but it might be interesting to find out if XXXX has started on at least his third family. Of course the lady might have brought with her, as XXXX's mother did, her own children ripe for slaughter, albeit unwittingly. If the pattern is that of extended clans in the XXXX fashion, the demographers might be able to quibble at my guess of about a thousand families in this area. But I am sure I didn't get to see members from every family here, perhaps not even half.

Doubling of this infestation every ten years will mean, if my present guess of 1% of the population is true, that by the fourth quarter of the next century there will be no humans left. This may be the most humane way to annihilate us, but there is nothing humane about these creatures and according to them they will be announcing their conquest as a fait accompli any time from yesterday or last week to 1996 at the latest. Part of their mischief is the threat of imminent disaster and then derive their satisfaction from the resulting chaos. Should this not prove sufficiently chaotic they'll add a little more poison to the brew. They defile everything they touch. The victims become parodies of their former healthy selves as if afflicted by a terrible disease or infirmity. Such an assault is bleak testimony to the aridity of the vermin existence and gives one pause to wonder if they are doing all this just to hurt us puny mortals or to offend some much higher order. But then, never underestimate the enormity of their pettiness, the painstaking attention to the most trifling detail.

Extreme as all my letters must seem, I consider only the one of July 16 to be perhaps a little excessive. I am not happy about naming Judas Priest since for all I know they are entirely innocent. "Don't be so sure", the vermin just said. All those I have named I am absolutely certain about. Indeed, I could have tracked down several more but it is a tiresome business and I don't want to make any serious mistakes. So my apologies to JP and I won't do that again.

Yours,
M.S.S.

ACCOUNT

I was on the side of the Quantocks, sat down, and was going to take some photos of [the] scenery when in the distance there was a very deep noise, so I looked towards the noise and there was a black object coming towards me. It had bat-like wings with decks, shape of a saucer-like in middle of wings.

I managed to take a photo of it as it was coming towards me. Then it came over and hovered for about 5 minutes. In that time, I saw it had two decks with a dome on top of it. Also, there was a person up inside the ship – he was smallish – he put a helmet on his head for talking – I have got a photo of him in the ship. As I had to lay down to take the photos, I felt my clothes get hot. The ship took up two fields and blocked out the sun when it came over.

When we got the photos back, we noticed they had burn marks on them – 2 years and 10 months I have been suffering from metal [sic] sickness and have had lumps rise on top of my head and the back of my head. Now they are coming at the side of my head. I get pushed from the back of my head and I get severe pain from this, and on top of my head, I feel it getting hard, then I get a severe pain from that as well – plus the “metals” – I calls it metals – I choke from this and I do suffocate from this.

When I eat, it makes it worse: the head and the pain. When I don't eat, I get this sickness and choke. It's very hard to stand up because my head feels heavy and pushes me forwards. Sometimes, it nearly pushes me to the floor and gives me backache. I have had Weetabix, and it makes my arms where the muscles are go big and it feels like my arms are ripping apart. My body all over at one time or another has been in very bad pain. It's hard at times to speak because it jams my mouth: I get very cold.

I have never had this before 1990 [and] happened less than two years after I saw the ship; it did not happen with the other one we saw. Sometimes I can remember what has happened to me and then my memory goes – what I am saying is true.

I hope you can help me in someway to get me out of this because I am in so much pain day by day. I cannot travel anywhere because of this – my wife is writing this as I now cannot write.

*Yours sincerely,
Mr. A. Burfield.*

TRANSCRIPT FROM TAPE
BUFORA OFFICE:-

In 1988, when my husband was on the side of the Quantocks taking scenery photographs a spaceship came along. It had a deep humming noise and the wings were shaped like a bat – we've got that one on photo – and as it came over it was 50ft [above] him or lower as my husband was lying on the floor [ground] as it blocked out the sun and it took up two fields; that's the bigness of it. It had two decks and a dome on top. My husband was lying on the floor taking this photo of it, and as he did, he felt his clothing... was burning through his body sort of thing; his body was burning shall I say as well as his clothing – sort of like singed. And the doors of the ship – you could see them underneath opening up – I've got it all on the photo – and we've also got a person which he saw float up and put a helmet on his head; that is also in the photo. I would not like to send these photos through the post because I may get them lost, and I wouldn't like that.

What has happened now to my husband is that he is very ill – he's got very ill... I might as well say it straight out is that it's metal sickness. It comes from the back of his head and it goes to his throat, then it blocks, and he chokes and he can't swallow hardly anything and he can't eat food very well. He can't touch water and he can't do a lot of things like he used to do. He's sort of like housebound and, more or less you might as well say, bedridden. I've asked my G.P. to intervene with this to help us, and he says, “Oh no, he's mental”. I've asked him to do a radiation test or put a Geiger Counter on him, and the answer is “No, we're not going to bother doing things like that as you're mental”. They do not seem to believe what we're going through and if I don't get much help soon I don't think he's going to live until Christmas; that is how bad he really is. It's his head: when he walks, his head bends down and it's like as though its going to snap off; the pain. He says it's like putting his head in a press and somebody pressing it, and it's so severe; that's the only way I can describe it.

Well, I've tried everything: I've tried the doctors, I've tried the Ministry of Defence – I've told them – and they told me to change my doctor, and they also told me to get a Geiger Counter... a radiological thing on it... for testing radiation.

If you would like to see the photos you could always come down and see them... Oh yes, and there's another thing as well what's affected: we're married and usually, years ago we used to have relationships... sort of things like that, but if I do have intercourse now with my husband I get sick the following day, and I either end up with stomach ache or terrific sickness; I feel sick all the time. I know there's something wrong... it never used to be like that, so I know there is something wrong with him and the doctors do not believe. They take one look at him, test his blood-pressure... and say, "Oh, he's had a bump on his head"; that's the first reaction. You know, and you try explaining to them that, "Oh, he hasn't had a bump on his head; that appeared there in 1990, two years after he took the photo of the spaceship. They say, "Oh well, you're just imagining things". I showed them the photo [and they said] "Oh, that's nothing". You know, you can actually see it: there's doors opening up underneath... even the bloody radiation on the film and they still don't believe, and I'm just getting a bit, you know, fed up, because I don't know what to do next...

I forgot to tell you: he's starting to suffocate as well and he's starting to get very cold at night and/or during the day; it's very hard for me to keep him warm.

Thank you – this is Mrs. Burfield of 26, Bayford Rd., Bridgewater, Somerset...

DESPERATION! [c 30-10-92]

Dear Sir,

I am getting very bad in head and body. I went out last night for a walk [and] I wish I did not: car lights pushed my head and then I had a very severe pain inside [the] back of my head, 'metals' inside [my] throat nearly blocked it and choked. My mouth [is] getting squeezed because of my head [and] cannot speak much now or think or that well.

What treatment would they give me from the USA? Would I have to go there? If so, how? I don't think they will do anything here; the doctors here think I am nuts.

I am getting very scared now because I don't know what is going to happen to me.

Yours sincerely,

Tony Burfield.

PRELIMINARY LETTERS TO OBTAIN N.H.S. TREATMENT FOR THE WITNESS

27-10-92

Drs. Reed and Taylor,
12, Taunton Rd.
Bridgewater, Somerset.

Dear Sir,

Re: my earlier letter of 24th inst. requesting that Mr. Burfield's case be reviewed in the light of further evidence of UFO-related injury.

Mrs. Burfield phoned me today in some distress to let me know of your answer concerning my letter. My instant reaction was I felt very disappointed to learn that you will not refer Mr. Burfield for specialist treatment at his local area health authority, although your response is not entirely unexpected.

Firstly, I wish to state that I do understand your reluctance to treat this case, since the characteristics of the UFO experience are so bizarre, as to throw the subject into the category 'psychotic' at a stroke. However, to help you see the other side of the story, I shall write to my colleague, Dr. Laibow, in New York and ask her if she can bring any pressure to bear with a view to getting Mr. Burfield treated for his malady. I am doing this because the Burfields strike me as the sort of people who would not try to sell anyone a 'cock and bull' line, and the tone of their voices tell me they are very frightened by the whole affair.

It is to be hoped that Dr. Laibow will demonstrate to both yourselves, and the local health authority, that this type of injurious UFO encounter, although rarer than other types of encounters, is well-documented by such cases as the Cash-Landrum Affair in the USA and the Baker Case here in Britain. If you wish, I could even send you case documentation if this helps you to ensure that Mr. Burfield is treated and counselled at the earliest opportunity.

Finally, I would ask you to imagine yourselves in the position of the Burfields who, through no fault of their own, have had their lives turned upside down by a force that is only recently coming into the cognizance of the medical profession in the USA, but due to negative attitudes in Britain, these people can obtain no help from the community simply because the case characteristics go beyond our collective 'credibility thresholds'; imagine now how the Burfields must feel and how desperate they have become.

Yours sincerely,

13, Summit Terrace,
Dobbs Ferry,
N.Y. 10522, U.S.A.

Dear Rima,

I am sorry I have been out of touch for so long, but I felt I really must write to you concerning a case that I am currently investigating.

To cut an awful long story short, the witness concerned saw and photographed a flying object over the Quantock Hills in Somerset, S.W. England. Subsequent to this encounter, the witness has developed disturbing physical symptoms and is in a state of trauma. The witness has consulted his general practitioners who diagnosed nervous breakdown, however, the resultant trauma and the physical ailments have been left untreated because of medical attitudes towards the UFO question here; in short, the local health authority for the region [Bridgewater, Somerset] refuse to treat him because they are convinced that the patient is insane.

Needless to say, the witness strongly denies he is psychotic and his wife backs her husband's claims. Moreover, the witness now finds himself unemployed and he and his wife are forced to live on social security, a situation which has caused them great distress and social isolation. Even more disturbing than this, the witness' symptoms are getting worse by the week and he feels that if his sickness goes on he will eventually succumb, therefore, and not surprisingly, the couple are desperate for the health authorities to effect some sort of treatment; to date, all such pleas have been denied.

My request to you is: do you think, in your capacity as Coordinator for TREAT, you could write a letter to the witness' G.P. recommending some course of treatment that would ameliorate the witness' current state of health. Perhaps a letter and/or some literature from the TREAT Organisation to the

G.Ps. involved with this case might go a long way in getting some form of appropriate treatment/counselling for this poor individual; the relevant names and addresses are given below.

Drs. Reed and Taylor,

Patient/percipient: Mr. Burfield, 26,

Anything you could do or recommend in this case I would deem as a great favour.

Trusting this letter finds you and yours well.

Yours sincerely,

ALIEN ENCOUNTERS OR SOPHISTICATED MIND CONTROL EXPERIMENTS?

by Mary Seal

EDITOR'S COMMENT

The following paper by Mary Seal concerns the highly controversial subject of GLOBAL DECEPTION – a topic every bit as controversial as the subject of UFOs itself! – and, as I stated in my last editorial, I am going to allow some space in each issue of UT in the foreseeable future for papers submitted by Mary and her colleagues.

Such a decision will perhaps not go down too well with a certain section of the readership, but, as applies to all theories pertaining to the UFO enigma, no stone must remain unturned. However, even if the deception hypothesis fails to offer a universal explanatory model of the UFO manifestation, the reader will certainly be able to review many global events in an entirely new light after reading Mary's articles. Nevertheless, it is important that at all times we retain our critical faculties and be ready to outline anything in the 'Deception Hypothesis' that does not set well with UFO events as reported globally. Indeed, I shall be making some annotations of my own as the script develops, not because I want to shoot Mary's careful researches down in flames for the hell of it, but to render help in trying to prevent her and her colleagues from going down 'blind alleys'.

Please now read on...

I fully realise that the following article will perturb many UFO encounter witnesses, and particularly abduction victims. Yet, I feel it is only morally correct that this information be made available to the very people who are most likely to reject it. Addressing the possibility that our innermost beliefs and spiritual aspirations may be the result of a sophisticated and deliberately engineered plan – utilizing unknown technology and implemented with the sole scope of monitoring the mental behaviour and reactions of human 'guinea pigs' – is the most psychologically perturbing question anyone may have to address. I hope the following evidence will be analysed with an open mind and a genuine desire to arrive at the truth behind the UFO enigma – however much abhorrent this truth will turn out to be.

Most of us today subscribe to some belief system – whether religious or philosophical. However, there seems to be taking place, on a large scale, a kind of silent revolution of spiritual perceptions as well as a revival of 'end of the millenium' expectations. This trend appears to be most noticeable within the UFO and New Age communities.

Many people within these groups, as well as others belonging to fundamentalist religious organisations, believe that we are entering some kind of 'Golden Age' or 'Aquarian Age'.

In fact, it would be true to say that many millions of people worldwide are of the firm opinion that they have had genuine, if sometimes traumatic, physical encounters with beings from outer space, and that these encounters have been responsible for triggering radical changes in their belief system, as well as a change in their perceptual reality.

I am, personally, firmly convinced of the physical reality of the UFO phenomenon – being a witness to multiple events myself and having researched the enigma for many years – just as I am firmly convinced that humanity is due for a genuine, evolutionary, paradigm shift. However, this natural evolutionary process may have more to do with the human being, and particularly the human mind, per se, than it may have to do with the UFO encounter. In fact, the UFO encounter, and related experiences, may turn out to be a sophisticated, psychologically-deceptive device.

It is at this point that many witnesses reading this article will begin to feel antagonistic. Yet, we are dealing with something so fundamentally important to our psyche, that great caution must be adopted before opting for the more attractive and flattering solution.

Let us be honest – witnesses consciously believe that they, and not the next person, have had UFO experiences and 'extraterrestrial' encounters because of something in their make-up which sets them apart: they consider themselves to be special and, as such, to have been specifically targeted by 'extraterrestrial' beings perhaps for a future role.

And they may well be special, but not in the manner they envisage.

This special 'something' could also be the reason for the United Nations, many decades ago, deciding to set about the serious business of cataloguing the entire genetic differences of the human race.

It is my conviction that there are HUMAN, and not extraterrestrial, agencies at work behind the UFO phenomenon, and that these agencies are very much aware [and afraid] of this eventual, human-paradigm shift. The reason for their fear is that they simply do not want man to think and choose for himself.

For this reason, they+ have formulated a massive and deliberate plan to deceive us all – through various agendas – in a desperate attempt to stop us discovering a fundamental truth regarding our identity. And to this end they have created a plethora of deliberately engineered belief systems, implemented with the sole scope of diverting our attention, if not outrightly manipulating our mind and, therefore, our ability to think and choose.

(+ The "they" to which Mary refers are identified further on in the script – Ed.)

During the course of my research into the UFO phenomenon, as well as other related topics, I have accumulated a veritable mountain of information, official documents and outright proof that, since the early 1950s, a large number of Intelligence Agencies worldwide have been engaged in the development, testing and deployment of extremely sophisticated brain-washing techniques. It is my contention that these experiments are responsible for the creation of, what is now admitted by most honest and serious researchers, to be deliberate, socially-engineered belief systems, implemented for ulterior and nefarious scopes.

In very simple terms: the human being is under the very serious threat of losing the only quality which truly makes him an individual – the ability to choose and think for himself.

The proof available to back up these incredible contentions is vast, but it needs very careful searching: unfortunately, though, it is one area of research which has been completely ignored by British UFO researchers; yet it is the most important topic immediately related to the UFO enigma.

The reason for this neglect is that the majority of British researchers have been concentrating for the past few years on the so-called corn-circle phenomenon, thereby ignoring related and reliable evidence which has surfaced elsewhere; they have allowed themselves to be diverted down seductive avenues.

The phenomenon of corn-circles – and I will be accused of being facile – again has very human agencies behind it, but because of its apparent, tantalising, physical properties, it has managed to mislead many genuine researchers. (This topic merits a separate article, however, just to make a point: take a large sod of earth with grass growing on it, put it in a micro-wave oven and watch what happens! They may be boosting up the Earth's energy grid system with micro-waves beamed from satellites for very serious reasons and, at the same time, they are deliberately deviating researchers' attention by hoaxing – again from satellites). Nonetheless, the implications behind mind control techniques and experimentations, once approached, are more easily understood and must be seriously considered when dealing with the UFO and abduction phenomena.

The history of mind control experimentations is relatively simple to follow, and once established, will provide genuine insight into the UFO phenomenon.

Back in 1950, the newly formed CIA entered the nefarious activity of brain-washing and mind-control with Project Bluebird, rechristened Artichoke in 1951. To establish a cover-story for this research, the CIA funded a propaganda effort designed to convince the world that the Communist Block had devised insidious new methods of reshaping the human will. The CIA's own efforts could, therefore, if exposed, be explained as an attempt to catch-up with the Soviet and Chinese work.

The truth of the matter is that certain branches of the Intelligence Communities world-wide have been secretly collaborating, since the beginning of the Cold-War, on mind-control experiments and research, having realised that it was possible to gain control of the human mind and, therefore, total control of the human being.

Utilising appropriated funds allocated through the smoke-screen of the Cold-War, and huge amounts of unappropriated money obtained through global drug-trafficking, they set about the nefarious task of decoding the human brain.

When the CIA's mind control program was transferred in 1953 from the Office of Security to the Technical Service Staff, the name changed again to MK-ULTRA.

Many people today, who are aware of this name, consider this octopus project [sic] – whose tentacles twined through the corridors of numerous universities and around the necks of an army of scientists – to be the most ominous operation ever carried out in the CIA's catalogue of atrocities. Just as they believe that the CIA was mainly experimenting with mind-altering drugs, such as LSD, and that after public exposure of these activities, further research was discontinued.

The fact is that through MK-ULTRA, the Agency, with the collaboration of other Intelligence agencies world-wide – including the British – created an umbrella program designed to arrive at the complete control and manipulation of the human brain and, therefore, individual actions and beliefs.

What was really being researched and experimented by these agencies to arrive at their pre-set goals? Just about everything: hypnosis, conditioning, sensory-deprivation, drugs, religious cults, micro-waves, psychosurgery, brain implants, ESP and, most nefarious of all, psychoelectronics.

Prominent scientists and psychiatrists were handpicked for these experiments with the specific criteria that each person's ethics must be such that he would completely cooperate in any phase of the program regardless of how extreme it was to be.

One such scientist was Dr. Jose Delgado, a Yale University psychologist, whose vision was to perfect techniques for making humans respond to electrically transmitted commands, thereby obtaining the physical control of the mind.

And perhaps the most outrageous piece of evidence (currently in the possession of some not-so-honest abduction researchers) surrounding the UFO abduction phenomenon are the intra-cerebral electronic implants, which are visible on X-rays and MRI scans of many of these abductees. Indeed, when studying the abduction literature, one finds abductees often describing operations in which needles are inserted into the brain, or through the sinus cavity.

Christine Arcia, 27, of Fresno, California, is the third person to receive an auditory brain stem implant which allows her to program a sound processor so that sounds will become comfortable.

Since such devices have never been officially acknowledged as existing by mainstream scientists, this general lack of knowledge has led to many misconceptions.

This fact alone may highlight the underlying flaw of the scientific approach adopted by many UFO researchers#: the 'official' science they have endeavoured to modulate has not reflected the true state of the 'unofficial' science practiced in secret.

(# I am very much in accord with Mary over this issue since, in the course of my life studies of C/E witnesses, I have seen their terrible suffering and their pathetic attempts to obtain counseling/treatment for their physical and mental torture. In an effort to try to restore this gross imbalance, I shall be lecturing on the theme of harassment at the forthcoming BUFORA Conference – Ed.)

Many genuine abduction specialists have assumed, therefore, quite incorrectly, that these abductions must be the handiwork of scientists from the stars. The same is being (and has been) assumed by many of the unfortunate victims. Some researchers, more frustratingly, have assumed, again incorrectly, that the witnesses are all lying, or deluded, individuals.

The reality is that we have to credit Dr. Jose Delgado, BACK IN THE 1950s, with the invention of a miniature depth electrode which, when inserted into the brain, can receive and transmit electronic signals, induce hallucinatory visions, insert audiograms, modify behaviour, create a loss of the sense of time and gain complete physical control of the recipient's mind.

The above statement is wholly factual and provable and I challenge anyone to contest it.

Dr. Jose Delgado has published more than 200 scientific works describing techniques for electronically and chemically influencing the human brain, and his pioneering, if nefarious, work has been openly exposed in scientific literature for at least 30-odd years.

To quote directly from Delgado's own written words: "Autonomic and somatic functions, individual and social behaviour, emotional and mental reactions, may be evoked, maintained, modified or inhibited, both in animals and in man, by electrical stimulation of specific cerebral structures."

He further continues: "Physical control of many brain functions is a demonstrated fact... it is even possible to create and follow intentions, the developments of thoughts and VISUAL experiences. By electrical stimulation of specific cerebral structures, movements can be induced by radio command, hostility may appear or disappear, social hierarchy can be modified, sexual behaviour may be changed, and memory, emotions and the thinking process may be influenced by remote control."

When you realise and bear in mind that all of the above was a provable reality during the 1950s, you will appreciate the type of technology which must be available today after more than 40 years of further secret research. The remote physical and total control of the human mind is a scientific reality and an established fact.

In October 1990, a medical investigative group from Stockholm published a research paper – intended for circulation amongst universities, governmental bodies and the mass media, but which was conveniently ignored by all except a few honest researchers – describing their findings of a study conducted into mind-control experiments in Sweden alone.

They say that for at least 25 years, doctors at hospitals in Sweden have used patients for long-lasting experiments. Their documentation consists of complete PROOF that doctors at hospitals in Sweden have been placing brain transmitters into the heads of patients who are then used as human guinea-pigs for lifelong studies.

This is just one example of proof available of the grave crimes being committed against humanity and which constitute a complete violation of all human rights.

Why has society not responded? And, more importantly, why have UFO researchers completely ignored this vital evidence?

In case you are still of the opinion that this information must be false, that it is all too far-fetched, or that it has nothing to do with what is happening in the UFO field, then I would recommend you obtain proof for yourself of brain implant technology being an official reality at least 23 years ago$. Just one such paper, published in 1970 by the Office of Technology Utilisation of NASA, is a report entitled 'Implantable Biotelemetry Systems'. Chapter 9 deals, as its title suggests, with: 'Brain Transmissions from Inside the Body'.

(# I feel I have to point out here that reports of human 'abductions' by 'aliens' can be traced back for millenia before the advent of human technology, hence the question to be asked now is whether the 'agencies' who control us are simply continuing the deception processes by technological means, or is there some other process at work about which we know absolutely nothing – any offers? – Ed.]

Apart from the more immediately recognisable implications applicable to the UFO and abduction phenomena, what we are addressing here, on a wider scale, is the grave problem facing us of secret and massive efforts being made for the creation of a psycho-civilised, mind-controlled society.

Scientists at the Brain Research Institute of the University of California took up many, many years ago, the investigation of the effects of oscillating electrical fields on human behaviour, paralleling the Soviet research since 1933 into the effects of micro-wave radiation and the way in which micro-waves can effect the central nervous system. They discovered that micro-wave radiation, even of low intensity, or modulated ELF [extremely low frequency] waves, can seriously alter the normal rhythm of the brain waves, causing hallucinations and drastic perceptual changes, including the loss of the sense of time.

Subjected to ultra-sonic or very low frequency waves, an entire population could be lulled into a state of drowsiness [at the very minimum] by the unperceived waves. Radio and television could become normal channels of mass hypnosis and could even be used to implant suggestions to control the behaviour of entire nations.

What exactly are these ELF waves which have been worrying the more honest experts? Can they really influence the psychological make-up of human beings, subjugate whole nations or even affect the weather? Yes they can. And in addition, despite the fact that scientists have adamantly denied [and still continue to do so today] that micro-waves cause any non-thermal damage to human beings, the military in both East and West are currently performing meticulous developments on these waves.

Again, there are many scientific papers on the subject, however, I will briefly cover this topic which, in reality, merits a whole book and our utmost attention.

Nothing is possible without resonance, and in order to pick up specific electromagnetic waves from the jumbled mass of waves which surround and pass through us, we need a length of antenna which is specifically tuned to the length of the desired waves.

The arteries supplying our brains with blood have a similar structure to the ribs of tree leaves. There are approximately 100 billion nerve cells in the brain of a human being and no tube cells and their connected fibres have exactly the same shape. The tube-shaped extensions of the cell body act as pathways for conveying signals transmitted by the cell body to other nerve cells. Having hundreds of billions of nerve fibres of different structures, which are mainly one centimetre in length, it follows that several thousands of them will resonate simultaneously as antennas in tune to electromagnetic centimetre waves.

However, for the purposes of manipulating the human mind with extremely low frequency waves, or ELF – which have a frequency of about 3Hz to 80Hz and a wavelength of between 10Km and 100 000 Km, and which would, therefore, need a resonating antenna at least 2.5 to 25 000 Km long to transmit and receive – there is a need in the first place for a carrier wave with a high frequency in the Mega – or Gigahertz range. Signals are then modulated on the carrier frequency.

The same principle is used in radio and television broadcasts, radio-relay or radar. The high-frequency carrier wave which is required for resonating limited, small antennas, is suppressed behind the receiving antenna in the demodulation circuit of the receiver and then is no longer needed. Only the low frequency signals which are of actual interest are passed on to the amplifier stages.

The technical principle of receivers of electromagnetic waves is fully analogous with biological communication systems. In order for the several thousands of our nerve cells in the brain to resonate with man-made centimetre waves, the carrier frequency has to be suppressed when the signal is passed onto the synapses.

Living organisms use electrochemical processes involving sodium and potassium ions to overcome cell membranes. This suppresses the carrier frequency in the high frequency range, and what remains is the signal in the low frequency, ELF range. The nerve fibres, using these frequencies, then convey sensations of pain, hunger and nausea etc. to the points in the brain which invoke these stages.

If interference signals are SUPERIMPOSED on the natural signals generated by the body, the brain is then presented with simulated states that we consciously perceive, but which do not exist in reality.

The proof that biological systems are being interfered with by the use of electromagnetic centimetre waves can be found in the dying forests. This is just one of the many myths of the so-called environmental problem: that we are killing of our environment with atmospheric pollution. The truth is that when modern technology started utilising hard radar pulses and very narrow-band waves, these were then picked up by the correct length antennas of some type of trees, thereby compromising their health.

Following the advances in the early 1980s, in ultra-high frequency semiconductors, digital micro-wave technology – which functions in wide band systems and uses polarised waves at several phase angles – became widely used, with the resulting widespread death of conifers and deciduous trees, which have ribbed leaves of the correct size for the receiving wideband frequencies.

The forests are rapidly dying from the effects of unseen and unperceived micro-wave pollution.

This increased propagation of micro-waves has also taken its toll on human beings: increased cancer cases, psychic and emotional disorders and, perhaps, a deliberate genocide scenario, as in AIDS.

However, this perturbing picture does not stop here.

Within the last few decades, there have appeared a number of reports on the development and use of the so-called psychotronic weapons, Radio Frequency Weapons, or, as they are more commonly known, Directed Energy Weapons.

In the main, these reports have been confined to accusations against the ex-Soviet Union. The 'Woodpecker' signals which were beamed against the USA by the Soviets, made headlines in the newspapers during the 1970s. It was even reported in 'TECHNOLOGY TOMORROW', in June 1979, in an article entitled Remote Electronic Behaviour Modification, that the Soviet Union had installed a huge electromagnetic interference grid, through the use of transmitters, over the USA to propagate these waves. The matter was discussed openly for a time, then quickly forgotten.

Today's unconfirmed reality is that there are weapons and state-of-the-art technologies capable of subjugating, mind-manipulating, and even killing, entire nations, and that some of these weapons are installed in geostationary satellites, whilst others are in the hands of the Military, Civil Defence and Police Forces.

In order for us to determine what kind of technology exists today in the hands of the Military and which could be used for the electronic control of the mind, I will quote from a document which was recently published by the Association of National Security Alumni – who are aiming to expose mind-control experimentations... The publication is entitled 'MICROWAVE HARASSMENT AND MIND CONTROL EXPERIMENTATION':-

Typically, persons who complain of being "zapped by radio waves" and of "hearing voices" are stigmatised as psychotic, delusional, or schizophrenic. Being mindful of this, as well as aware of the treatment accorded UFO and psychic phenomena individuals, we approached this subject with a high degree of caution.

Our first step was to determine what, if any, technology exists which might be used for electronic harassment... The information to prove the existence of Directed Energy Weapons was found in a White Paper published in 1991 by the US Global Strategy Council – a Washington based organisation, under the chairmanship of Ray Cline, former Deputy Director of the CIA, who maintains very close ties with the US Intelligence Community... The White Paper describes the foreign and domestic uses forseen for Laser Weapons, Isotropic Radiators, Infrasound, non-nuclear electromagnetic Pulse Generators and high-power Micro-wave Emitters.

We discussed these non-conventional Directed Energy Weapons with Mr. Vernon-Shisler, an Army Delegate to NATO. Mr Shisler acknowledged that Directed Energy Weapons were in the Military's arsenal.

The report then continues by describing the effects of microwave harassment through the use of Directed Energy Weapons, citing various cases. One such case was a woman who had undergone years of harassment. The article continues:-

This woman states also that she has met Budd Hopkins, of the Intruders Foundation, and that she had had a long-term, confiding relationship with John E. Mack, Professor of Psychiatry, Harvard Medical School, and founding Director of the Centre for Psychological Studies in the Nuclear Age [previously named, Research Program for the Study of Human Continuity, and still previously, rumoured to have cooperated with the CIA in the studies of 'human ecology'].

At one point in their relationship, Professor Mack apparently accompanied this woman to a 'support group' meeting of UFO abductees, who, she observed bemusedly, "spend their time comparing [extraterrestrially] implanted devices". Professor Mack is on record as promoting the perception that UFO abductions are legitimate.

We frankly doubt that extraterrestrials, who have a means to commute intergalactically, would stoop to implanting primitive devices in human beings... In the meantime it would seem reasonable that the government would want the public to believe that extraterrestrial visitations are on the upswing. Mind altering drugs, externally induced auditory input, holographic projections [also a DoD capability] appropriately focussed directed-energy targeting, device implantations, special effects and REAL ABDUCTIONS are all within this government's capabilities and can be used for purposes of creating illusions of UFO [extraterrestrial] experiences. Persons not cognisant of this might be more inclined to fall for the UFO mythologies now being officially 'legitimised'.

Does our very own Ministry of Defence have such Directed Energy Weapons in its arsenal?

Just picking up two Ministry of Defence publications, called THE BRITISH DEFENCE EQUIPMENT CATALOGUE, will confirm this.

In their 1983 edition there were advertised Radio Frequency Weapons. One such weapon, called the 'Squawk Box', was a British version of an American weapon tested during the Vietnam war, which caused dizziness, disorientation and panic. In their 1987 edition we find a long list of Radio Frequency Weapons, including Pulse Generators.

I have personally been given concrete and reliable proof and seen documents of an on-going experiment called 'MONARCH' being perpetrated by the CIA and DAPRA, which uses these weapons for the inducement of schizophrenia and personality changes in targeted individuals, expressly for the creation of riot situations as part of the on-going destabilisation program aimed at our society. (But this is another topic which merits writing about and is very much connected with UFOs).

The possibility of scientific annihilation of personal identity, or even worse, its purposeful control, must be considered one of the most serious threats existing today. Not only this, but millions of genuine and truthful individuals worldwide are being psychologically manipulated through deliberately engineered belief systems and outright sophisticated hoaxes which, ultimately, only can lead them into painful confrontations with their own identity.

The prospect of physical control of the mind provides a variety of objections: theological, because it affects free will; moral, because it affects individual responsibility; ethical, because it may block self-defence mechanisms; and philosophical, because it completely threatens personal identity.

It is my hope that this article – which has only briefly introduced this nefarious topic and which has not exposed its more 'incredible' aspects – will stimulate further independent research. We may be approaching some very serious and final agendas and we need to THINK.

PREAMBLE

This case has spawned the 'Spector Correspondence', the first part of which was featured in UT21, however, although no UFO was reported by the witness, it has been decided to air the case in the full view of the readership in order that they can draw their own conclusions over the vexed issue of abductions/implantations. Another reason for this feature is that the case was a prelude to the researches carried out by Mary Seal and her colleagues on the theme of 'Directed Energy Weapons'.

Apologies are made in advance for the bad language in this text.

WITNESS BIOGRAPHICS

The witness is a 43 year-old man who was born in Wales. He is currently living in Bournemouth, Hants., but up until a few years ago he lived and worked in the USA, running his own advertising business in Cambridge, Massachusettes, U.S.A.

The witness is intelligent, articulate, confident, well-educated and appears to be in good physical health. He has travelled widely in the course of his advertising business, both in this country and abroad, and was actually resident for some years in the USA.

Despite the witness' air of competence and professionalism that he radiates, his recent life has developed into a desperate struggle for survival against "forces" which seem intent on making his existence as soul-destroying as possible. In fact these "forces" have impinged upon him in such detrimental way as to completely ruin his career and his social life.

What the exact nature of these intrusive "forces" are can only best be described by the witness himself who, as it happens, is quite unequivocal in his description of what it is that is destroying his life. Indeed, he takes every opportunity available to him in denouncing publicly exactly what is the root cause of his mental and physical torture. For example, he will stand up and narrate his experiences in front of any audience or write to any periodical or UFO researcher detailing every relevant event in the hope that humanity will take up the challenge and deal with the perceived menace.

In desperation, the witness has sort medical help in the hope that professional treatment might abate or terminate his seemingly unending misery. However, and unfortunately for everyone concerned, most of all the witness, the medical profession has proved to be ineffective against whatever it is that ails the witness. Thus, all researchers are left with is the witness' account of what is, essentially, nothing short of the archaic theme of 'demonic' [alien] attack.

TRANSCRIPT OF TAPED INTERVIEW CONDUCTED BY
THE INVESTIGATOR ON 14th
NOV. 1989

"I appreciate these questions and I'm willing to answer all of them, but...because I understand having recently read a lot of the abduction literature and UFO literature...that your approach is: childhood experiences, were you abducted perhaps when you were a child, that kind of investigation, do you have a mental history and that kind of thing. My story is different: I'm a freak because I wasn't abducted: I haven't ever seen any spaceships. My story is part of that, but it's... it almost renders all that kind of information absolutely useless. In my opinion all those UFO sightings mostly are a hoax. Those UFOs wanted to be seen. The abductees under hypnosis were allowed to tell their experiences. The experiences, I feel, were real enough; those people who had seen UFOs did see UFOs... all lit up with yellow and blue lights... is that the idea? That's because the 'invader' wanted to be seen; it was like showing the flag or something.

[KP (Ken Phillips): then what was seen was some sort of 'cabaret'?]. Well, my... my story, which is a horrible story, and doesn't include any childhood abductions, it involves the insertion, by human beings, that I thought at the time were criminals, and certainly criminals fits the description, who inserted a 'pellet' at gun-point above my right eye after a lot of trouble that I'd had with individuals connected with these people, and I refused to believe that it was some sort of space phenomenon; I have never had any interest in UFOs or anything... I'd never had any kind of experiences. What's unacceptable about my story is that I'm saying... that the UFO 'invasion' is well under-way... the 'conquest of Earth' is certainly so assured that 'they' can do this kind of thing with me; they can allow me to speak when they could have killed me any time in the last two years... that they have nothing to worry about. They still count, perhaps, on the fact that everything I say will not be believed; that I must be a 'crackpot', or that...even if I am believed, what can anybody do about it? It just doesn't matter because 'they' are so powerful; 'they' are so strong.

[KP: when you said you encountered 'human beings' who inserted the pellet above your right eye... did they just come at you in the street, or what?] – Bad luck, bad luck. What happened to me, I lived in a comfortable apartment building near Harvard Square in Boston, Massachusettes; it's actually Cambridge, Massachusettes; it's just a mile or two across the river from Boston. I lived there comfortable and prosperous and I'm British university-educated. My father was a doctor and I've got no mental history. I... I lived quite happily in this building until 1986 when... an individual... started trying to befriend me, who lived in the building... I was just normally polite to this fellow.

[KP: you had not known this person before?]. I hadn't known him before. Apparently, he had moved in... the year previous to that; maybe late '85 or early

'86, I'm not sure what. Anyway, he got to know me. He was persistent in his attentions. He lived, apparently, with a woman in... the apartment two floors below mine; I had a penthouse apartment. His attentions were persistent. He kept asking me to go to have a drink with him. I mean... he... just persistent... so I did, eventually... I tried to be polite. I eventually went for a drink with him at a pub in Harvard Square. He started to tell me something about his background. He offered me drugs. I wasn't interested in that. Then he started to make homosexual propositions. I wasn't interested in that. Then he offered me orgies with... this 'woman' he knew and any other women. So I told him I'd think about that [laughter]. So... anyway, I thought, I want to get away from this guy, but, you know... he lived in the same building. He seemed so ... just, he wanted to be polite. I tried to... get away from him after that. But he... continually kept popping up in the lobby, pestering me to go for another drink, this and that. So it came to the point where... I ignored him: pointedly ignored him. I mean... enough was enough. That night... the night that I ignored him, there were strange noises from outside the roof. Somebody had come up to the roof of my penthouse and woke me up at four o'clock in the morning with these ugly noises. This thing... basically, it's all sorts of...escalating harassment, that went on... That started October/November 1986 and went on until June, with me calling the police and complaining and looking really crazy, and in the meantime, because of... these mysterious attacks at four o'clock in the morning. But... I told the police who was doing it, because I found out it was him [the man two floors below].

[KP: and what was the attitude of the police?] – Well, they came along and they said... "his door was shut". I said, "I'd just chased him down". And they said, "what did he do", and I said, "well... one of the things that he was doing when I called the police was he was firing some sort of noxious vapours under my door, or through my door, that was waking me up choking and spluttering". But he done other... all sorts of different things. So... there were court hearings, and they said, "all we can do is..." I guess the British Police would do the same thing, wouldn't they? You would file a complaint, O.K.? They said, "file a complaint", so the... he [the man two floors below] filed a counter-complaint. They [the couple] had a dog, and they were setting the dog on me. I carried 'Mace'. I got myself a 'weapons licence' and I carried 'Mace', and... one of the times that... the woman friend ... set the dog on me in the elevator. I... used this 'Mace' on the dog, but... it's not very effective tear-gas. It was very effective on her... we were in the enclosed... So... I called the police for this and she gave me a very hard look. You know, this couple now...this pair had been... coming after me non-stop for... 7 or 8 months by this time...and the upshot was I was going to finally leave this building. I loved this penthouse. I loved the building, but I was going to leave. I didn't know all this time I was being monitored, but they... they... had something special for me, these people. You see, I've got the big picture now. I only realized for certain... knowledge... that this is a UFO phenomenon... as recently as this past summer ['89]. But I've finally had to realise that it was irrational for me to assume that what had been going on was...

[KP: what?...] Because I was getting sounds and images and things like that over the past few years. I fled to Wales. I was having people... from Cardiff talking to me; I'm originally from Wales; I'm a doctor's son. I bring that up because I'll tell you about a psychiatrist friend of his who has been the only psychiatric advise I've had... and that will come later. I still, by the way, have not yet seen a psychiatrist and I've no intention of; it's not going to help. The upshot is about 40 seeming 'human beings', in four different parts of the world, have... I've been on business trips in the United States, in Wales, in Bournemouth [England], in Ireland and in Israel, have come up to me on their own and have said things which were concerning me, concerning my experiences. We were complete strangers. I managed to track down one of these guys in Bournemouth; I got his name and address. Now you're going to know I'm for real and that I'm not some... and that I'm not myself some sort of hoaxer. I've got his birth certificate, because they were... they do 'clone' people. You know the 'Whitley Strieber Book'? I hadn't heard of Whitley Strieber until August of this... of this year. I was in Washington D.C. speaking to... Do you know the 'UFO Fund'?

[KP: no I don't – you don't mean 'The Fund for UFO Research'?] That's the one. I spoke to them in Washington and the guy there, Don Berlin his name is, he mentioned Whitley Strieber. I went out and bought his books. This was only the... third or fourth UFO book I'd read. The previous two had been in May, just previously the... Gary Kinder Book, on Billy Meier? There was an index of names in there about the 'UFO Fund'... So anyway, I called him... and then I read Whitley Strieber's books and the descriptions of these beings and the way they act and the way they... were exactly like the... call them visions, call them... some of them were dreams... sometimes it's when I'm asleep, sometimes when I'm half awake. They do have a character and personality and appearances; the way they behave was exactly like Whitley Strieber was describing. I couldn't believe it, that these guys were actually... aliens; invaders. O.K., now... They had shown me 'clones'. Previously they had been messing around with me, but I still wanted to think it was criminals. They had shown me... a picture... the pictures are brilliant. They have some sort of cartoon qualities. As soon as I close my eyes at night... they show me these pictures, but they would also show me 3-dimensional pictures while I was awake with the light on, you know, somewhere in the distance, and you would have seen them as well; that's the point. The sounds that they made, you could have heard. I taped one of the sounds because they had been interrogating my sub-conscious. Remember, for three years I didn't want to think that this was anything other than some criminal, drug-dealing hoaxers. O.K.? As I say, not to believe that these human beings... and I since began... more and more information as recently as this morning, I mean... they mess around with me 24 hours a day. When I say that, this is classic paranoid schizophrenia; any psychiatrist will tell you that. You know that. Any layman can tell you that. It's nothing for them to mess around with an individual. I don't know if time means anything to them. They have some sort of multi-mind ability to... carry on doing what they're doing and mess around... with me or with any target in all sorts of ways. I'm not the only person this has happened to: what you're going to find is your abduction literature is going to give away to stories like mine. My story may not ever get... may not get printed, somebody else's might, somebody else's... The reason I want it printed is I don't want anybody to suffer; to have to spend the kind of money I've... been spending. Whitley Strieber saved me at least $1 000 on getting one of these... MRIs?... X-rays don't show the pellet...

[KP: brain-scan?] – Yeah. I had 4 brain-scans; it [the pellet] didn't show up. It's a 'Magnetic Image Resonator'...resonates image, in which something does show up and I read his [Strieber] book and I'd gone to Washington intending to get it [MRI] there; they have them all over the place, Magnetic Resonators. Anyway, it cost 1 000 bucks, and as he said... at Georgetown Hospital, I enquired the price... and at another place in Washington. As he said, "all that showed up was some little spot, or something" and he wasn't about to have it cut out of the head anyway. In any case, they [the aliens] might allow the 'spot' to show up, but... it wouldn't mean anything; what does it mean when something shows up in the brain... it's an unidentified object in your brain? When you start telling the doctor, I don't know what that is; this is a transmitter/receiver that transmits and receives perfect images and perfect sounds and so on... O.K.? Alright, so what am I? I'm some sort of guy... near middle-age... starts to... becomes a 'nut'. I hear voices and I see things, but they're just like the things Whitley sees; variations but... and I've been getting them more often than him, but 'they' dealt with him strategically; 'they' wanted him to write a book; 'they' have allowed me to tell this; 'they' would love me to write a book; 'they' would like you [investigator] to publicize this, because 'they' don't care. Anything that concerns 'them'... or their victims, whom they take a keen interest in... 'they' could have taken a shine to you, [as] it happened, this 'guy' took a shine to me, O.K.? Could happened to... could have happened to anybody; it has happened to other people. I know an American living here in London... whom I told this story to in April, I... he started talking about UFOs, that's why I read the Gary Kinder Book. I... I thought he was crazy. This guy knows about... You think I'm a suggest... I'm auto-suggestive because somebody tells me that human beings have been 'invaded'... had their life 'removed' from them? He didn't exactly tell me that. He... said there are millions of people who are the 'invader', who are 'aliens'. I thought this guy was crazy, so I... even as recently as this April. This guy is a fairly reputable scientist whose [work has] been published in journals or... some of these connections; he's mentioned in the journals... 'Electrician'... 'Wireless World'... something like that? Something... reputable journals...

[KP: what happened to the couple in this apartment in Boston?] – They're still living there. He's on the phone. He's...I... look... what I have to do is unacceptable. I can give you names and addresses of aliens who have 'removed' the life of human beings like you and me, children, or... mostly they like children 10 years old. 'They' have taken the... call it the 'soul', call it the 'life-force', I mean... as you're sitting there I've had to contemplate. You're aware that you have a body and something that animates it... You're you, I'm me. I'm animating this body. What 'they' have done is 'they' have extracted that life-force, soul, whatever it is, from the human being and put in their own. How do I know this? How can I think anything else? 'They' have taken... my own; call it my subconscious or whatever. 'They' rendered me lifeless and taken me on 'astral' trips. I've read all this 'astral' stuff that I used to think was rubbish and... UFO stuff... I haven't read anything else for the last couple of months and... 'they' have taken me out of my body and put me back and when... this is usually at night when I'm asleep; this is a development over... only the past three or four months by the way... What 'they' do is 'they' made me... 'they' like me to lie flat on my back when 'they' do their procedures, 'they' have levitated me before this by the way... but all of this was this year. 'They' like me to lie flat on my back, and as soon as I go to sleep, whether 'they' induce the sleep, anyway, I've always fallen to sleep quite easily and that still hasn't changed. 'They' take... three times I've been conscious and when 'they' have taken me out of myself I've seen myself lying on the bed, you know... you heard Whitley Strieber? He describes his 'astral' flights? I realized I wasn't controlling 'them', although 'they' were able to give me the impression that 'they' did. Anyway, I swore at them and said I didn't want to go on these trips with them. You see, from the very beginning it's been like this, with this... that couple on the ground and with these things. 'They' wanted to somehow give me something and I didn't want anything to do with them. I disliked that person [in the apartment block] and I dislike these entities. Whatever it is they want to show me I don't want to know. I don't want to go on a trip with someone I hate however interesting it might be. They talk about... what was one of the things 'they' said? "Secret information"... I said, "I don't want to go anywhere with shit like you, O.K.?" That's how I speak to them. So what 'they' do is 'they' take me on these trips. Anyway... I never remember them, O.K.? But I come back. 'They' put me back in what has been my lifeless body. I wake up. This happens a couple of times a night, every night. I wake up. I feel like I've come back from... I can't tell you... describe the feeling. At first – I'm getting used to it – you feel like, I feel like I've come back from the dead. My body: I feel like I've been in such a terrible deep sleep, like nothing I've ever known.

One of the things that Whitley Strieber wrote which... rang a bell with me is that when I get out of my body... when I'm back in my body... 'they' make me go to the toilet for some reason. I think the idea is 'they' don't want to leave this lifeless body to rot for even more than a few minutes, and ... I feel like ... my body is like some... badly fitting suit. It takes me a while to get back into my body. That's one of the things he wrote that strikes a cord, but... The other things is I've... also found that the reason 'they' wanted me to lie on my back before 'they' took me out of myself, and you... this [the interview] is taping now isn't it? I hope so because there are certain similarities here that I want... all the poor sods who have gone through what I'm going through and they're in the 'loony bins', or have shot themselves, I want them to know that they're sane and what is happening to them. That's why I want this story. I'm even prepared to put my name on this story and... everything else: my reputation, my business, which is a good business, I don't care, because I'm sure most people would have shot themselves. The only thing that made me seriously consider suicide – I don't have the guts to seriously consider suicide – is when 'they' hurt me, which 'they' have done often, but only enough to remind me of something, to make some sort of point; 'they' always seem to be making some sort of point; I don't know why. But... O.K. about making me lie on my back. This apparently is for my own protection because one time... the way 'they' make me lie on my back is either by inducing a pain on my left side when I'm on my left, I turn on my right, a pain on my right side, so I turn on my back; or making my ear throb against the pillow and then I turn on my back and then I go to sleep. 'They' organize this for my own good. One time 'they' took me out of my body when I was lying on my left side, I came back – it might have been only a few minutes later, I don't know how long they had taken me out for, maybe it's an hour, I don't know how long – but I was in pain – this was just a few weeks ago – I got a cramp all down the left side of my body, because what had happened was my dead weight... literally my dead weight was lying on this side. 'They' kept me alive with 'pellet' control: my heart beating, and I was breathing, because 'they' saw me... I could see me and 'him' breathing once when I was this close out of my body [about a foot from the body]. O.K. all this is fairly familiar stuff. Now about the abductions, 'they' have given me some sort of rehearsals that 'they'... with these kind of visions and feelings and sensations that 'they' take advantage of semi-sleep and sleep states. One of the interesting ones... was a take-off in one of these circular 'space' vehicles that... now this, apparently, is how it is when you take off. This is what 'they' wanted me to know and a lot of other information, some of it may be genuine, most of it may be... is a hoax, but the way those machines work, there's a rapid, circular... felt clockwise motion; I guess clockwise... but in the craft itself you don't sense that. The interior part is still, and you feel... are conscious of something whirring around you like that. Anyway, in my case my response was to jump out; end of dream or something and 'they' certainly discussed it.

As I said, 'they' exploit every... 'they' got to know me particularly well, but I guess 'they' can do it with anybody. 'They' take advantage of... whatever it is: sleep, deep sleep, rapid eye movement sleep and 'they' induce... infiltrate all sort of... when you're in that very vulnerable state: mentally in that very vulnerable state, 'they' can exploit you with highly realistic dreams and views and visions and pictures, some of them quite brilliant, some of them vivid. Some of the dreams are just plain boring; some of them deliberately boring. When 'they' have interrogated my subconscious, 'they' are often asking me mostly stupid questions. I say that because I've been able to pick it up on... my recorder a couple of times, but I've also picked up the end of what 'they' have been speaking to me... and for some reason I've woken up and I think that was also an accident because I've heard these 'people' speaking to me using mens' voices, but on one occasion it was a woman's voice; an American woman's voice. I recorded an American man's voice which you can hear on this [audio cassette]... but also local voices... from the Bournemouth [Hants.] area and also some Liverpool accents. People have accosted me in the street with Liverpool accents; apparently it's a favourite destination... Liverpoolians in Bournemouth. So... oh yes, 'they' say these silly things... and some of the silly cross-questioning is... 'they' asked me for a description of people I knew, friends of mine from years back, and then... I found this out because 'they' gave me a dream with a very realistic... image of people I knew... not quite... that fitted the description that 'they' got from my subconscious. So 'they' gave me all these crazy dreams. O.K. that's the situation. What 'they'... wanted me to know by now is that 'they' have killed – removed the life – of maybe, I don't know, millions of human beings and substituted their own life force... and 'they' have reached a stage where... it never matters because 'they' are invincible; nothing can be done, 'they'... are completely contemptuous of God, or Jesus or any... form of religion... What their ultimate goal is I don't know. 'They' are very fond of human beings. 'They' mess around a lot; 'they' are always fiddling with my genitals and showing me all sorts of hybrid creatures in these dreams and visions. 'They' have shown me something that's supposed to be my own child which was... made out of a copy... of my... perfect copy that 'they' made from my semen that 'they' used to make a child from. A lot of this is embarrassing. 'They' wanted a perfect clone copy of me, then 'they' showed... now 'they' like to hold people hostages... 'they' may have killed Andrew Strieber or may have made a clone of him or substituted him. I'm sure that kid, Strieber's son, has had... may have been substituted, but can't know for sure that he has been. But 'they'... children... 'they' like to do that with children. 'They' showed me a sleeping, and very good-looking clone of myself, by the way... apparently... 'they' are offering me a better version of my own body, or a more durable body that I can live in and 'they' are offering me some sort of long life. This has been one of their offers. Then I said, "with you, no thanks". This has been my standard reply: "there is nothing, I don't want anything from you, you know". I hate these bastards: this is the whole thing. I mean, 'they' can be very funny, but 'they' exploit anything: 'they' know you well... as well as hurting you, 'they' will also try to... make you happy, I guess. 'They' try to ingratiate themselves on me. From the beginning, this guy [in the apartment block in Boston] was offering me things; I didn't want to know him. He told me he was an inventor... I expressed... only polite interest, I wasn't interested...he said, 'No, only my best friends can know about my inventions.' This is what this guy in the apartment was saying when we were having this drink, as if I was interested. Their whole posture towards me is... that 'they' are showing me their 'privates'. It's like... for me, it's like a very ugly woman insists on showing me her private parts and I don't want to see 'em. 'They' think, "ah, we're really showing you something". Now, obviously 'they' are showing me quite spectacular things, but as I said to them, 'If I wanted know... I was... I got a B.A.; I never had any interest in the sciences. If I was interested in scientific achievements, or any kind of science, I'd just go to science classes at the local college. So... although it might be a deplorable attitude, my... my not having an interest in these great... technological achievements of theirs, and there's no question they're fantastic. I saw this 'pellet' that went into my eye, and what it's able to achieve, and their other achievements.

[KP: did the guy in the apartment take part in the implant of the pellet?] – No, it was four... I didn't know, four men that I didn't know in the apartment lobby, two of whom I... I can't recognize.

[KP: did they seize hold of you?] – They got at me, they threatened my mother; this was at the beginning of June. They mentioned my mother by name; there's no reason they should have known her. And... they put me down on... the staircase and they said, "This is for Sxxxxxa". They mentioned Sxxxxxa Pxxxxxs, who was, who... I'd 'maced' [tear-gassed] a few days before. They mentioned my mother, threatened my mother and said, "If you go to the police we'll kill your mother", and.. all this kind... lots of threats. They have always threatened me, they have hurt me badly... various parts of my body really badly. The only time 'they' hurt me enough to make me think I'm going to get a...I'm going... to hang myself, anything, I wanted to die right then was just... the beginning of September when 'they'... 'they' had taken me out of my body and 'they' wanted... and 'they' were offering me something really great; 'they' make some sort of expostulatory remarks as if 'they' had really got something to show me, and I was... this was going to be the greatest thing so far; this was something that would really knock me out that 'they' were going to show me. And I told them, "I just don't want to know, stop it, I... refuse to go to sleep". And then 'they' really sort of... really hurt me badly. Terrible pains in my head, down my body, various... they might hurt slightly, everybody... they maintain that, usually it's only for a few seconds. 'They' maintained that for several minutes at a time... I was in desperate pain. 'They' have hardly.. barely hurt me since, just intimations of that pain as it had been before, but really agonizing pain and that I can't... nobody can take that. I can take the mental anguish of knowing of the horrible knowledge that I have, yeah? It's not going to be the same for you because you're going to be convinced I'm insane and you're going to be convinced that... you don't know even if you believe my story; you don't know it. I know what I know and it's horrible to know, but I can take it; I can take the idea that everybody thinks I'm insane. It's distressing, but I'm used to it. My family, friends, anybody I tell it to, I don't care. You can think I'm insane, I'm telling the story for the poor sods like me who are going to die or are going to shoot themselves because they may even be persuaded they're insane; I wanted to think I'm insane. I've taken... it's been very encouraging for me when I picked up that... things like are on this tape [conversation with the aliens], so I do have some exterior confirmation of my sanity because I guess the loony bin is full of genuinely insane people who... you know, who think they aren't, but I've seen 'them', heard 'them', smelt 'them', every damn thing you could possibly imagine. And now I... and I taped... this is May 10th, I've taped them. I've got other little snippets of tape. I think I'm sort of ashamed to... for me to know I... ashamed I say that. I'm kind of ashamed for me to know what 'they' are saying to my subconscious because they are such stupid, silly things that 'they' are saying to it... Anyway, as I say, there's an American in London who has known of this for some time, who... knows about this; there must be others who are afraid to speak out. The UFOs are lies or are a hoax: these landings... this is a letter to Colin Andrews [of 'Circles' fame] and I'd like you to read it. You can keep this copy. Those landings are this... they're crap, by the way.

[KP:who is Bruce Lee in this letter?]- He is mentioned in Whitley Strieber's book as the senior editor of 'Arrow Books' who... who apparently is the guy who accepted 'Communion', and then he came across two of these 'creatures' in one of their original states. It's hard to say what they really look like. 'They' have shown me themselves in different ways... He saw them in a book shop thumbing through 'Communion' and making remarks they obviously wanted him to hear. Now he's [Lee] been 'pelleted'. You see, I was 'pelleted' at gun point. Do you know why? Because 'they' thought 'they' had already 'pelleted' me earlier on and they wanted me to know - 'they' took off my glasses by the way when 'they'... obviously to put the 'pellet' in my eye - but what had happened was - that happened in the beginning of June...

[KP:what sensation did you get when the 'pellet' was put into your eye?]- No, barely a sensation. I did see it as it went in, but the thing was I'd seen it [the pellet] before. Now remember, I'm a guy with actually two pellets in his eye, but still not wanting to believe anything I... and also there were threats to my mother, but, in the middle of February, I'm not sure of the exact date, 'they' opened the door to my... apartment building; there's a staircase leading...

[KP: February this year, '89?]- February 1987, five months before the 'gun' incident, and I was suppose to recall this, because a few days before a pair of [my] glasses had disappeared which had a higher rim than these - a fairly high rim - I don't even know why it was necessary. I walked to my door, something... floated up against, literally floated up against my eye, my right eye, went over the top and up into my eye and floated up. I didn't think anything of it at the time. I just thought it was very strange, I did think that something should just go in, but it might have been anything; but it was also painless. 'They' stole four... in Wales subsequently to that, 'they' stole four more pairs. 'They' entered my apartment, 'they' have entered my house in Wales, my apartment in Bournemouth and stolen four pairs of glasses since, trying... 'they' had their own funny way of wanting me to know that I had been 'pelleted' and what was going on.

'They' wanted me to know step-by-step everything that I know. And the more I have known, the more... friendly 'they' have been towards me, as if I'm... well, you see 'they' have let me know what I didn't want to know; all unwelcome knowledge. That's it.

[Ed's note: in the second part of this disturbing case, we shall look at the abortive attempt to obtain the legal and medical data pertaining to the witness. We shall also look at the witness' struggle to get his evidence recognised by the 'Drug Enforcement Agency' at the U.S. Embassy in London, as well as by various authors and researchers of the UFO phenomenon].

IMMENSE OBJECT IN THE SKY OVER BIERSET

by P. Vidal

Excepting henceforth the classic descriptions of triangles collected in the course of the Belgium wave, we have been informed about diverse repetitions of observations of enormous objects flying at low altitude. Certain witnesses declared to have even seen some triangles making up these immense objects. Here is an example of a case where one of these uncommon UFOs has observed.

The first case was initiated on the evening of 29th November 1989. The witness, who was in his fifties and living in GRACE-HOLLOGNE [on the edge of Liegeoise] was alone in his vehicle. The time was about 18.45 and he was driving along the road by some industrial installations in the proximity of BIERSET. He had to pass by there in order to pick up his wife before returning to his home.

He was taking the MATHIEU DE LEXCHY road, which is bordered by dwellings of one form or another. Beyond these houses to the right there is a colliery, some wasteland and some warehouses. Having travelled on about 100 metres to the crossroads with the RUE HECTOR DENIGE, the driver perceived to his left over the waste land an immense, stationary object at about 100 m in altitude and about 500 m from him.

The witness was very surprised by this sight and lowered his window whilst cruising at 20 km/h. His car engine was relatively silent, so much so, he was able to detect a sound emanating from the phenomenon; a soft sound of an electric motor according to his description. The object remained stationary and, placed as he was, the witness was able to describe the shape of the object as a lozenge, the size of which was very clearly greater than that of an AWAC [Boeing 707]. The object was adorned with flashing lights and beams of light were being directed towards the ground. The witness counted three colours [red, green and white].

At the centre of the object the surface was slightly sunken and the appearance of the structure was like that of dark metal. The witness was stunned but he suddenly remembered he had to pick up his wife and so resumed his journey [at this time the press had not yet mentioned the Eupen UFOs].

NEW YEAR AT MANUY ST-JEAN

by P. Vidal

On 1st January 1990, a little after 18.30, the telephone rang... On the phone, a young man who was very evidently excited, began to tell us of the following account...

The young man lives at MANUY ST-JEAN near MONS. He and his friends and members of the family were holding a new year celebration when they witnessed an astonishing, aerial, luminous phenomenon. There in the sky, underneath the cloud base, a sort of luminous, opaque egg was carrying out rotations in a wide loop...

The phenomenon seemed to be situated over the neighbouring village of TERTRE, so being accessible to us, we decided to go to the site armed with a video camera.

When we arrived, we met about a dozen witnesses, but the phenomenon had by then come to an abrupt halt. The young people there were very excited; everybody was talking at once.

Thus, for almost half-an-hour, the luminous phenomenon manifested itself without sound and remaining in the same location effecting elliptical rotations. We were, at first, really sure that the witnesses had possibly mistaken the phenomenon for a laser beam being emitted by a discotheque, but, however, it was not as simple as that.

First of all, there was no ray seen to be emitted from the ground towards the phenomenon. The cloud-base on that evening was situated at almost 4 000 m according to the meteorological office at CHIEVRE and the wind was relatively strong. The witnesses were adamant that the appearance of this luminous egg had not changed throughout the whole observation. The cloud mass was not homogenous and we made estimates of the speed at which the clouds were passing by. The appearance of the phenomenon would have, therefore, varied in relationship with the cloud mass encountered if it was all a matter of a laser beam. Moreover, the phenomenon was 'white in colour and not the colour green as is the case for a laser beam.

The absence of a beam leaving the ground could be explained within the framework of a conventional hypothesis by the fact that laser beams emitted in the same circumstances are not distributed in an isotropic manner [sic]. Unfortunately, for other witnesses located in many places around the phenomenon, notably in BAUDOUR, did not make comments about beams emitting from the ground.

After all, to imagine that all these witnesses would not have had the chance to discover, in the same geographical conditions of observations, these ground-to-air beams is stretching credibility somewhat. In any event, the witnesses are young persons who are used to going out in the region and they know of no discotheques under the location where the phenomenon manifested itself.

The witnesses who have lived in the area for a long time have never before had the occasion to witness such a spectacle, nor in the days thereafter. Besides, it has to be taken into account that the Gendarmerie in ATH has been inundated with calls on that evening and that the discotheque hypothesis has never been identified as claimed by certain voices.

OBSERVATIONS IN THE REGION OF CORDES (TOURNAI) ELECTROMAGNETIC INTERFERENCE

by P. Vidal

The witness in this next observation is a game keeper and it is for this reason that we are keeping his name anonymous.

He resides in an isolated place in the region of CORDES (TOURNAI). As a part of his job, the witness is often outdoors at night. We also wish to point out that he is a correspondent with the IRM [The Royal Institute of Meteorology].

The first observation goes back to April or May 1990 – the witness no longer remembers the precise date – at about 2 – 3 o'clock in the morning. Having returned home he entered his dining room and, in so doing, perceived through the window a pinkish-red luminous ball moving half-way up some trees bordering a neighbouring meadow. This ball had a diameter of about 1.5 m, but it quickly flattened into an elongated shape. The witness described the resemblance of the phenomenon with that of bladder of a football which had been elongated. The phenomenon advanced horizontally and rounded a small wood located behind the witness' house – at the time of the observation the witness was situated at about 150 m from the luminous ball. The spheroid flew very slowly [10/20 km/h] and, after having rounded the small wood, the ball disappeared from view.

The second observation was more recent and stranger than the first: the time was 02.25 and the witness was in his car listening to the radio: his CB was on 'standby' and the dashboard lights were on. Suddenly, the radio, CB as well as the dashboard lights went off. The witness was thus suddenly plunged into darkness and, believing this loss of power to be due to a faulty ignition, he tried in vain to re-start the car engine.

We pointed out in order to make a point that some identical manifestations have already been notified to us twice before: over JETTE (BXL) in the first instance, the second, having been witnessed by a physician from ULB.

It was at this juncture there appeared from behind the car an intense glow which, in an instant, enveloped the vehicle. Inside the car, the witness was stunned since the light was blinding and it hurt his eyes. The illumination lasted for some seconds then the game keeper decided to get out of his car. He opened the car door and put one foot on the ground. At this very moment the intense light went out. Moreover, there was not a sound to be heard; only the stars in the sky.

At practically the same moment, the ignition came back on and the CB, radio and dashboard lights all started to function again. The witness declared to us at the time of our conversation with him that some colleagues of his on duty at the same place had also lived through a similar event at almost the same time of night. According to the log book of lightning activity kept at the home of the witness there were no reports of lightning discharge on the evening in question...

The third observation manifested itself some days later on the night of 4/5 November 1990. The witness was, in fact, at the same place when he watched the slow descent towards the ground of a luminous mass, the splendour of which intensified in proportion to the phenomenon's approach to the ground. The luminous mass then stabilised just over a grove of trees, the crests of which became illuminated [the grove was situated at about 1.5 km from the witness]. The object then turned over the wood then slowly directed itself towards the village of FOREST where the game keeper lost sight of the phenomenon.

CLOSE ENCOUNTER OVER THE RING (MOTORWAY) OF BRUSSELS

by Michel Rozencwajg

The date was Sunday 9th. December 1990 at almost 21.30. The weather was cold, overcast and snow was falling. Mme. Cortvriendt and her husband were returning towards RHODE ST-GENESE following the 'Ring of Brussels' and were coming up to a four-branch crossroads. As the car was following the turn-off in order to take the motorway in the direction of Waterloo Mme. Cortvriendt perceived in the distance to her right a luminous triangle. Quite inexplicably, given the difficult weather conditions, she could now perceive, at some dozens of metres away through the vehicle's right-hand-side window, a gigantic, circular plate located over the crests of some trees. On its circumference the object was carrying a multitude of white lights which were as bright as diamonds.

Arrayed from the centre of the object towards its periphery and in the shape of a cross could be made out four segments of a brass colour which the witness spontaneously called four exhaust pipes and from which was escaping white fumes resembling steam. Of all the evidence which the witness considers amazing was to be found in the large under-belly of this triangular object flying at 50 m altitude. The car, not being able to stop in the middle of a motorway, continued on its way and the witness lost sight of the object which was proceeding in the opposite direction towards ZAVENTEM.

It must be noted after having had two, long conversations with Mme. Cortvriendt showed herself to be really shocked but also obsessed by that which she had perceived. To such a degree, that the following day she made a detailed sketch in colour of the object which she had seen, placing it in darkness in front of a luminous source in order to reproduce the scene and to make all its dimensions as near to the real thing as possible. She confessed to me, among other things, that she thinks only of the encounter night and day to the point of having completely disturbed sleep about it. She confided with me in the following, which I did not induce in her in any way by the question directed, that she had thought about the image of a being of small size, macrocephale [sic] with large eyes.

This thought has persisted for some days to the point of convincing the witness that this object was inhabited by some beings coming from elsewhere. More recently still, this charming lady has contacted me again in order to make me participate in the persistence, a month and a half after the encounter, of her obsessional thoughts, of which she has not succeeded in ridding herself. We acknowledge, after all, that this type of reaction is very widespread amongst these witnesses who have lived through these close encounters.

WHEN REALITY OVERTAKES SCIENCE-FICTION

by Michel Rozencwajg

This close encounter is certainly one of the most precise which has ever reached us. It has been confirmed and correlated by another less-precise testimony, but nevertheless, there is certain agreement on important parameters. Once again, these facts go in the direction of the 'visitor hypothesis' [extraterrestrial or other dimension]. We do not have any reason, after having met the witnesses, to fault the credibility of their account. The sketches of Mr. Hardy speak for themselves.

On Sunday 6th January 1991, between 18.00 and 18.30, two groups of witnesses were journeying along the motorway E411 reported the fly-over at very low altitude of a gigantic plate-shaped object carrying many luminous sources. The first witnesses reported the passing over at Spontin of a rectangular object surmounted by a cupola. This incident involved a family of four persons who swore that the object was going towards NAMUR.

At 18.30 these matters were reported precisely by another family up at BOUGE. They were coming from Brussels at the time and had reached a spot a little before the Beez Viaduct. According to one of the witnesses, Mr. Hardy, a military veteran in the regular army, estimated the distances of three halogen-type lights which appeared to the left of the motorway.

In the first instance, Mr. Hardy thought that the lights seen was those of a football ground, but he quickly realised that these lights made up a part of a real vessel which was hovering perfectly stationary over a quarry. The object, according to him, must have measured less than 80 m long and 10 – 15 m in height with the forward three lights embedded in the form of a rectangle and a red light on the lower rear end.

The under-belly as well as the upper part was bulged out and was of a dark grey hue. On the side of the apparatus was a series of 'portholes' lit up in white and were 15 in number. The rear end presented a flat surface with some fins. Mr. Hardy observed the object for 2 – 3 minutes, having parked his car on the motorway hard-shoulder. He estimated the height above the ground of the object as 90 m and the distance which separated him as 200 m: he made these estimations with incredible accuracy because he used a high-tension pylon situated behind the phenomenon as a reference marker.

The moment when the witness switched on his four headlights the object began to move in a linear and uniform way and distanced itself slowly in the direction of HANNUT. We stated precisely that at this spot and at that time the traffic is heavy, which left us to suppose that many other people have been witnesses to this incredible observation.

OBITUARY

Aimé Michel

Courtesy of 'Magonia' magazine – March 1993

We read in the French magazine Phénoména of the death of Aimé Michel in December 1992, at the age of 73. His interest in ufology was awakened by the Scandinavian 'ghost-rockets', leading to his first book, The Truth About Flying Saucers, in 1954. The writer of a number of important reports on French cases (his account of the 'Dr. X' case is a classic) he will, perhaps, best be remembered for his development of 'orthoteny', first put forward in his book Flying Saucers and the Straight Line Mystery, published in English in 1958.

In researching the 1954 French wave, he noted that sightings recorded on a particular day could be linked into groups along a series of straight lines; most notably those for 24th September 1954, where many sightings were strung out along a line linking the towns of Bayonne and Vichy; the 'Bavic' line...

Michel's influence on ufology in Britain was enhanced by his longstanding friendship with Charles Bowen, editor of Flying Saucer Review in its most influential era. Bowen published many articles by Michel, both on his orthotenic theories, and deeper, speculative pieces on the nature of intelligence, both terrestrial and extraterrestrial, and the possibility of communication.

Michel had a learned academic background, studying music and the theory of sound, and was an expert on animal communication... Phénoména records that he had been retired from ufology for many years, 'persuaded that UFOs were above human comprehension'.

BUFORA LTD. extends its condolences to the family and close friends of Aimé.

MESSENGERS OF DESTINY

A FASCINATING VIDEO OF UFO ACTIVITY IN MEXICO

On July 11th 1991, leading up to a total solar eclipse, thousands gathered to watch this magical event, as prophesied by ancient Mayan priests, when a silvery disc-shaped object silently hovered and was filmed on video by at least 17 people in different locations of Mexico City; this event marked the beginning of a huge wave of UFO activity.

An international team of investigators from the USA, Mexico and Japan were led by a trail of UFO sightings to Mount Popocatepetl, the fourth largest volcano in the world, and thought to be dormant, but discovered it is now awakening.

'Messengers of Destiny' is a well-produced, thought-provoking and most important film. From the fulfilment of ancient prophesies to the well-documented UFO sightings, courtesy of the personal 'Camcorder', an incredible amount of footage has been produced; this is the first in a series of over 40 videos.

UNDENIABLE EVIDENCE

In July 1991, leading researcher, Colin Andrews and Ark Soundwaves began filming this invaluable guide to the fascinating crop circle phenomenon, including: in-depth interviews with Colin Andrews revealing the evolution of early crop circles into more elaborate and breathtaking pictograms, plus his own personal views in which he shares for the first time his deepest thoughts and profound conclusions; land owners and farm workers also share their experiences. See the results of research into the crystalline structure change of plants and hear the unearthly sound produced in some crop formations.

This most intriguing mystery is clearly presented in this beautifully filmed, visually stunning, informative documentary. For over a decade, Colin has painstakingly researched these mysterious formations. This dedication has made him a most authoritative and respected presenter of the phenomenon, which we feel is of utmost importance.

The subscription to TEMS is £2-00, which goes towards phone calls, postage and photocopying. Members receive TEMS NEWS at no extra cost. A charge of £1-50 is made at the Sunday afternoon lectures to cover afternoon tea and speaker's expenses. The above programme has been designed to complement the meetings of national groups, i.e. ASSAP, BUFORA, CCCS and local affiliates, SIGAP and the Surrey Earth Mysteries Group. TEMS was founded in January 1992 and is a social and study group covering a wide range of paranormal interests and Earth Mysteries. TEMS is in S.W. London, S. Middx. and Surrey branch of ASSAP (Reg. charity No. 327422 at: 20, Paul St. Frome, BA11-1DX). A summary of the subjects covered can be found on the TEMS introductory leaflet, and a fuller list is available from ASSAP.

It is not widely known that the inspiration for TEMS came at an Indian restaurant in Sheffield immediately after the BUFORA International Conference in August 1991. Besides the writer, founding-members at Sheffield included John Harman and Ken Seddington. This resulted in a stimulating seminar on crop circles in Hampton on 6th October 1991.

The inaugural meeting of TEMS – The Travel and Earth Mysteries Society – was held on 26th January 1992.

In 1992, some seventeen events took place, including five field trips. Talks at homes of members ranged from Atlantis to crop circles, ghosts, psychic questing, survival, UFOs and terrestrial zodiacs. Notable trips included 'Mysterious Guildford', ably led by Eileen Grimshaw, when the local citizenry was dressed in Civil War costume. There was also a July weekend in Norfolk visiting Kings Lynn, Castle Acre Priory, Castle Rising and the Walsinghams. Field trips usually turn up unexpected discoveries, not least of which was 'dog-paws' in Longcross Church, that fitted in Mary Caine's Kingston Zodiac; an exciting programme has been arranged for 1993 [see above].

TEMS is a non-profit, non-political and non-sectarian social and study group. For further details, either of the following can be contacted:-

Write

Express your views by sending your correspondence to:

The editor, UFO Times,
Suite 1, The Leys,
2c Leyton Road,
Harpenden, Herts,
AL5 2TL

Dear Editor,

I'm gonna sit right down and write myself a letter... [apologies to the lyricist of the famous song!]

Dreadfully sorry Readers – particularly to Gordon Millington who submitted the article in the first place! – but I forgot to append the signature of the author to the paper 'ZECHARIA AND THE ANCIENT ASTRONAUTS' [pp 22/23, UT21]; it was, of course, none other than our own Gordon Millington.

You fool Phillips! Keep your mind on the job!!

Sincerely,
Ken Phillips.

London.

Dear Sir,

May I congratulate you on becoming (I hope) the full-time editor of UT. I now hope that your paper will return to every other month delivery, as it was a few years ago!

The paper is interesting, informative, intriguing, intellectual, instructive and, if you can think of other words that start with the letters 'in', you're a better man than I (Gunger-Dinn)! [Get away! – Ed.]

I will now expose to you (but not in public) – [I should hope not! – Ed.] that I am not of this Earth!! For I am, in fact, a 'Grey'! No, not a ... !

I will explain. I have been put on this Earth to keep an 'eye' on you all! I ( I mean WE), are from a galaxy far away in the other end of your own universe! (Go round the back of Mars, turn left and go right up Uranus! Painful? [Not half! – Ed.]

I live here on Earth (same as you?) and live a 'normal' life as you do! I look normal, work normal, meet friends, even go down to the pub every evening as normal! Get drunk from beer, have a curry and throw up – perfectly normal!! [Absolutely, except that I, personally, can't afford it! – Ed.]

Many thousands of us are living here on Earth, going about doing their day-to-day business as perfectly 'ordinary citizens' – all except Jeremy Beadle! He is not one of ours!! I don't think he is one of yours either?

Our great Master, 'O-B1 Ben-Kenoby' (meaning Son of Ken) could descend to Earth in our great flying saucers and explain to you all the meaning of life, the universe and all, but at the moment he is busy, but do not worry (do I worry?), should an apocalyptic disaster begin to unfold, WE will be the first out of here!!

Unfortunately, the world at this moment in time is NOT READY for us to descend upon you and to teach you all a better life where no-one argues, pain and suffering is no more and everybody lives a full and happy life full of fun, peace and happiness! (You should be that lucky!)

You have a lot to learn! If you study well, learn and keep having a healthy diet (with plenty of roughage) [I shan't need roughage if there's an "apocalyptic disaster"! – Ed.] you may at last feel better!

I might write to you again in a few months to discuss more with you about life on Earth, and perhaps I can tell you a little more about my world, our past-times, cookery, music and electronic sub-Newtonal Polyanagrams! [sic]

I remain you friend,

Arther Cadaver.

Ed's note: I've tidied up the spelling and grammar a little to protect the innocent. However, rough edges notwithstanding, I look forward to further intellectual correspondence from "Mr. Cadaver" in order that I can present it to the 'Royal Society' with the aim of inducing that august body to begin taking our subject more seriously!
