OVERVIEW

Freedom Convoy 2022 assess that potentially violent protestors may arrive in Ottawa to vandalize property. Following that, they will then attempt to blame convoy members for the violent actions. The protestors are likely to arrive in Ottawa either late Wednesday or Thursday. The violent actions are likely intended for Thursday and Friday.

The actions from the protestors are likely to consist of harassment of citizens and damage to vehicles and property. Protestors from such groups are likely to be dressed in all black or dark colored clothing and travel together in small groups.

Separately, Freedom Convoy 2022 has reported low level vandalism against vehicles such as cutting gas lines for APUs and generators.

POLITICAL INSTIGATORS

We assess that Prime Minister Trudeau and NDP Leader Jagmeet Singh have worked to create a political space where violence against the Freedom Convoy appears acceptable. But constantly making false allegations of racism, extremism, and white supremacy, they are knowingly encouraging extreme left and Anti-fa style persons to act violently against citizens in Ottawa. This policy of indirectly supporting violence is consistent with the Prime Minister's position of refusing to discuss Freedom Convoy demands or meet with representatives while attempting to smear them in the press and starve out the participants.
