Dear Steven:

Congratulations on your successful night at the sixty-sixth annual Academy Awards presentation.

The many accolades bestowed on "Schindler's List" are fitting recognition of the high regard in which this film is held by your peers. This important movie is a powerful reminder of the horrifying dangers of racism, hatred, and intolerance -- and of the tremendous compassion of the human soul. More than that, your work honors the lives of the Jews lost to the Holocaust and offers the memory of their lives for generations to come.

Best wishes for continued success and happiness.

Sincerely,

Thank you for your letter and for sending the interview we did when you were a student at Vassar and I was a young governor. It was great fun to read through it, and I thank you for sending it.

Thanks, too, for your offer of assistance. I hope you'll feel free to share any ideas you may have.

Finally, thanks for the invitation to a homecooked meal in Paris. As you know, I'll be in France this summer, and I've forwarded your letter to Ricki Seidman, my scheduler, to let her know of your invitation.

President William Clinton
The White House
Washington, DC 20500

Dear President Clinton:

During the course of my lifetime, I have had a lot of wonderful things happen to me, but I don't think there has been anything that has been more impressive than having the opportunity to have dinner with the President of the United States, as well as stay in the Lincoln Bedroom of the White House, have a personalized tour by you, and then proceed to the Oval Office where we had a chance to visit. I don't know of anything that could top that for a wonderful experience!

I'm really glad we had the chance to visit, President Clinton, and I can understand the dilemma you face; but just go back to the Orange Bowl and remember the advice you gave me. It was sound. It was valid, and it prevailed. Due to the fact that I was the recipient of vicious articles and innuendoes, I could not use common sense, as I felt the world was treating me unfairly, and probably justifiably so. I think your situation is somewhat similar at the present time, in the fact that when one has a great deal of success, people are going to constantly try to criticize and cast aspersions.

You have accomplished so much in such a short period of time, both as a person and as a president of the United States. You did this by taking an unpopular route in many instances, but one in which you felt in your heart was right and proper. I feel you should just continue to do the things that made you successful in your every endeavor.

When I came back and had a press conference, I made comment about the type of person you are, and here is just a small little excerpt that appeared in the paper. I will continue to extol your virtues. Thank you for your friendship.

Sincerely,

Lou Holtz

SOUTH BEND — Last week, while visiting President Clinton in the White House, Notre Dame Coach Lou Holtz was confronted with stories of ghosts haunting the Lincoln Bedroom, where Holtz and his wife Beth stayed. But the stories didn't fluster Holtz. "I'm used to a couple looking over my shoulder here, so it didn't faze me at all," Holtz said Monday. He also took the opportunity to give the Clintons his vote of confidence. "I've known President Clinton and Mrs. Clinton for 17 years," Holtz said. "They're good, solid individuals who I think have a lot of morals, values and character." Holtz is back in town for Notre Dame's spring practice which begins today. Page C1

THE PRESIDENT HAS SEEN

always going to accept - but will wait ASAP -

25 December 1993

President and Mrs. Clinton
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, D.C.

Dear President and Mrs. Clinton,

When you graciously hosted our overnight stay last month, I was enthralled by the large collection of work by American artists adorning the walls of the White House.

But I was hoping to see more work by Norman Rockwell - he's so widely considered the quintessential expert in capturing the homespun, middle American point of view. I must admit I'm a bit biased; I have devoted time and financial support to the Rockwell Museum in Stockbridge, Massachusettes and own an extensive collection of Rockwell paintings.

"The Statue of Liberty" graced the cover of the Saturday Evening Post on July 6th, 1941. In true Rockwell form, the painting elicits warm feelings, a smile, and yet also portrays a serious message. In this case, I believe it says a great deal about our shared beliefs - that liberty still needs a lot of work.

It would make me very happy if you would accept "The Statue of Liberty" to join the White House collection of great American works of art. We hope you get as much out of this painting as we have over the years.

Warmest wishes for all the best this holiday season,

Steven

Dear President Clinton,

Congratulations on signing into law the "Omnibus Consolidated Recessions and Appropriations Act of 1996" and for making such great strides in environmental protection, education, and crime prevention.

Though the generous grant to the Shoah Foundation is only a small part of this great victory, its impact will be tremendous and far-reaching on our work in countries around the world.

Please send Mrs. Clinton my personal thanks for her support of the Foundation since its inception.

On behalf of Survivors of the Shoah Visual History Foundation, you have my heartfelt thanks.

MEMORANDUM

TO: CONNIE COOPERSMITH
FROM: JENNIFER PERRY
DATE: APRIL 26, 1994
RE: BRIEFING WITH HILLARY RODHAM CLINTON LOGISTICS

Here are additional details regarding the First Lady's breakfast at Kate Capshaw's and Steven Spielberg's.

Kate and Steven will meet the First Lady upon her arrival. The breakfast area is under a canopy and there will be a covered walkway to the canopy. Kate and Steven will walk the First Lady to her seat which is next to the podium. On her way to the head table she will have the opportunity to greet guests.

The First Lady will be seated with Kate and Steven, Judy and Michael Ovitz, Sally Field and David Geffen. We anticipate her arrival at 9:00 a.m. We plan to begin at roughly 9:05 a.m. and have the First Lady speak for ten to fifteen minutes, followed by questions and answers. Jennifer Perry will "moderate" the Q & A. We expect to conclude at approximately 9:45 a.m. This will hopefully allow for ten to fifteen minutes of private time for the First Lady with Kate and Steven.

HEALTH CARE BRIEFING FOR CHILDREN'S ACTION NETWORK
LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

TALKING POINTS

[Joke: I haven't seen this many people from Hollywood since the last time I walked through the West Wing]

AMERICAN CHILDREN ARE IN A CRISIS

We live in an age of great promise -- and great peril -- for our nation's children

Great promise because we live in an exciting age of progress and change, and children are our future. Great peril because we are letting them down when it comes to health care, nutrition, physical safety, education, and the most basic childhood need -- love, affection, and nurturing.

Earlier this month, the Carnegie Corporation issued an extensive report about American children between the ages of zero and three. It was stunning in its breadth, and also in the urgency of its message: We must do more.

THE GRIM STATISTICS ABOUT CHILDREN

* Today, the infant mortality rate in the U.S. is higher than that of 19 other countries

* Today, more than a quarter of all mothers do not receive prenatal care

* Today, more than a quarter of all babies are born to unmarried mothers -- compared to about 5 percent in 1960.

* Today, of the 12 million children under age 3, three million live in poverty

* Today, almost 40 percent of American two-year-olds have not been fully immunized against major childhood diseases

* Today, one third of the victims of physical abuse in this country are under one year old.

OUR MORAL PROGRESS IS LAGGING BEHIND OUR TECHNOLOGICAL PROGRESS

Our technological and scientific progress has far outpaced

our progress as moral beings, particularly when it comes to our treatment of children.

* We have machines that can detect tumors in the brain, yet millions of children never receive a polio vaccine.

* We have the finest libraries in the world, yet too many American children don't know how to read.

* We have an elaborate system of justice, yet more and more American children resolve disputes not with words, but with guns.

As a community, we have shown that we can sympathize with the plight of children. But we have not shown that we are willing to ACT as much as we need to on their behalf.

CHILDREN SHOULD NOT GROW UP WITH A SENSE OF FUTILITY

We must give children a reason for hope about their own futures. Otherwise we will continue to see stories like one I read a few months ago about children in Washington who are so sure they are going to die violently that they have begun planning their own funerals. These are 11, 12, 13-year-olds, matter-of-factly discussing the clothes they will wear, the music they want to have played, at their own funerals.

It doesn't sound so absurd when you stop to consider that these children live daily with the sound of gunfire in the streets, their neighborhoods, and even their schools.

HOW DO WE RESTORE HOPE FOR OUR CHILDREN?

We must commit ourselves as a national community to ensuring that children get the right start in life. That means good health care, proper nutrition, safe streets and safe schools, and a more nurturing, stable home environment.

The Clinton Administration is committed to keeping children squarely on the national agenda and we have made some progress: Head Start, WIC, safe schools, Goals 2000, the Family and Medical Leave Act, crime prevention.

HEALTH CARE REFORM IS THE KEY TO IMPROVING THE LIVES OF CHILDREN

* Today, 10 million children don't have insurance.

I met a 10-year-old boy in Denver recently. He had Down's syndrome, and he had come with his grandmother to the National Guard M*A*S*H unit there. They had lost their Medicaid coverage because of a change in the rules, and the M*A*S*H unit was the only place the grandmother could find care for this boy.

[story of the insurance broker who said "we don't insure burning houses]

* Reform will assure that every child has comprehensive benefits. No one will be excluded because of a pre-existing condition.

* The standard benefits package will include well-baby exams, immunizations, and preventive services that will help stave off more serious diseases as children get older. Reform also will provide prenatal care for mothers.

HEALTH CARE REFORM IS NOT ONLY AN ECONOMIC IMPERATIVE. IT'S A SOCIAL IMPERATIVE AND A MORAL IMPERATIVE

Our children tell us who we are and where we are going as a nation. If we can't be civilized for our own sake, let us be civilized for the sake of our children.

Above all, we must remember: children are powerless to affect change. But we are not.

FIRST LADY HILLARY RODHAM CLINTON VISITS SURVIVORS OF THE SHOAH VISUAL HISTORY FOUNDATION

First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton recently visited The ~~received a personal tour of~~ the Survivors of the Shoah Visual History Foundation ~~by~~ with founder and chairman Steven Spielberg.

Survivors of the Shoah Visual History Foundation is a nonprofit organization dedicated to videotaping as many Holocaust survivor testimonies as possible, around the world, for historical preservation, research and education use.

"The majority of Holocaust survivors are in their seventies and eighties. The window for capturing their testimonies is closing fast," said Spielberg. "This archive will preserve history as told by the people who lived it and lived through it. It is essential that we see their faces, hear their voices and understand that the horrendous events of the Holocaust happened to people and were committed by people. Racial, ethnic and cultural intolerance, sadly, are current events. This project stands as a monument to remembering the past and to always examining our present."

Working with the world's leading Holocaust museums, educators, archivists, documentary filmmakers and Holocaust survivors, the Foundation is compiling the most comprehensive library of survivor testimony ever assembled.

The Foundation is actively learning from and building on the important work being done by other groups. "We are committed to sharing resources and joining forces in cooperative spirit with the existing organizations engaged in Holocaust survivor documentation," remarked Spielberg. The Fortunoff Video Archive for Holocaust Testimonies at Yale University, the Museum of Jewish Heritage in New York, The Simon Weisenthal Center in Los Angeles, The United States Holocaust Memorial Museum in Washington D.C., and Yad Vashem The Holocaust Martyrs' and Heroes' Remembrance Authority in Jerusalem, are the initial repositories for the collection.

The Foundation is currently making efforts to contact Holocaust survivors and potential interviewers world-wide. Telephone inquiries in the United States and Canada should be directed to (800) 661-2092. All written inquiries can be directed to: Survivors of the Shoah Visual History Foundation, P.O. Dear Karen,

Following up on our phone conversation of a week ago, we would very much like to distribute the attached press release and photos highlighting Mrs. Clinton's recent visit to the Survivors of the Shoah Visual History Foundation.

At the time of Mrs. Clinton's visit, Steven very much wanted to keep their tour private and requested no press accompany them. However, he did consent to a photographer and has signed off on the attached release, dependent on securing Mrs. Clinton's approval.

In addition to the quotes we have included in the release from Steven, we would very much like to feature one from Mrs. Clinton if she would offer.

As I mentioned to you, we recently completed a story on the Foundation with Barbara Walters for 20/20. We are awaiting confirmation of the air date which we anticipate within the next few weeks. Ideally, we would like to release the attached story and photos simultaneously.

Our photographer David James is represented by the Sygma Photo Agency and they would assist us in distributing the photo to newspapers and weekly news magazines.

If I can provide any addition information, or answer any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact me. My direct number is 818-777-7732.

Best,
