

ID4D is a cross-sectoral platform that creates and leverages partnerships with United Nations agencies, other donors, non-government organizations, academia, and the private sector.

Initiative of the World Bank Group

The ID4D Initiative brings global knowledge and expertise across sectors and countries to tackle this fundamental challenge. It operates as a horizontal initiative across at least 10 different World Bank Group Global Practices and units working on digital development, social protection, financial inclusion, health, governance, gender, legal and data. Over the last few years, the agenda has been embedded in the dialogue and the projects among these sector teams.