Threatened with dismissal for revealing the truth about our empty hospitals, another brave health worker in Devon, UK gives a full and frank interview of first hand evidence confirming we have been systematically lied to about the COVID-19 pandemic.

An anonymous frontline emergency nurse who has treated coronavirus patients, explains in this frank Youtube video that the major hospital where she works full time has wards full of empty beds. She explains that at the outset of the pandemic last March, managers designated wards for COVID cases that never materialized.

So many beds remain empty after several months and patients with other serious diseases are being sent home with no treatment – many left to die.

She says:

"I treated patients with COVID early in the outbreak. What we saw were patients coming in who had other existing diseases, heart problems, kidney failure, etc. They were dying WITH Covid not FROM Covid. There are so many empty beds!

One lady came in yesterday with severe pains in her arm. She was COVID swabbed then told there was nothing we could do. She was sent home with painkillers and told she had to wait until all this was over.

No one in our hospital died from COVID. They died, I believe, because COVID weakened their immune system. All our staff have to wear masks all through their shift - from the moment they enter the building till they leave. I am getting breathing problems from it. My colleagues are having other problems, such as headaches. A nurse colleague has had to have an ECG because the masks are giving her heart problems. She never had these problems before we were told to wear masks.

I believe the wearing of masks will be the cause of another wave of disease because they are so unhealthy.

Staff were re-assigned from the COVID wards to other departments in the hospital. We just haven't been having patients coming to us for other serious diseases. They have been sent home. They are at home where they are left without getting treatment."
