The following locations were searched and if open queried for surveillance video from September 1, 2021:

3 - Café Risqué, 17035 County Road 234, Micanopy, FL 32667 - contact was made with the front desk clerk who advised the manager was the only person with access to the surveillance system. After speaking to her manager, the clerk advised the manager would return to work on Monday, September 20, 2021 and willing to meet the agents. A perimeter search was conducted with negative results for discarded items of interest.

The aforementioned locations were on the east side of I-75. The west side of I-75 was driven identifying no business with surveillance cameras and/or with access to the property after hours. The three businesses on the west of I-75 were either fenced, having a locked gate, or were chained off at the roadway. The area was driven and perimeter searched for discarded items with negative results.

Good morning,

FYI from my observation at the search. This may be helpful in your search.

In the closet of the second bedroom (office), I located a box with what appeared to be Brian's flip flops and sneakers. I believe Crocs was the brand of sneakers. This may be his sneaker of choice? I compared bottom of shoe in photo to the bottom of Crocs sneakers, but it appears that the Crocs sneaker (while also white on bottom) has a Croc logo located center sole whereas the sneaker in the photo does not.

Also, to corroborate with info provided by [REDACTED] his t-shirts

b6
b7C

I found fragile items wrapped in brand new plain Target- brand (I want to say "GoodFellow") t-shirts – also located in the same closet in the second bedroom. Medium in size, I believe (no larger than that).

Thanks,

Police in Florida have tried to speak with the boyfriend of a Long Island woman who disappeared under "odd" circumstances on a cross-country trip — but the man's parents refused to allow them, according to a report.

Gabby Petito, 22, was last known to be in Wyoming's Grand Teton National Park in late August after embarking on the trip with her boyfriend, Brian Laundrie, the month before.

Authorities have reportedly said the vehicle the couple was traveling in — a white 2012 Ford Transit van with Florida plates — was recovered late Saturday and forensic experts are searching it for clues, the Daily Mail reported.

"We have the vehicle, we took it away very late Saturday night into Sunday," North Port police spokesman Josh Taylor told the outlet.

"We take it, we process it for evidence — fingerprints, any evidentiary value that we think is possible. We are continuing to work on it. We are putting things together. The situation is obviously very fluid," added Taylor, who confirmed that Laundrie has not talked with investigators.

Gabby Petito was last known to be in Wyoming's Grand Teton National Park in late August 2021.

"We have not talked with him, we would love to talk to him. He is under no obligation to talk to us — and he has not. And we don't know yet if a crime happened," the spokesman told the outlet, which also reported that he has retained an attorney.

In a statement, police said: "We currently have no definitive information that a crime took place here in North Port. With the circumstances are odd.

"The vehicle she was traveling in was located here in North Port. So, we are actively gathering local details and any evidence finding needed answers. If you know anything about this case, please contact us at 941-429-7382," police added.

I have attached a tweet that included our handle – i.e. we were mentioned in a tweet about someone possibly matching the description of Brian Laundrie.

Laundrie is the North Port resident who has gone missing since authorities said he returned to Florida from a cross-country trip without his girlfriend, Gabby Petito.

North Port Police has been searching for him.

Good afternoon [REDACTED]

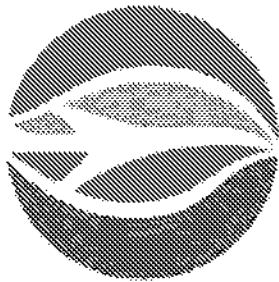

I'm attaching 2 pictures, one zoomed in and one further out. The Red line represents the approximate path of the individual, the blue path is the path of myself leaving the airport. The green box is the area where the individual caught my attention. I landed at 08:36 PM local time. So I could've been walking through the area anytime between the hours of 08:45 PM and 09:15 PM. I'm 5'6, and on the chubby side wearing my pilot uniform so should be easy to spot. I hope this helps. Thank you!

On September 16, 2021, SA [] was contacted by Tampa Division Special Agent (SA) [] who requested assistance in searching areas of interest, identified through telephone location analysis, for items which may have been discarded by Brian Landrie on September 1, 2021. A photograph was forwarded that depicted described movement of a cellular device possessed by Landrie when he was in the Gainesville area on September 1, 2021. The location data included the area of Paynes Prairie Preserve State Park, a large mostly wetland state park. Sections of both Interstate 75 (I-75) and US Highway 441 run through the Prairie.

b7C

SA [] coordinated with Alachua County Sheriff's Office (ASO) Chief Detective [] and members of the Safe Streets Task Force (SSTF) to determine the parameters of the search and asset allocation. ASO's Intelligence Lead Policing Unit (ILP) conducted a search of the US Highway 441 corridor from the lookout dock on the east side north to the end of the prairie and from the same approximately point (lookout dock) on the west side north to the end of the prairie. The ILP searched the shoulder of the roadway and the marshy area just over the guard rail on both sides of the road with negative results.

b6
b7C

SA [] and members of SSTF searched the I-75 rest area south of the Williston Road exit and north of the prairie with negative results for video surveillance cameras or items possibly discarded.

b6
b7C

SA [] and SSTF also traveled the area of the Gainesville Country Club which is located just west of the Circle K gas station Landrie purchased gas from on September 1, 2021, with negative results.

b6
b7C

Due to telephone analysis only providing broad estimated areas the search was primarily focused on the US Hwy 441, I-75, and Circle K areas, searching visually for discarded personal items of luggage, a small mattress, and believe worked for @rei stopped everyone in their tracks and commented about my shoes asking me how I liked them, I felt like I was giving a small presentation to everyone crowding around waiting to continue on the path, all looking up at me while I'm standing on this rock describing how awesome these shoes have been! especially hiking with them on the #appalachiantrail while @bizarre_design_hikes barefoot! ☺️👣 side note * this is not sponsored or an ad, although I wish it was (@rei)... and this woman who seemed ^{b6} very concerned asked me if the crust ^{b7c} was hot. I was in such a different mindset that this question fazed me.

Even if it was boiling lava, I was just so happy to be there that I didn't think about the sun. Suprisingly enough, the rocks here were cold! No not ice cold, but cool! magically the sandy smooth crust dosent retain any heat? So not only did it feel good because it was 100° with no shade, but it was tranquil.

Arches National Park

gabspetito On a calm Monday morning @bizarre_design_ and I decided to take the highly trafficked hike to the Delicate Arch.

Not sure if it's because it was 7AM on a Monday, but there actually were not as many people on the trail as I expected. After waiting on a short line for someone to generously take our photo, @bizarre_design_ and I made our way to the other side of arch (see next post) We also camped for one night in Devils Garden with the cover off of our tent to fall asleep watching the stars, trying to catch a glimpse of the Perseid meteor shower

Fun Fact — I did not edit any of these photos (except maybe to brighten the exposure slightly) but only one person

has taken a photo of the arch from the other side

Fun Fact — I did not edit any of these photos (except maybe to brighten the exposure slightly) but only one person in the background of the last slide! Also, during our hike I stepped off the trail up onto bare rock, just to take a photo of the view out of everyone's way of the path, and a very nice man who I believe worked for @rei stopped everyone in their tracks and commented about my shoes asking me how I liked them, I felt like I was giving a small presentation to everyone crowding around waiting to continue on the path, all looking up at me while I'm standing on this rock describing how awesome these shoes have been! especially hiking with them on the #appalachiantrail while
