Task Assignment No. 8

Dear Sir:

Enclosed are photocopied pages (pp 333 & 334, title page and publisher's page) from the referenced contractual study entitled The Road to 2012: Looking Towards the Next Two Decades, dated March, 1993, and identified as having been prepared (and copyrighted) by one Mr. John L. Petersen, of The Arlington Institute, Arlington, VA, as done for the U. S. Coast Guard by DOT.

In pursuit of my collateral research about an organization that Mr. Petersen apparently was referencing in his "Wild Card" scenario on Page 333, (postulating "Official Contact is Made With Extraterrestrials"), I am interested in obtaining a copy of this study in its entirety so that a better contextual assessment can be made and any USCG interest in such matters might be authenticated.

Does your office also have available any press releases, Congressional testimony (by perhaps yourself or a deputy or predecessor) and/or other expository information on the record, which will provide statements of the U. S. Coast Guard's official position on this study, why it was commissioned and how (if at all) Mr. Petersen's work fits into the USCG planning process?

People claiming association with Mr. Petersen, and who also are quite deeply involved in a professed public campaign claiming to be about "making contact with extra-terrestrials" have cited this report, and Mr. Petersen's asserted "high-level government contacts," in their soliciting of private funding in support of this group's alleged "Project Starlight." Billed as an effort to persuade U. S. citizens that contacts with "ETs" in "UFOs" are either imminent or have been made, this group also has been positioning itself to play an "international role" managing public responses.

This subject organization is based in North Carolina, and calls itself C-SETI, (Committee to Study Extra-Terrestrial Intelligences?), not to be confused with the former NASA/JPL deep-space microwave and radio listening project (SETI), defunded publicly in 1993, now receiving private sector support. C-SETI has received funding from Laurance Rockefeller and other sources.

In addition to a copy of the referenced USCG study and any relevant public relations material, Congressional testimony and correspondence pertaining to its broader content, please report on the cost of this study and where in the USCG or DOT authorization its funding appeared.

Thanking you for your attention to this request, I await your reply. Informational copies of this letter and its attachments are being provided to those referenced below, who have received previous and related materials about my inquiries into these matters and have been following them.

Sincerely,

Dick Farley

OFFICIAL CONTACT IS MADE WITH EXTRATERRESTRIALS

A team of volunteer researchers makes active contact with a UFO and videotapes the initial interchange with the extraterrestrial crew aboard their ship in 1995. The tape is widely broadcast around the world. The media, in following up the story, determines that this event is the culmination of a sophisticated international, multi-year strategy of a U.S.-based nonprofit group that has resulted in a number of earlier UFO contacts of increasing levels of interchange.

MEASURES

Although the mainline press had not lent much, if any, coverage to this story before its landmark event, after-the-fact research establishes that there had been a well-organized international network of UFO researchers who, since 1991, have been actively attempting to initiate the first official contact with extraterrestrials. Using a sophisticated strategy and unusual techniques, small teams from an international group of over 400 trained persons first initiated contact with UFOs in 1992 when they were successful in drawing ships into their immediate neighborhoods in Florida and England, getting them to hover overhead, change their flying formation, reply to light signals, and in one memorable case, hover within 100 meters of the team.

After the initial encounters, the group's leader had been invited to a meeting with a very high White House official who had confirmed that the government had, for some time confirmed UFO activities, most significantly from photographic data received from U.S. surveillance and reconnaissance satellites.

A much higher profile, government sponsored initiative had been launched in 1992 which had focused on using radio telescopes for listening in deep space for signals from other civilizations. This

R: Hi, Scott

S. How are you today, sir?

R. Okay, very good.

S. Returning your call from yesterday.

R. Oh yes, yes, exactly. Ah, well, you know we had been tasked a couple of days before the proposed visit of Laurance Rockefeller with the White House Science Advisor, to provide a briefing update to him -- and we didn't do that, instead we tasked out friend Dr. Maccabee to do it. He did an excellent job and I was wondering whether you had seen it when you were over there?

This was a bogus report to deflect focus from underlying "UFO" issues.

S. No.

R. Okay

S. Bruce, of course is quite knowledgeable, but why didn't you guys do it yourselves?

R. We didn't have the material here to do it on that short of notice, didn't have any reference material in the file records, and Bruce had already taken a shot on something fairly similar. We worked with him on it and he did a fairly professional job like you would do a briefing for a President. He had one and a half pages of bulletized notes, and then tabs going back to paragraphs on each of the main points, and then further tabs going back to the original source material.

S. Did you get feedback from Bruce and/or Jack on that briefing, or from both of them?

R. Bruce was not at the briefing so he knows nothing at this point.

S. I thought that Bruce presented the briefing.

R. No, no, it is a briefing book.

S. So Jack had not seen that book before we got to him.

R. He supposedly had. He got it the night before, and he claimed he read it either the night before or early that morning. Kit was supposed to meet with Jack yesterday and supposed to give us some guidance today if there is any additional follow-up or what

Dr. Christopher "Kit" Green, Former CIA, now G.M. Dir. of External Research.

Re: Gibbons / White House & Rockefeller's deflection of White House focus to "UFOs", from source issues his reactions were.

S. Do you want to work separately or together on this?

R. If you want a copy of the briefing book we could send one to you - it is unclassified, and maybe give you some heads-up on what he is doing. My guess is that he is not going to do anything. He seemed to be fairly adverse to this whole subject.

→ Gibbons

S. What he told me, I've known Jack for eight years, I was not surprised at what he told us during the time we spent with him. He said that he had no information on this, no personal knowledge, and was not read into it, doesn't know the literature. I think that is a true statement. My assessment is that he was not at ease with the subject when we were talking about it. That also did not surprise me. He declared to us that he was an agnostic, that if there was some evidence there he would be glad to look at it. But at this point he has no knowledge of such evidence.

→* what about CRS Report, 1983, re "UFOs", by Marcia Smith;

R. I think that Bruce made a good case that there was more than sufficient reason for the government to conduct some kind of investigation. I really don't know whether he read it to that degree or not, but I thought that Bruce did a pretty good job of it.

S. Was the timing a coincidence, or was it our moving about that caused you to prepare a briefing for Gibbons?

R. No, Gibbons tasked us to do this.

S. Then it was in anticipation of the visit by Laurance.

MJ-12 + "Roswell" are bogus elements, floated by Jones, et al + funded by Rockefeller Haws-Ada + Bigelow

R. Yes, it was. He said that he had gotten a one page input from Laurance indicating what the subject was going to be, and that he didn't have any background on it, claimed that he never heard of the MJ-12, or things like that, and so he contacted our representative over there and asked whether we could provide some support.

All figure in later "patriot" literature (enclosed sample)

S. That makes sense. I would like to see what Bruce provided. Jack has asked me to give him some additional material, and I told him that I would. I am in the process of putting that together.

R. If you give me a fax number we will send a copy over.

S. I will be glad to share with you what I am going to share with Jack.

R. Okay.

S. Let's keep talking.

Dear Sir:

I contacted your office, but was unable to flesh out my reasons for contacting you over the phone. I hope this letter clarifies things a bit.

My name is Donna Rice-Bassett. I am currently involved in Dr. John Mack's research into "abductions" as a research subject, and treasurer of his non-profit organization, GRAA. I will also be taking over the publication of the newsletter to the "contactees" and putting together a quarterly magazine for this group in the very near future.

Your name has come up in a very odd way in the course of my contact with John. This seems to indicate some interest on your part which John and others in MUFON wish held at arms length due to your very obvious government connections.

A majority of us who have become John's principle subjects have similar government connections, either past or present. This sub-group feels that what is going on here is questionable, especially since our various positions have included contact with secured materials and/or activities.

John is a very nice fellow, but he refuses to see the significance of what is surfacing in some of these hypnotic regressions: i.e., that several of us have been used as tools to cause key figures to act or think in very specific ways.

We have termed this ability "overlay". It seems to be some sort of survival characteristic which causes another person to essentially think he is in the company of a friendly "twin". This situation allows us to extract specific information or to manipulate the individual emotionally by generating feelings that the person cannot keep out, because, in essence, they are his own.

My discussions with persons involved in the Naval DNA testing studies has shown that at least 1% of the American population is genetically similar in ways that communities in other countries who have been inbreeding for centuries cannot duplicate. This is a puzzle.

In 1973, I had a small, metal object taken out of a sinus cavity by a doctor involved with a government research facility. This object was quite an enigma. I allowed genetic testing to be done as a follow up and was told that I "was a study in recessive genetics". This seemed to explain the presence of this object to some degree, although the specifics were rather vague at the time.

After my discussion with the Navy, I now must conclude that it is entirely possible that this country contains a higher than average percentage of these so-called "contactees". I believe the 1% figure may well be a marker confirming our existence.

That this group has a mind-control capability is becoming increasingly evident as a result of John's research. That he refuses to see the dangers of such a group being put to use by unidentified sources is also evident.

We had hoped that you might be able to offer us some advice on this matter. We have not advised John regarding our attempts to contact you. We trust that you will respect that situation.

Thank you for your time and trouble.

Yours,

Donna Rice-Bassett

BEHAVIOR

THE MAN FROM OUTER SPACE

Harvard psychiatrist John Mack claims that tales of UFO abductions are real. But experts and former patients say his research is shoddy.

By JAMES WILLWERTH BOSTON

THE YOUNG MAN HAD SLOWLY BEcome aware of his enigmatic memories, of otherworldly beings lurking in his life, of "strange coincidences" and time out of joint. What was happening? Who could tell him? Casting about for help, says the boyish Pennsylvania health-care worker, "I saw this article in the newspaper about Dr. Mack. And I thought if you can't trust a Harvard professor, who can you trust?"

John Mack is more than a Harvard professor; he is a respected author (his book on T.E. Lawrence, A Prince of Our Disorder, won the Pulitzer Prize in 1977), a psychiatrist who helped found the clinical psychiatry department at Cambridge Hospital and a noted scientific advocate of environmental and antiwar causes. Under Mack's hypnotic guidance, the young man "remembered" being abducted repeatedly by aliens, taken to a spaceship and having a probe inserted in his anus. He also recalled past lives, including one as a young Indian warrior called Panther-by-the-Creek, who died in battle. Even more astonishing, Mack believed every word.

The story of "Dave Reynolds" is one of 13 recounted by Mack in his new book Abduction (Scribners), the result of his study of scores of "experiencers," people who he believes have come in contact with extraterrestrial visitors. The striking similarity of their memories and Mack's academic reputation have led UFO believers to proclaim Abduction as the most important step yet in scientifically validating abduction experiences. A 1991 Roper poll found that 4 million people have had at least some abduction-related experiences, such as seeing unusual lights or missing time. "Until John came along, there wasn't enough credibility for this subject to support a methodological investigation," says Caroline McLeod, Mack's research chief. "Until now, if you decided to research alien abductions, you risked being pigeonholed as a lunatic."

Psychologists and ethicists do not question Mack's sanity so much as his motives and methodology. They charge that he is misusing the techniques of hypnosis, trying to shape the "memories" of his subjects to suit his vision of an intergalactic future, and very possibly endangering the emotional health of his patients in the process. "If this were just an example of some zany new outer limit of how foolish psychology and psychiatry can be in the wrong hands, we'd look at it, roll our eyes and walk away," says University of California, Berkeley, psychologist Richard Ofshe. "But the use of his techniques in counseling is substantially harming lots of people."

The scientific skepticism is bolstered by some unusual firsthand evidence. One of Mack's "experiencers" has revealed to TIME that she was actually an undercover debunker who worked her way into Mack's confidence and rose high in the ranks of his subjects. She found that Mack's work was riddled with scientific irregularities; it lacked a formal research protocol as well as legally required consent forms that advise research subjects of potential risks. She also discovered that Mack billed the insurance companies of at least some patient-subjects for what he described as therapy sessions.

Mack says he expected the disbelief that has greeted the bizarre tales recounted in his book. "This isn't supposed to be," he explained to TIME. "You aren't supposed to have little guys with big black eyes taking men, women and children against their wills on beams of light through walls and windows into strange craft and have this going on all over the country." But after hearing dozens of such stories, Mack concluded that the abductions were real. Moreover, he discerned a motive behind them: the abductors, it seems, were implanting mind-to-mind messages urging better care of the planet. The aliens' apparent objective was an intergalactic breeding program combined with a brotherly warning of impending doom if the earth doesn't change its warlike and ecologically wasteful ways.

Mack's studies are largely funded by a tax-exempt, nonprofit research organization that he founded in 1983, now called the Center for Psychology and Social Change. With headquarters in Cambridge, Massachusetts, the center was started as an attempt to study the nuclear arms race in psychological terms. After the cold war ended, the organization started raising money for scholars who want to combine psychology with such topics as ecology and ethnic conflicts. Explains the center's executive director, Vivienne Simon: "One of our main goals is to challenge current scientific method, which is to deny all things you cannot reduce to statistics."

Donna Bassett's story seemed to fit right in with that goal. Bassett, 37, then a Boston-based writer and researcher, became interested in Mack's studies after hearing complaints that he was "strip mining" the stories of emotionally distraught people and failing to help them with follow-up therapy. After reading stacks of books and articles on UFO abductions, Bassett made up an elaborate story of otherworldly encounters involving her family, going back to the 11th century. Her great-grandmother, she said, saw "little people," whom she called angels from God. Bassett herself saw "balls of light" around her house at age five. She also said that as a child she had a space-alien friend named Jane, who healed her hands after a neighbor stuck them in boiling fudge to punish her for snooping.

Bassett participated in three hypnotic-regression sessions (she says she used method-acting techniques to fake her way through them) and eventually served as treasurer of an abductee support group that Mack organized and ran. "I've never seen a UFO in my life," Bassett says, "and I certainly haven't been inside one."

Bassett, who made extensive tapes and notes of her life in the UFO cult, says Mack provided her with UFO literature to read prior to her sessions—a practice that medical hypnotists say will almost surely influence hypnotic revelations. During the sessions, which Mack held in a darkened bedroom in his house rather than in a neutral office, he asked leading questions that reflected his biases. "John made it obvious what he wanted to hear," says Bassett. "I provided the answers." Among other recollections, she told of an encounter with John F. Kennedy and Nikita Khrushchev on board a spaceship during the Cuban missile crisis. Bassett said Khrushchev was crying and that "I sat in his lap, and I put my arms around his neck, and I told him it would be O.K." Hearing her tale, Mack became so excited that he leaned on the bed too heavily, and it collapsed.

THE INTERLOPER: Bassett posed as an abductee, fooling Mack

Later, at a support-group session, Bassett confronted Mack about mixing research and therapy. According to Bassett, Mack billed insurance companies for some support-group sessions, claiming they were "therapeutic" rather than "research." Yet some members of the support group complained about the lack of therapy following their traumatic hypnosis sessions. "That I can't do everything that each person needs does not mean that what I'm doing is not therapeutic," Mack said. "There are too many of you, and I'm also doing research."

Bassett's account is supported by others who had close encounters with Mack. "He had a hidden agenda," says Dave Duclos, who left the experiment when he became disenchanted. "He was against anybody who said anything negative about the aliens. Once he said to me, 'If you think the aliens are bad, Mr. Duclos, keep thinking about it until you realize they are good.' "

But what of the surprising consistency of the stories Mack elicited? "Dr. Mack is ignoring the high level of suggestion and imagery that surrounds the way in which he deals with these people," says Fred Frankel, 70, a Harvard Medical School professor and psychiatrist in chief at Boston's Beth Israel hospital. "Hypnosis helps you regain memories that you would not have otherwise recalled . . . But some will be true, and some will be false. The expectation of the hypnotist and the expectation of the person who is going to be hypnotized can influence the result."

To many experts, the abduction scenarios bear a striking resemblance to stories of satanic rituals and child abuse—stories that can be shaped by all sorts of outside influences, from movies and TV shows to the suggestive questioning of a therapist. Says Ofshe, who is an expert in hypnosis: "If you convince someone they've been brutalized and raped, and you encourage them to fully experience the emotions appropriate for this event—and the event never happened—you've led them through an experience of pain that is utterly gratuitous."

Confronted by TIME with the news that Bassett had faked her abduction experience, Mack declined to discuss her case, though he hinted that he had doubts about her reliability. (Hers is not among the 13 case histories recounted in his book, but tapes of her sessions leave little doubt that Mack took her seriously.) In general, he insists, there is no evidence that the core memories he elicited are distorted. "When [the subjects] talk about this—and other people in the room with me have witnessed this, including several psychiatrists—the experience is that of a person who has been through something deeply disturbing." While acknowledging that he is not "an expert on hypnosis," Mack scoffs at the debunkers. "The attacks on hypnosis didn't begin until it began to reveal information that the culture didn't want to hear."

Mack's view of the UFO phenomenon reflects a larger philosophical stance that rejects "rational" scientific explanations and embraces a hazier New Age reality. "I don't know why there's such a zeal to find a conventional physical explanation," he says. "I don't know why people have such trouble simply accepting the fact that something unusual is going on here . . . We have lost the faculties to know other realities that other cultures still can know. The world no longer has spirit, has soul, is sacred. We've lost all that ability to know a world beyond the physical . . . I am a bridge between those two worlds." ■

Dear Dr. Jones:

Thank you for kind recent invitation to attend the mid-September meeting in Grand Teton. Unfortunately, you've given me insufficient notice; I'm already committed for those dates.

My own view, briefly, is that of course all government files bearing on UFOs should be opened. But it's important to bear in mind that data having nothing whatever to do with extraterrestrial intelligence is likely to have been classified in the UFO context. As discussed in a book I'm just completing, this is true for ballistic missile re-entry tests, spoofing by high-performance foreign aircraft, etc. The UFO classification question is part of a much larger issue of absurd excess in classification throughout the government. Have you considered contacting Mr. Steven Aftergood, Secrecy in Government Project, Federation of American Scientists, 307 Massachusetts Avenue, N.E., Washington, D.C. 20002, (607) 546-3300?

With best wishes on the success of your meeting, under the operational authority of the Air Force Intelligence Command centered at Kelly Air Force Base in Texas.

Cordially,

The obscure history of this unit goes back to at least the early 1950s (perhaps even the late 1940s) when it was known as the 1006th Air Intelligence Service Squadron. In July 1959, the 1006th became the 1127th Field Activities Group, which in turn became the 7602nd Air Intelligence Group in the late 1970s, the 7602nd Special Activities Squadron in the early '80s, and, finally, the present AFSAC about 1983. One probable reason for this periodic reshuffling of names and numbers is to obscure the unit's operations as much as possible.

There is no question that this group has been connected with the clandestine collection of UFO-related information from its earliest inception, and that it often made use of three-man teams in its operations. Indeed, two documents recently released under the Freedom of Information Act provide evidence of this. The first of these, AFCIN Policy Letter 205-13, dated 12 April 1960, clearly states that the 1127th "participates in Project Unidentified Flying Objects (UFO) in accordance with...AFCIN-P1 Policy Letter 205-10, dated 19 January 1960." The second, taken from page 20 of the heavily censored History of the 1127th Field Activities Group for 1 January 1960 through 30 June 1960, states that "ten three-man teams (five airborne and five ground) are maintained on an alert roster...in [the 1127th's] Project 'Moon Dust' [recovery of space vehicles]."

In addition, a curious mid-1960 USAF/OSI (Office of Special Investigations) memorandum on the subject of "Donald E. Keyhoe/Mercury Enterprises, Inc." states unequivocally that "files relating to the UFO are maintained in principally two places: at A[ir] T[echnical] I[ntelligence] C[enter] Headquarters at Wright-Patterson AFB [Ohio], and at the 1127th Field Activity Group at Fort Belvior, VA." AFOSI is an organization whose operations have always been closely allied with those of the 1127th/AFSAC, and it is not uncommon for OSI personnel to be assigned to special duty within that unit.

Even more important, according to J.R. Richelson's The U.S. Intelligence Community (Cambridge: Ballinger, 1985), "the Air Force Special Activities Center at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, provides centralized management of all Air Force activities involved in the collection of information from human sources. These activities include clandestine collection as well as the debriefing of defectors. The Center was previously known as the 7612th [sic] Air Intelligence group, and prior to that, the 1127th Field Activities Group. The 1127th was described as 'an oddball unit, a composite of special intelligence groups.... The men of the 1127th were con artists. Their job was to get people to talk....' "

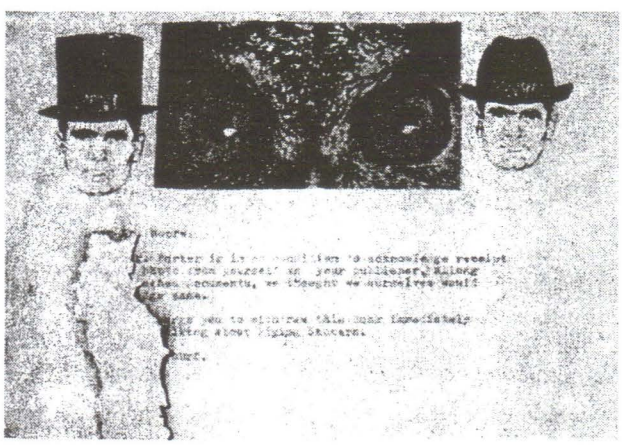

The description is an apt one indeed, for con artists they were, and still are. Accomplished safe-crackers, cat burglars, lock-pickers, fast-talkers, disguise artists, impersonators, assorted masters of deception, eccentric geniuses and useful flakes of all types were recruited from all over the country—even from prisons when necessary—in order to staff this unit. Military organization, discipline and paperwork were of secondary importance. The emphasis was always first and foremost upon obtaining information, and those involved were experts at it. They had to be, for they were often assigned to the most dangerous of America's covert intelligence operations.

Since deception was an integral part of their operational strategy, ruses like the Men In Black gambits were right up their alley. While it seems unlikely that we shall ever know whose idea it was to adopt the Men In Black game for the purpose of obtaining UFO information, it was almost certainly Gray Barker's early-'50s hype that inspired it. All the 1127th had to do was appropriate the concept and use it for their own purposes. The sensationalistic paranoia of the UFO community and the accompanying incredulity of more responsible individuals would provide all the cover they needed. No one but the lunatic fringe would ever believe such stories were true, and the 1127th knew that the fringies had little credibility outside of their own small circles. It was the perfect deception, and the number of horse laughs these fellows must have enjoyed about it over the years is anyone's guess. ❍

Second, accuracy—a factor crucial to dealing credibly with incredible topics. We site specifically Jimmy Ward's "The Mystery of Human Spontaneous Combustion" (Summer 1993). We offer several corrections:

1) The oldest spontaneous human combustion (SHC) victim was probably age 114, not 144. (Living almost one and a half centuries would be as remarkable today as is SHC vigorously denied by conventionalism.)

2) The Whitley Bay episode of human incineration amid unburned fabric occurred in northeast England, not Wisconsin.

3) Ward's "strangest" triple finger-of-fire SHC in 1938 lacks supporting historical evidence and seems to be an oft-retold but fanciful hoax.

4) Mary Reeser—alias "The Cinder Woman"—burned up during the night of July 1, 1951, not 1961. Nor did the FBI declare the case "impossible!" (though well they might have liked to). Officially, a dropped cigarette was blamed. Curiously, this case of the cigarette-consumed cadaver has never been officially closed!

5) The fire of SHC is not always "blue in color"—a silver-colored flame engulfed a Canadian man in 1828, and a copper-red fire emanated from Mrs. Pecocke in 1780, for examples.

More information about the SHC phenomenon will gladly be sent to any FAR-OUT! reader who furnishes an SASE; furthermore, we are eager to receive information about SHC and other conundrums of combustion.

* This letter refers to both William Moore's "UFOs and the Disinformation Game" and Michael D.'s "Groom Lake Revisited" from FAR-OUT! Winter '92.

In the case of both the fighter and the bomber versions of Stealth, information began to "leak out" some years before their official public debut. This pattern is being repeated in the case of the new spy plane (the Aurora), [which has been] featured in the Wall Street Journal and Popular Science.

The point is, this pattern fits some of the sightings made at Area 51. While it's fast, different-looking and unusual, it does not fit the patterns of all strange craft seen there and at other military installations. More importantly, it doesn't fit the characteristics of UFOs seen over many years! At best, it can explain only some sightings. *

I have been a follower of FAR-OUT! since issue number one. I'm especially pleased that your magazine focuses on other topics besides the UFO phenomenon. I find your stories dealing with various historic legends most appealing.

Concerning editor-at-large Jim Schmaltz's "Cropping an Attitude": He stated that crop circles lacked historical precedence. I would suggest he looks into a book titled, A Dictionary of Superstitions, edited by Iona Opie and Moira Tatem. On page 146, under "Fairy Rings," W. Ramesey is quoted saying, in 1668, "Many witches were carried away by the Devil to banquets and meetings whence perhaps those green circles and rings that frequently found in plains, may by their sports and dances be occasioned." This is followed by a 1777 account by Brand: "Fairies.... They dance in the moonlight...hand in hand, and so make a circle in their dance, so next day there will be seen rings and circles on the grass."

Other accounts follow, but I think it is obvious they're not talking about a circle of mushrooms.

UFOS COUNTDOWN TO THE "GRAND DECEPTION" OF 1995

The author maintains that a sinister force will manipulate a secret de-facto world government in 1995, staging a fake extraterrestrial landing to bring about a New World Order, an ominous totalitarian system long prophesied.

Mr. Norio Hayakawa is the Regional Director of Civilian Intelligence Network, and has been instrumental in leading many expeditions to the perimeters of Area 51 in Nevada, to acquire information regarding the military's secret program there, as well as several covert operations facilities in California. He feels he has a mission to inform the public about the real reasons for the worldwide UFO cover-up and about a sinister plot he describes as the "Grand Deception of 1995" which he describes thusly.

"From what has been shown me, I believe that there is a conditioning process now taking place that will be the basis for an incredible series of events to take place some time in the Fall of 1995.

"The big question on my mind is - what about all the drastic changes taking place - whether in world politics, economy, science, technology or even religion - are they sheer coincidence, or is there some unseen, pre-planned design behind them all? There is no question that the world is headed for some climactic moment or some type of "paradigm shift" as it continues its thrust towards the year 2000.

The Author
Mr. Norio Hayakawa

"I am convinced that UFOs - or at least what the public continues to perceive as UFOs - will play a significant role in bringing about such a "paradigm shift." It is my belief that UFOs are somehow linked to a sinister "occult" force present in the world that is manipulating a de-facto secret world government of a sort, preparing to ingeniously "stage a counterfeit extraterrestrial contact-landing and to simulate an extraterrestrial "threat" of invasion in order to urgently and ultimately bring about a delusive New World Order. The amazing thing is that the real guiding force behind this "staged" event may indeed be what could only be described as highly intelligent, but deceptive, "ultradimensional negative entities" conveniently materializing in disguise as extraterrestrial "aliens."

"Furthermore, I believe this "Grand Deception" will occur concurrently with a rapid series of shocking, incredible events, beginning with a Russian-backed Arab Confederacy's disastrous attempt to invade Israel. The world will be astounded by this sudden, unexpected move, fully backed by a massive nationalistic military force of a restructured Russian Federation (although initially "cornered" into this situation by the increased pressure and dexterous power-play of the rapidly-rising Islamic elements within the Federation). This dramatic invasion and the ensuing catastrophic conflagration in the Middle East will immediately be followed by unprecedented earthquakes worldwide, a worldwide financial crisis and a sudden, mysterious "evacuation" (or "removal," depending upon one's viewpoint) of a segment of the population worldwide, all of which will culminate in an urgent, official declaration of a totalitarian New World Order that will last for seven years upon its inception.

"The shocking series of events will - needless to say - put millions and millions of people worldwide in an absolute stupor for weeks during which time an ingeniously executed, extremely effected "multi-leveled" mind control program will be activated to calm down the stunned populace. The most difficult challenge that will be faced by the leadership in control of the New World Order that will be initiated at that time will be how best to explain away these shocking, unprecedented concurrences of events, particularly the unexplained disappearances of a segment of the population worldwide.

"I believe that at that junction, a dynamic, charismatic leader (who will arise out of the European Community, by then known as the United States of Europe) will appear live in a worldwide television news conference, and will offer a brilliant explanation to sedate the public. I somehow feel that this person is alive today somewhere is Western Europe, possibly around 29 years of age and just waiting to begin his 'mission' officially."

Through special arrangements with Inner Light Publications, Norio Hayakawa's startling revelations are being made public for the first time in a limited edition. Here is striking data on the "Secret War" now going on in the intelligence community between a group centered in the CIA called Aquarius (around a power known as "MJ-12") and a group known as "COM-12" centered around Naval Intelligence. COM-12 is reputedly trying to sustain a rear-guard action to preserve constitutional government and is deliberately leaking information to the former group. This publication contains hitherto unpublished data pertaining to this covert program that will take place - "if all goes as planned" by the year 1995.

Information revealed includes:

- The Secret Program At Area 51.
- The Mind-Control Game - A Future Scenario.
- Covert Operations & The Aerospace Connection.
- COM-12 Versus Wackenhut World Technologies.
- The Coming of The New World Order.

2. What is the real truth about the "OZONE HOLE"? Is it the major threat the news media have made it to be? Why has NASA spent thousands checking the ozone levels? What is the real story behind it?

3. What does NASA's "Project SETI" (Search For Extraterrestrial Intelligence) have to do with IRON MOUNTAIN?

4. How does Project SETI fit into Project Red Light, Area 51 and other clandestine UFO activity?

5. What does IRON MOUNTAIN have to do with the United Nations and it's slow and steady rise to global power with a standing military force? Find out why the IRON MOUNTAIN RECOMMENDATIONS WILL DESTROY AMERICA.

6. Why are foreign UN troops being trained on U.S. soil and what does that mean for the American citizen? IS IT PART OF IRON MOUNTAIN?

7. Who is manning the BLACK HELICOPTERS that have been reported all over America in low level illegal flying maneuvers? 8. Why is America being regionalized and what does IRON MOUNTAIN have to do with address changes of Americans when they have not moved?

9. Was the WACO tragedy a miscalculation or was it a deliberate attempt on the part of the United States Government to implement part of the IRON MOUNTAIN RECOMMENDATIONS? Iron Mountain is deeply involved in the coming Christian persecution in America. What other groups are targeted?

UNITED NATIONS TO BE GIVEN MORE POWER

"Thus he said, THE FOURTH BEAST shall be the FOURTH KINGDOM upon earth, which shall be DIVERSE FROM ALL KINGDOMS, and shall DEVOUR THE WHOLE EARTH, and shall tread it down, and break in in pieces (Daniel 7:23)."

The United Nations is a DIVERSE KINGDOM. It is different than anything ever seen upon planet earth. IT EXISTS TOTALLY BY TREATY POWER. It is not a nation, not a state, not anything at all EXCEPT AN AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE "RICH MEN OF THE EARTH". It is the most powerful NONENTITY to ever exist upon the planet. It is doing exactly what Daniel said it would do. If you do not believe it, read on:

"What stands between us and a system of enforceable WORLD LAW? Simply put, the answer is the archaic system of UNLIMITED NATIONAL SOVEREIGNTY. Now is the time to move civilization forward. The ENVIRONMENT and the WORLD'S CHILDREN can best be protected from war and injustice through a DEMOCRATIC GLOBAL FEDERATION. As Federalists, we know that the MOST PROMISING PATH IS THROUGH EMPOWERMENT OF THE U.N......The FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY of the U.N. RUMORS IN THE LAND - THE MJTF POLICE FORCE

"...AND VIOLENCE IN THE LAND, RULER AGAINST RULER (Jeremiah 51:46)."

Insofar as we can tell, the MJTF Police is the first tier in a NEW FEDERAL/UN POLICE KEEPING FORCE. The "Multi-jurisdictional Task Force Police" is first of all a consolidation of Federal Agencies into one MULTI-JURISDICTIONAL TASK FORCE. They would have UNDER THE UNITED NATIONS/USA CRIME CONTROL ACT OF 1993, jurisdiction in any area of the nation. They would then usurp the powers of Sheriff, local Constable, or local/city police, or even state police. It appears to be the beginning of an elite SS UN POLICE FORCE. According to sources, the MJTF Police works in conjunction with FINCEN, which is a global ECONOMIC POLICE AGENCY which has access to multiple files on all civilians, probably using INSLAW COMPUTER PROGRAMS. FINCEN HAS TROOPS FOR ENFORCEMENT according to inside sources. These forces operate under both Federal and UN directives, and are comprised of foreign military and secret police that are operating and training in the United States. "Mark" claims that FINCEN ENFORCEMENT PERSONNEL run over 300,000 in the United States. FINCEN may be identified by their BLACK UNMARKED UNIFORMS AND MILITARY EQUIPMENT INCLUDING HELICOPTERS. NONE OF THIS HAS BEEN CONFIRMED BY CIS.

Some FINCEN troops can be identified by a FINCEN on both shoulders, and a UN FLAG CREST OVER THE word FINCEN. It is said that FINCEN is responsible for the black helicopter traffic all over the United States, and we have seen some of them in a neighbor's field conducting illegal maneuvers, but do not know if they were FINCEN or DEA. THE FINCEN CONNECTION HOWEVER HAS BEEN EITHER DENIED OR OMITTED BY THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT. We have a letter in our possession from the U.S. Department of Transportation, FAA which says only "Black paint schemes are used on helicopters by the Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA) and U.S. Army Special Operations...." Could FINCEN be under U.S. Army Special Operations?

"And lest your heart faint, and ye fear for the rumour that shall be heard in the land; a rumor shall both come one year, and after that in another year shall come a rumor, AND VIOLENCE IN THE LAND, RULER AGAINST RULER (Jeremiah 51:46)."

One of the more noble attempts to stop the New World Order dead in its tracks comes from POLICE AGAINST THE NEW WORLD ORDER. They have a booklet out called OPERATION VAMPIRE KILLER 2000 and it is really informative and we urge Christians to get a copy. You can obtain one from Police Against the New World Order, P.O. Box 8712, Phoenix, AR 85066. It is a commendable operation in which Jack McLamb and others are attempting to alert Police departments all across America, as well as National Guardsmen, of the REAL AGENDA OF THE NEW WORLD ORDER. It will help the Christian witness to clergy and skeptics that THE NEW WORLD ORDER IS REAL. Send $6.00 for ONE COPY, 2-4 COPIES are $4.00 each, and 5-10 copies are $3.00 each.

What THE POLICE AGAINST THE NEW WORLD ORDER does not realize it that this is a fulfillment of the prophecies in Jeremiah against Babylon America. The rumor that goes throughout the land IS THE RUMOR OF A UN TAKE-OVER OF AMERICA. Included in these rumors will be CONCENTRATION CAMPS, GUILLOTINES, AND UN TROOP MOVEMENTS ON U.S. SOIL. THIS IS NOT TO SAY THEY ARE NOT FACTUAL, OR DO NOT HAVE SUBSTANTIATION. A rumor is just UNSUBSTANTIATED. It does not mean there are not proofs, but the proofs are not presented in a rumor. These and a host of other rumors PRECEDE WHAT APPEARS TO BE A REVOLUTION IN AMERICA. It is a breakdown of the infrastructure of Government. The police are RULERS, for the word means AUTHORITIES. There is going to be a MASSIVE DEFECTION IN THE RANKS OF THE "AUTHORITIES", as the U.N. AGENDA FOR AMERICANS becomes known for what it is. OPERATION VAMPIRE KILLER is an example of FIGHTING BACK BY LAWFUL MEANS, which we ARE ALL TO DO!

Further proof that there is trouble in the wind for America comes from a transcript we received by FAX from someone who got it from Radio Free America with Don Valentine. It verifies Jeremiah's prophecy. THERE WILL BE VIOLENCE IN THE LAND, RULER AGAINST RULER. The information comes from a man named "Mark", who lives in Michigan. He claims to have worked in Army Intelligence. We cannot verify any of it, so therefore, it is a RUMOR. However, some of what he says CIS CAN VERIFY by other sources.

"Originally on 11 February, 1989, representative of the Department of Defense, Senator Conalin(sp) of Michigan, the State Adjutant General of Michigan, the State Adjutant General of Ohio, and the State Adjutant General of Indiana met in a joint conference which took place in Lansing, Michigan. On that particular date, the discussion was, and this was brought to the attention through the Justice Department in conjunction with the ATF representative. WHEN, not IF, WHEN the Federal Government confiscates firearms in the United States , will the Michigan Guard, will the Ohio Guard, will the Indiana Guard provide the forces for confiscation of properties and weapons?

On 6:35 in the evening, a verbal and apparently a paper contractual agreement was made up, in which the Michigan Guard would provide resources, 50% of its ground personnel, and probable air assets, to be used AGAINST OHIO AND INDIANA, and a comparable group from both Indiana and Ohio would be deployed against the state of Michigan for use in the same effort under the MJTF Police clauses. This agreement, apparently three months later, Indiana had second thoughts, and during this time frame, attempted to back out of the agreement. When they were not able to, or when they attempted to, there was a great deal of infighting and bickering, funding was withdrawn from the Indiana Guard, and they lost a percentage of their available resources to maintain their existing guard units. This was a punishment. The Ohio Guard had a large rift, and also personnel who were running from the unit once they were able to find out what was going on.

This was passed around in circles around the Guard associations. As far as we know, and this was recorded, at least a percentage of this was recorded, we also know from inside sources, that this arrangement is still intact, and has been modified because it was decided after a series of test actions that the entire Guard was not considered RELIABLE ENOUGH TO PERFORM THESE POLICING ACTIONS AGAINST THE AMERICAN PEOPLE. That is why they continued to RESTRUCTURE THE MJTF POLICE TO INCORPORATE AUXILIARIES OR ANCILLARY UNITS SUCH AS STREET GANGS TO COMPLIMENT THE FORCE THAT THEY WOULD LOOSE, and with GUARD PERSONNEL THAT WOULD REFUSE TO COOPERATE..."

These guys are not supportive of the typical "Evangelicals". These guys want counter-Revolution.

UN "DECLARATION ON THE ELIMINATION OF ALL FORMS OF INTOLERANCE AND DISCRIMINATION BASED UPON RELIGIOUS BELIEFS"

"AND I WILL PUNISH BEL IN BABYLON, AND I WILL BRING FORTH OUT OF HIS MOUTH THAT WHICH HE HATH SWALLOWED UP: AND THE NATIONS SHALL NOT FLOW TOGETHER ANY MORE UNTO HIM (VIA THE UN): YEA, THE WALL OF BABYLON SHALL FALL (Jeremiah 51:44)."

This bit of UN antichrist "change of law" operation opens the door to the elimination of Christianity, for Christ said HE WAS THE WAY, THE TRUTH AND THE LIFE. He rejected ALL OTHER forms of religious belief structures, and called them all liars! This declaration states: "Freedom to manifest one's religious beliefs MAY BE SUBJECT TO SUCH LIMITATIONS AS ARE PRESCRIBED BY LAW and are necessary to PROTECT PUBLIC SAFETY, ORDER, HEALTH OR MORALS OR FUNDAMENTAL RIGHTS AND FREEDOMS OF OTHERS." This of course totally violates the Constitution! The First Amendment is quite simple and easy to read. Congressmen and Senators bent upon Globalism ought to read the Constitution that they swore and oath to UPHOLD AND PROTECT. There can be NO LAWS "respecting the ESTABLISHMENT OF RELIGION OR PREVENTING THE FREE EXERCISE THEREOF." This treaty trash is a clear and bold move on the part of the Globalists to enslave every man, woman and child upon planet earth.

THE RISE OF THE "CULT" POLICE!

There is a dangerous movement in America that is gaining tremendous power within the halls of the U.S. Government. They are called CULT AWARENESS organizations that pretend to be "experts" in religion, and these so called "experts" then advise Government agencies who they think is a CULT. The people in power within these organizations have no credentials to make them experts in anything except self-aggrandizement. The fact that the WACO tragedy involved one of these groups should cause every American, religious or not, to give pause. These groups have elevated themselves to be the FINAL AUTHORITIES on what THE TRUTH OF SCRIPTURE IS, AND IS NOT. This must be so, because how else could they call any group a cult? None would want to be any of them when they stand before Jesus Christ!

The use of such groups will be of major help to the MJTF Police, for it gives them a rationale for attack and murder of any group that the CULT POLICE determine warrants this treatment. It lays the foundation for TOTAL RELIGIOUS THOUGHT CONTROL BY GOVERNMENT. There will be more so called "watchdogs" in the near future, THE CULT POLICE ARE IN REALITY "THOUGHT POLICE", and you will have to THINK RIGHT, ACT RIGHT, AND BE RIGHT in the eyes of BIG BROTHER, or you will simply be eliminated. What is sad is that these poor fools are participating in their own, and their families destruction, not only here, but in eternity. How stupid can people get? Can they not see beyond the end of their nose?

Establishing a commission to study the creation of a standing international military force under the United Nations Charter.

Whereas the end of the Cold War allows the United States to share the burden of maintaining collective security;

Whereas the role of the United Nations has accordingly expanded in recent years;

Whereas under Article 43 of the United Nations Charter, the Secretary General is authorized to negotiate agreements for the creation of a multinational standing military force, to be used for peacekeeping and peace enforcement;

SCIENTISTS WARN THAT A NEW AGE OF DISEASES LOOMS

"FOR NATION SHALL RISE AGAINST NATION, AND KINGDOM AGAINST KINGDOM: AND THERE SHALL BE FAMINES, AND PESTILENCES, AND EARTHQUAKES, IN DIVERS PLACES (Matthew 24:7)."

Jesus long ago predicted that PESTILENCES would sweep the world just before the end. According to an article by Mike Woods of the Toledo Blade, that is exactly what is happening. Mike says, "For the first time in 50 years, infectious diseases are moving back in the forefront of public health concerns. Reports of new or resurging infections seem to tumble one upon another, telling of: * The deadly new form of "strep" bacteria that killed renown puppeteer Jim Henson in 1990. * The resurgence of tuberculosis, a forgotten scourge straight out of the pages of medical history, and the emergence of new TB microbes invulnerable to existing drugs. * Epidemic cholera rampaging in Latin America: drug resistant malaria in Africa, Asia and South America. * The extraordinarily toxic form of E. coli bacteria that infected fast-food hamburgers in the Northwest in early 1993, killing three young children and sickening hundreds of other people."

Jesus warned that any nation that forgets God is turned into hell. These new deadly pestilences will not be conquered by modern drugs, and will sweep through America as she goes down under judgment. Deuteronomy 28 gives you a list of the blessings and the curses upon ANY NATION that either FOLLOWS AFTER (BLESSINGS) OR GOES INTO REBELLION (CURSES) AGAINST GOD. Read the list, America has all the curses. BABYLON AMERICA is under judgment.

Woods continues, "We acted as though we had won the war on infectious diseases," says Dr. Joshua Lederberg, noted bacteriologist and Nobel laureate at Rockerfeller University in New York who co-chaired a NATIONAL ACADEMY OF SCIENCES study of emerging infections. The study identified more than 50 "EMERGING" INFECTIOUS AGENTS - bacteria, viruses, parasitic worms and fungi that have caused an increased number of infections in humans during the last 20 years....Lederberg says HIV and acquired immune deficiency syndrome (AIDS) forced scientists to take a new look at microbial threats to human health." According to the Woods article, the study done by the National Academy of Sciences, an organization of top scientists, SAYS THE THREAT IS REAL!

Global Technology International, Inc. is doing a good job of working the issues. They have allowed both government and scientific access to the "Psycholocorrection Technology" of Drs. Smirnov and Kvasovets.

The present understanding of this technology might be compared to the development of mind altering drugs without the parallel understanding of the full nature of these drugs. The comercialization of the technology will be shaped by the constitutional right of privacy - but how will this privacy right stand when the federal government thinks there is a public interest in knowing what is in my mind? Will addictive elements be introduced into commercialized products, thus obtaining individual permission for potentially harmful experiences? These questions highlights the obligation of scientific community to demand definitive research on the full spectrum of themes involved in Russian psychology technology. Many of the individual involved in making decisions have no clue about the scientific issues involved.

Over the long term, the constitutional right of privacy should be enough to govern unethical use of the technology. This will involve some development of the law and judicial review, but this is not very different than what occurs with the continuing development of modern medicine.

I have been proposing the lab based investigation of the physical mechanisms involved and the use of machine based translation and thematic analysis to develop a data base of the literature. I have these resources available, but others may have the correct clearances and contacts. I think that I now understand some of about all of the themes involved Georgetown Medical labs are too conservative to be involved in any way. One possibility is the Radford lab, another is the lab in Arizona. I recommend that the government not enfold this technology without having the scientific community develop a peer review of a well designed clinical study - perhaps at two or three separate labs.

The development of recognition technology and countermeasures may be easier than one has the right to expect - but I may be wrong. The countermeasures should be developmentable easily by a small team working parallel to a clinical trial. I would be able to make detailed suggestions - as would many others.

09:47:27 GMT-0400

Hypothesis::
The signal "program" (conveying recognizable and personally significant words) is reduced to a minimal acoustic signal (capable of pattern completion by the associational cortex without the involvement of higher cognitive function- much like the retina is able to provide pattern completion without higher cognitive functions.) This minimal acoustic signal is then masked with a random noise generator, resulting in at least part of the broadcast package . The acoustic signal is separated by the pattern recognition and completion dynamics in the temporal lobes and then finds it's way to the limbic system where it is treated as fully accommodated information. I do not see microtubulin involvement being indicated in any unusual way.

I could not arrange a one on one conversation on Friday that could verify this hypothesis.

There are other themes involved: such as semantic clustering, and trauma inducing experiments. The semantic clustering is simple un-biased clustering of semantic linkages in words - thus resulting on non-(mainstream) western diagnostic observables. I happen to think that this method may produce a revision of psychological taxonomies and is widely available in the west. The trauma inducing experiments is part of the historical background of this research - and I do not make any judgement about this.

SPECIAL OPERATIONS ▪ LOW INTENSITY CONFLICT ▪ WAR ON DRUGS

February 3, 1993
Washington, D.C.
Vol. 3, No. 3

Dear Executive:

In this issue we take a close look at non-lethal weapons and the progress that has been made both in this country and Russia (pp. 1-4). Of note, is a recently revealed Russian technology that can be used for mind control (p. 2). Next we look at the search for an Advanced SEAL Delivery System as three contractors are selected for a design-off (p. 5). We also take a first look at a new special operations rescue vehicle (p. 6).

NON-LETHAL WEAPONS OFFER NEW SO/LIC CAPABILITIES

Prior to Desert Storm, when the Iraqis held 1,000 U.S. citizens captive, one option explored for their rescue involved air-dropping infrasound transmitters to disable and disorient the guards.

Infrasound transmitters could have been dropped in the area, causing the Iraqi guards and their prisoners to become extremely sick while special operations troops performed the rescue. Infrasound, or very low frequency transmitters cause disorientation, nausea, vomiting and/or bowel spasms. It would have created a form of seasickness on the ground. A major drawback of the plan was that the hostages would have been equally effected by the transmissions, requiring about 3,000 special operations forces to rescue the 1,000 hostages. Fortunately the Iraqis released the hostages and neither this nor any other rescue plan was required.

NEW AIR FORCE SPECIAL OPERATIONS RESCUE VEHICLE, pp. 6-8

Although the use of infrasound in this situation was not feasible, it and many other non-lethal technologies offer a wide variety of options for both military and law enforcement applications says Janet Morris, research director at the U.S. Global Strategy Council, a Washington, D.C.-based think-tank founded by Ray Cline, a former deputy director of the CIA. Morris is one of the strongest proponents for the establishment of an office of non-lethality in the Clinton administration.

The U.S. has entered a new age of accountability. Both the military and law enforcement are held accountable for their actions. Fratricide, killing of civilian bystanders, destruction of civilian property are all liability issues that authorities are facing. Many police departments have suspended high-speed car chases for fear of innocent bystanders being hurt and the resulting law suits. Imagine police armed with an electronic gun that could disable the electronic ignition of a car, say proponents of non-lethal weapons.

"Think of a policeman rounding a corner to be confronted by a boy with an Uzi pointing at the officer. The officer can't tell if it's a real Uzi or a toy gun. Presently the officer has a limited number of choices. What if he had a non-lethal device that he could use to disable the boy, without permanent damage, and find out afterwards if the Uzi is real or not," Morris said during a telephone interview with Tactical Technology.

Offering police an effective weapon that will disable without causing permanent damage will give officers greater flexibility. U.S. troops in Somalia face similar dilemmas. With the number of low-intensity conflicts (LIC) around the world increasing on a daily basis, the U.S. will likely find itself involved. Although no office of non-lethality exists today, the U.S. military and other agencies have launched research into this area. (See p. 4 for information on Low Collateral Damage Munitions (LCDM) programs at Picatinny Arsenal, N.J.).

If the Clinton administration creates an office of non-lethality, Morris envisions it as being responsible for developing:

- a non-lethality policy statement,
- a non-lethality National Security Decision, and
- a non-lethal strategic doctrine.

In addition, Morris envisions the office helping to define terms and set policies for U.S. involvement in peacemaking, peacekeeping, and support to humanitarian actions below the threshold of war. During the interview, Morris said there is growing pressure on the President to create such an office.

An exciting aspect of non-lethality is that many of the needed technologies either already exist or are being developed. However, many of the technologies require additional work in making them deployable in a tactical situation.

The U.S. is not the only country interested in non-lethal weaponry. According to Morris, the military attache at the Russian Embassy has contacted her organization about the possibility of converting Russian military hardware to a non-lethal capability. She also said France is exploring the use of infrasound for crowd control. The closer you are to the infrasound transmitter, the worse you feel. By placing infrasound transmitters in front of a rioting crowd, the crowd will self-disperse.

...Russians Use Infrasound Techniques for Mind Control

Morris says that the ability to control minds and probe psyches exists in the basement of a mental hospital in Moscow.

Non-lethal Technologies

Infrasound: Very low frequency sound generators can be tuned to incapacitate humans, causing disorientation, nausea, vomiting, or bowel movements. By adjusting the signal, infrasound can also be used to crumble masonry.

Laser Weapons: Low-energy laser rifles with power packs can flash-blind people and disable optical and infrared systems used for target acquisition, tracking, night vision and range-finding.

Isotropic Radiators: Modified conventional weapons can fire omnidirectional laser-bright rounds what will dazzle people or optics.

Non-Nuclear Electromagnetic Pulse (EMP): Developmental beam generators producing one gigawatt of power could be used to explode ammunition dumps within line of sight or paralyze unprotected in-use electronic systems, including systems with antennas or systems connected to batteries. Vulnerable systems include all engines with electronic ignition systems, gasoline pumps, radars, communications, navigation, and unshielded electronic triggers of explosive and nuclear devices.

High Power Microwave (HPM): A national program exists for the development of HPM systems designed to disrupt electronics. HPM pulses can either be fired repetitively or HPM bombs can be made to disable electronic devices.

Liquid Metal Embrittlement (LME): LME agents work by changing the molecular structure of base metals or alloys to which it is applied. LMEs are clear and have little or no perceptible residue, whether sprayed on or applied with felt-type markers. Used selectively on critical metal structures--aircraft, ships, trucks, elevators, metal treads, bridge supports--LMEs can cause a significant disruption and psychological distress.

Light Detection and Ranging (LIDAR): LIDAR can be used for plum identification and sensor blinding. LIDAR systems could be used to identify the plume of covert drug manufacture.

Supercaustics: Based on superacid technology, supercaustics can be millions of times more caustic than hydrofluoric acid. A round that delivers jellied superacids could destroy optical systems, glass blocks, or vision blocks.

Calmative Agents: Calmatives, or sleep agents, mixed with DMSO (quickly delivers chemicals through the skin into the bloodstream) could be used in riot control, counterinsurgency, or even in selected hostage situations.

Anti-Traction Technology: Anti-traction lubricants delivered by aircraft or human agents can render railroads, ramps, runways and stairs ineffective for limited periods of time.

Polymer Agents: Polymers in burst munitions could foul air-breathing engines. Polymer adhesives can also effectively glues equipment in place or keep it from operating.

Combustion Alteration: Internal combustion engines can be disrupted through special munitions. These munitions would temporarily contaminate fuel or change its viscosity to degrade engine performance.

Source: Janet Morris, U.S. Global Strategy Council

While visiting Russia in November 1991, Morris and other members of a team sent to investigate Russian technologies for commercial development were invited to a demonstration of a mind control technology. A volunteer from the U.S. team sat down in front of a computer screen as innocuous words flashed across the screen. The volunteer was only required to tell which words he liked and which words he disliked. At the end of the demonstration the Russian staff started revealing the sensitive, innermost thoughts of the volunteer--none of which had been previously discussed.

A microphone was presented to Morris and she was told to speak into it. She declined. A Russian took the microphone back, grinned and said into the microphone, "Vote for Yeltsin."

The recorded message was mixed with what appeared to be white noise or static, so when played back it became undecipherable. Since there were no more volunteers in the U.S. group, the Russians volunteered to go upstairs and let the Americans choose a mental patient for a demonstration. The Americans declined the offer.

The Russians told Morris of a demonstration in which a group of workers were outside the hospital working on the grounds. The staff sent an acoustic psycho-correction message via their machine to the workers telling them to put down their tools, knock on the door of the hospital and ask if there was anything else they could do. The workers did exactly that, the Russians said.

The Russians admitted to using this technology for special operations team selection and performance enhancement and to aid their Olympic athletes and an Antarctic exploration team. Unlike lie detectors, this machine can determine when the truth is spoken, according to Morris.

Being an infrasound, very low frequency-type transmission, the acoustic psycho-correction message is transmitted via bone conduction. This means that earplugs will not restrict the message. An entire body protection system would be required to stop reception. The message, according to the Russians, bypasses the conscious level and is acted on almost immediately. The Russians say that the messages are acted upon with exposure times of under one minute.

Morris envisions this technology will be miniaturized into a hand-held device. Presently, the International Healthline Corp. of Richmond, Va., is planning to bring a Russian team of specialists to the U.S. in the near future to further demonstrate the capability. International Healthline is a private corporation that is exploring Russian medical technologies for import to the U.S.

Healthline Source: 1a 931 per. J. Morris

"This is just one of hundreds upon hundreds of exceedingly advanced medical technologies that exist today in Russia," said Jim Hovis, International Healthline's CEO. "There are advanced medicines for the treatment of wounds, burns, radiation and a whole host of other medical challenges."

Healthline hopes to screen, obtain and develop Russian medications that fall into the $3 to $5 billion annual sales category market. Hovis sees the acoustic psycho-correction device as having military and civilian medical applications.

"In addition to performance enhancement, this device could also be used as a substitute for present anesthetics," Hovis said.

The device was pioneered by the Russian Department of Psycho-Correction at the Moscow Medical Academy. Although many spin-off applications of this technology are possible, it was originally developed to aid mentally disturbed individuals.

The thought of such a device leads to a plethora of scary possibilities. When should such a device be used? Who should be given access to the device? And what controls will be needed to avoid abuse? How can one detect if one has been the subject of mind control abuse? The Russian official in Morris' story said, "Vote for Yeltsin." One wonders why he picked that suggestion.

ARMY EXPLORING LESS THAN LETHAL TECHNOLOGIES

Challenged by the Defense Department, the Army's Armament Research, Development & Engineering Center (ARDEC) has launched a series of research programs that can effectively render the enemy incapable while minimizing collateral damage.

Through the Low Collateral Damage Munitions (LCDM) Programs, the Army hopes to develop technologies that can disable, dazzle or incapacitate aircraft, missiles, armored vehicles, personnel and other equipment without causing extensive collateral damage. In general, the Army hopes the program payoffs will include:

- Increased tactical flexibility in future conflicts;
- Dramatic performance enhancements beyond those obtainable from conventional bullets and bursting munitions;
- Low collateral damage capability/minimization of loss of life;
- Increased hit/incapacitation probability through line-of-sight projection, eliminating current ballistic trajectory; and

• Improved logistics/soldier load with bullet-less systems.

The LCDM program will explore non-conventional means of incapacitating unarmored/armored materiel and protected/unprotected personnel. ARDEC, located at Picatinny Arsenal, N.J., is managing the program using RDT&E 6.2 funds. Some of the current programs are listed below:

Low Collateral Damage Munitions Programs

Acoustic Beams and Bullets: Through Broad Agency Announcement DAAA21-91-BAA1, Scientific Applications and Research Associates of Huntington Beach, Calif., was contracted to develop a high power infrasonic (very low frequency) acoustic beam weapon and investigate methods of projecting non-diffracting, high frequency, acoustic bullets.

The beam weapon will be a piston or detonation driven pulser which forces compressed air into an array of impedanced matched tubes to generate an infrasonic wavefront. Infrasonic waves have shown a coupling effect in small enclosed volumes which presents an interesting potential offensive capability against bunkers and vehicles.

Acoustic bullets could be given increasing powers (e.g., capable of inflicting a discomfort, incapacitation or lethal effect). The bullet would be emitted from a 1-2 meter antenna dish.

Optical Munitions: The Los Alamos National Laboratory (LANL) is performing exploratory development of optical munitions designed to disrupt enemy sensors. Both isotropic and directed radiator optical munitions have been demonstrated by the New Mexico research facility. The isotropic radiator is a multi-directional broad-band visible light source generated by high explosive shock heating of an inert gas. The directed radiator is a similar unidirectional technology. In FY-92 funds were provided to conduct a design trade-off study and provide a conceptual baseline configuration for an electrically pumped laser module.

High Power Microwave (HPM) Projectiles: An investigative effort through LANL exploring the feasibility of a high power microwave projectile with primary emphasis on determining the optimal microwave generator.

Pulsed Chemical Lasers: In this approach, energy from a pulsed laser will generate a hot, high pressure plasma in the air in front of the target surface, creating a blast wave which will result in variable, but controlled effects on materiel and personnel. Initial tests achieved the low energy levels sought and support continued investigations.

Target Effects Analyses: In support of both the broadband radiator and laser munitions programs, ARDEC has funded the Armstrong Laboratory at Brooks Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, to assess the bio-effects of these devices (i.e., equating levels of bio-effects to mission defeat capability in various combat scenarios).

Chemical Compounds: In conjunction with the Chemical Research, Development and Engineering Center (CRDEC), ARDEC is pursuing programs to evaluate chemical compounds defeat criteria for anti-materiel/anti-transport field applications. It is evaluating no collateral damage vehicular and personnel envelopment techniques. Advanced riot control agents are being evaluated for rapid immobilization, limited duration with no permanent side-effects.

Modular Warheads: Harry Diamond Laboratories are exploring modular warheads that can be used to deliver a family of non-lethal, low collateral damage, or conventional warheads.

ADVANCED SEAL DELIVERY SYSTEM COMPETITION NARROWED

The U.S. Naval Sea Systems Command has awarded three six-month, $4 million contracts for preliminary design of the Advanced Sea-Air-Land (SEAL) Delivery System (ASDS).

Contracts were awarded to Westinghouse's Oceanic Division, Baltimore, Md., Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company, Newport News, Va. and General single contractor for the design, development and production phase. According to sources close to the program, the down selection will occur sometime this summer.

This effort will shape the design of the U.S. Navy SEAL's new dry submersible, which will transport special operation personnel to selected landing areas for vital coastal missions. The current MK-8 SEAL delivery vehicle (SDV) requires SEALS to ride exposed to ocean elements, often resulting in exhaustion by the time the forces arrive in the target area. The ASDS will feature increased speed and range over existing SDVs, and supplement their capabilities.

Under the terms of the contract, each contractor will develop a complete ASDS design which addresses Navy requirements and will produce preliminary design drawings and plans for the subsequent three-year detailed design/manufacturing development phase.

As reported in Tactical Technology (p. 5, Sept. 16, 1992), prior to the letting of this contract there was a congressionally-directed evaluation of two foreign submersibles. Congress requested that two existing Italian and German submersibles be tested against the ASDS requirement.

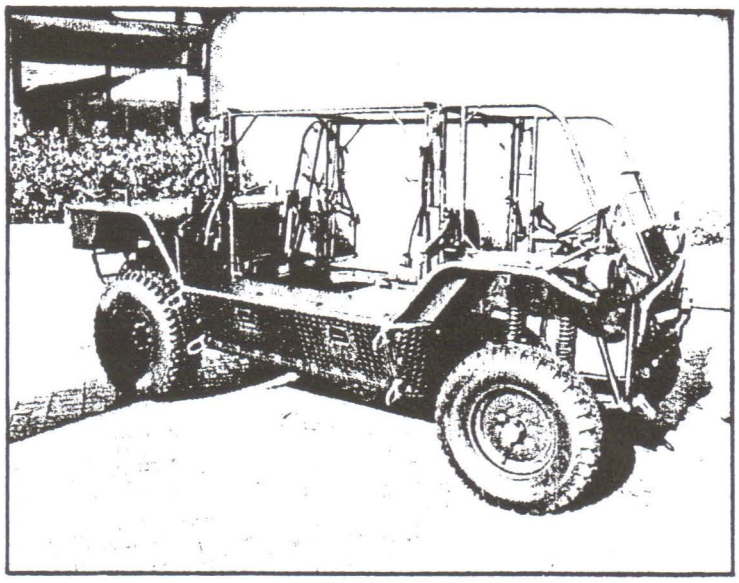

The evaluation, completed last summer, found that both submersibles were not designed as SEAL delivery vehicles and did not meet all of the requirements. In fact, the Italian firm went bankrupt during the testing. According to sources, the German submersible was perceived as not meeting the operational requirements and the redesign to ASDS specifications was perceived as too costly.

NEW USAF SPECIAL OPERATIONS EMERGENCY VEHICLE REVEALED

A completely new special operations emergency medical evacuation vehicle was displayed at last week's American Defense Preparedness Association's (ADPA) Tactical Wheeled Vehicle Conference in Monterey, Calif.

Although not officially included in the conference, the vehicle was displayed and described by the manufacturer, North American RACECO. The vehicle was identified as the R-1 Rescue All-Terrain Transport (RATT). According to David Kreisler, President of North American RACECO, the vehicle systems are being manufactured for the USAF Special Tactics Squadron located at Pope AFB, N.C. Kreisler indicated that the R-1 systems are intended to replace M151 "jeeps" that are being phased out of the inventory.

USAF R-1 Rescue All-Terrain Transport (RATT)

Source: Tactical Technology, Scott Gourley

"This vehicle is designed for a certain group of the Air Force that needed a rescue vehicle to meet air transportable requirements," said Kreisler. "This is just for rescue. They don't have gun mounts on these."

Kreisler said that the Air Force Special Tactics Squadron provided his company with a certain set of performance and mission requirements.

The multiple requirements included high performance off-road capability, drive-on CH-47 helicopter capability, helicopter

To facilitate surprise operations, the R-1 is equipped with a "Master White Light Cut-Off Switch" to allow the driver to immediately extinguish all visible light and proceed with only infrared headlights.

The USAF Special Tactics Squadron issued the original R-1 prototype contract in early 1991 with the prototype vehicle delivered approximately 6 months later. After extensive user testing and several minor design changes, 14 additional systems were contracted in January 1992. North American RACECO indicated that they have delivered 12 of the systems as of late January 1993.

JCS CONTINUES EVALUATING ROLES-MISSIONS

In a reversal of an earlier recommendation that Air Force Combat Search and Rescue (CSAR) assets be transferred to the Army (Tactical Technology, Jan. 20, p. 1), the Joint Chiefs of Staff (JCS) are now recommending each of the services retain responsibility for CSAR operations.

According to a draft copy of a JCS report, "Roles, Missions, Functions of the Armed Forces of the United States," the chiefs are continuing to refine the future of the military in a post cold war environment. A draft copy of Chapter 3 was obtained by sister publication, Defense Daily. Highlights of the new draft include:

- Merge the Continental United States (CONUS)-based forces of Forces Command (FORSCOM), Atlantic Fleet (LANTFLT), Air Combat Command (ACC) and Marine Forces Atlantic (MARFORLANT) into one combatant command. LANTCOM assumes responsibility for training and preparing CONUS-based troops for deployment.
- All Navy EP-3E and Air Force RC-135 signals intelligence (SIGINT) aircraft are fully committed and should be retained. This stops previous efforts to do away with the Navy's EP-3E program.
- The contingency and expeditionary forces of the Army and Marine Corps are complementary, provide decision makers with valuable alternatives, and should be retained. Continue to review the possibility of further reductions in the Army's light infantry forces.
- The Defense Intelligence Agency (DIA) should complete its study of intelligence organizations and production centers and implement those measures that increase responsiveness to operational commanders and reduce costs.

UAV Masterplan May Include Conversion Chapter. The Unmanned Aerial Vehicle (UAV) Joint Project Office is in the process of drafting an updated masterplan that includes a chapter on dual use--or defense conversion--applications, such as anti-drug, law enforcement and bridge inspections, Col. Brad Brown, deputy director at the JPO told sister publication Defense Daily. The forthcoming masterplan, which must receive OSD approval before delivery to Congress, may also include a chapter on commercial applications. A section on hand-launched UAVs may also be added.

The prospect of domination of the nation's scholars by federal employment, project allocations, and the power of money is ever present—and is gravely to be regarded. Yet, in holding scientific research and discovery in respect, as we should, we must also be alert to the equal and opposite danger that public policy could itself become the captive of a scientific-technological elite.

[President Dwight D. Eisenhower, January 17, 1961]

Covert actions are counterproductive and damaging to the national interest of the United States. They are inimical to the operation of an effective national intelligence system, and corruptive of civil liberties, including the functioning of the judiciary and a free press. Most importantly, they contradict the principles of democracy, national self-determination and international law to which the United States is publicly committed.

Whither the KGB?

In February 1974, Georgetown University's Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS) hosted discussions on the plight of dissenters in the Soviet Union, and on the means by which the U.S. Government might most effectively intervene. Highlights of these discussions are reported in Understanding the Solzhenitzyn Affair: Dissent and its Control in the USSR (CSIS, 1974).

KGB strategies were addressed in some detail during these discussions. It was noted that the KGB's success depended on the extensive use of informant networks and agents provocateurs; and, following Brezhnev's rise to power, on the use of drugs and psychiatrists for further purposes of manipulation and control. Shadowing, bugging, slandering, blacklisting and other related tactics were also cited as serving KGB purposes. Participants in the conference agreed that the KGB's obvious intent was to divide and isolate the populace, to spread fear, and to silence dissenters.

Agencies of our own government are on record as having employed precisely these same tactics on a recurrent basis. The Church and Rockefeller Committee Hearings in the mid-1970's purportedly put an end to these practices. Based on recent developments, it would appear that the CIA's and FBI's Operations MKULTRA, MHCHAOS and COINTELPRO (the focus of these Senate Committee and Vice Presidential-level Hearings) were instead merely driven underground. We are now in contact with a total of 25 individuals, scattered throughout the United States, who firmly believe they are being harassed by agencies of the U.S. Government. Others have been brought to our attention whom we will be contacting in the future. The majority of these individuals claim that their harassment and surveillance began in 1989.

The methods reportedly employed in these harassment campaigns bear a striking resemblance to those attributed to the CIA and FBI during Operations MKULTRA, MHCHAOS and COINTELPRO. The only difference now is that electronic harassment and experimentation also appear to be (more blatantly) involved.

The Berlin Wall is down, Communism is in the midst of a death rattle, and the KGB no longer poses the threat which purportedly served to justify the U.S. Government's resort to such operations as MKULTRA, MHCHAOS and COINTELPRO. The KGB, since 1989, has been reduced to an increasingly distant memory.

Reactivation of surveillance/harassment/mind-control operations in this country suggests that the KGB, as an institution, was never the real threat. A KGB "mentality," with its underlying pragmatic contempt for civil liberties, appears, instead, to have been the driving force behind MKULTRA, MHCHAOS, COINTELPRO, and the operations now being reported to us.

The KGB "mentality" is a matter of personal predilection, not ideology. Its objective is power and control, regardless of human cost. It is a corrupting, cancerous influence, which feeds on fear, conformity and government funding.

Four months ago, when this Project commenced, we approached these complaints of government harassment and experimentation with an admitted "high degree of caution." We are no longer skeptical. The growing numbers of independent complaints and the similiarities between those complaints cannot be ignored. Under the circumstances, the KGB should be proud of itself. As a "mentality," the KGB appears to be accomplishing more in "burying this country" from within, than it could ever have hoped to have achieved as an institution. It would appear that this country has a serious problem on its hands which needs to be resolved.

Part I of this report, which is reprinted from the June-July 1992 edition of the Association's publication, Unclassified, preliminarily addresses the complaints brought to our attention as of July 1992. Our objective, as noted, was to weigh the legitimacy of those complaints in terms of the directed-energy technologies reportedly involved. Part II discusses the overt and covert patterns of harassment identified as a result of our investigations, to date. A part of our objective, here, is to limit the success of such operations in the future, by according them widespread publicity.

In Part II, we do not identify individuals by name, both to honor their privacy and because our investigations have not been completed. Part II, like Part I, is a preliminary finding. Our focus is on the similarities of the complaints being received—similarities which Federal and State legislators, the courts, the FBI, local law enforcement agencies, the medical and psychiatric professions, and organizations such as the ACLU and Amnesty International have so far chosen to ignore.

We frankly find it curious that more attention and credibility is being accorded purported victims of UFO experiences and spectral visitations, than to persons who complain of systematic harassment and experimentation by the U.S. Government, involving technologies which the U.S. Government is only now grudgingly admitting to possess. These complaints require investigation. In due course (and provided financial support is obtained), we hope to be able to acquire the technology and supportive medical expertise needed to substantiate the claims being made. We also hope to alter the institutional mindset that U.S. Intelligence can be trusted. History, repeatedly, has proven otherwise.

PART I - THE PROBLEM SURFACES

[Reprinted from the June-July 1992 edition of UNCLASSIFIED (Vol. IV, No. 3), published by The Association of National Security Alumni, Washington, D.C.]

The August-September 1991 issue of UNCLASSIFIED reviewed Hamline University's Public Administration report on the resolution of MKULTRA cases in 1988. Although the shocking details of medical ethics abuses by the U.S. and Canadian governments were amply detailed, Washington and Ottawa—citing national security and government privilege—stalled for so long that the cases never came to trial. The surviving victims settled for a pittance in an out-of-court settlement.

Since no individuals or agencies were held legally accountable, the door was left open for possible resumption of similar "mind-control" activities.

In the context of that article, we mentioned briefly that some half-dozen people had contacted us with appeals for assistance in ending what they believe to be electronic harassment and mind-control experimentation, possibly involving the CIA. We decided to take a closer look at this situation.

We are now in touch with approximately a dozen individuals located throughout the United States who appear to be targets of harassment and mind-control experimentation involving directed-energy technologies. [By mid-November 1992, that number had increased to 25.]

Typically, persons who complain of being "zapped by radio waves" and of "hearing voices" are stigmatized as psychotic, delusional or schizophrenic. Being mindful of this, as well as aware of the treatment accorded UFO and psychic phenomena "freaks," we approach this subject with a high degree of caution. Based on our preliminary investigation, including interviews with the affected individuals, we conclude that the matter is serious and should be pursued further.

The Existing Directed-Energy Arsenal

Our first step was to determine what, if any technology exists which might be used for electronic harassment. That information was found in a "white paper" published in 1991 by the U.S. Global Strategy Council—a Washington-based organization, under the chairmanship of Ray Cline, former Deputy Director of the CIA, who maintains very close ties with the U.S. Intelligence community. The "white paper" describes the foreign and domestic uses foreseen for laser weapons, isotropic radiators, infrasound, non-nuclear electromagnetic pulse generators, and high-power microwave emitters.

The term, "non-lethal," used to describe this technology is misleading. The energy emitted from all of these weapons can kill when appropriately amplified. At lower levels of amplification, they can cause extreme forms of physical discomfort and debilitation.

The Department of Army (DA) identifies these same weapons as "non-conventional." They were so identified in an exhibit at a DA-sponsored symposium on "The Soldier As A System," in Crystal City, VA, on June 30, 1992. Beta wave incapacitators were separately mentioned during the symposium as being of particular interest to the U.S. Marine Corps.

We discussed these "non-conventional" directed-energy weapons with Mr. Vernon Shisler, manager of the exhibit and the Army's delegate to NATO in matters pertaining to "The Soldier As A System." Mr. Shisler acknowledged not only that directed-energy weapons are in DoD's arsenal, but also that the American soldier will remain vulnerable to their effects, should they be employed in the battlefield.

The U.S. Global Strategy Council recognizes the issue of vulnerability, as well, and urges ongoing research into effective countermeasures.

Interested readers may want to send for the U.S. Global Strategy Council's complete project proposal on this subject (Title: Nonlethality: Development of a National Policy and Employing Nonlethal Means in a New Strategic Era, prepared by Janet Morris). A number of references in this Proposal to unidentified, elusive "enemies" of the U.S. Government and to the potential domestic applications of this "non-lethal" technology invite serious consideration by the public at large.

The Council's address is 1800 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006, (202) 466-6029).

Bioeffects of Microwave Radiation

Research into the biological and psychological effects of exposure to microwave radiation is voluminous. The U.S. public has been led to believe that the former Soviet Union leads in this research. The fact is, the CIA and DoD [Department of Defense] have jointly pursued precisely the same research since commencement of Project Pandora in the 1950's. The current primary users of this research appear to be the CIA, DoD, the National Security Agency (NSA) and the Department of Energy (DoE).

The Walter Reed Army Institute of Research (WRAIR) has participated in this research since Project Pandora. In 1973, WRAIR discovered that externally-induced auditory input could be achieved by means of pulsed microwave audiograms, or analogs of spoken words' sounds. The effect on the receiving end is the (schizophrenic) sensation of "hearing voices" which are not part of the recipients' own thought processes.

The experiment prompted the following comment in The Body Electric: Electromagnetism and the Foundation of Life, by Robert O. Becker, M.D., and Gary Selden (Wm. Morrow & Company, NY, 1985): "Such a device has obvious applications in covert operations designed to drive a target crazy with 'voices' or deliver undetectable instructions to a programmed assassin."

This research has continued, and the results are published in various publicly available scientific and technical journals. Interested readers might consult, for example: Lin, James C., Electromagnetic Interaction With Biological Systems (Plenum Press, NY, 1989). Professor Lin, then with the Department of Bioengineering, University of Illinois, Chicago, has published a number of books and articles on this subject. [He has more recently informed us that he had designed the experiment referenced above in Dr. Becker's book.]

WRAIR has more recently been studying the biological effects of exposure to high-power microwave radiation. WRAIR presented a paper on this subject to a DoD-sponsored symposium on "MW [microwave] Weapons" at the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, CA, in mid-1989.

A matter of interest to us is why WRAIR should be experimenting with auditory effects of pulsed microwave audiograms. Also, recent statements by an Army psychiatrist assigned to the Walter Reed Army Medical Center (WRAMC) suggest that WRAIR may be experimenting upon select psychiatric inpatients with microwaves. This, too, is a matter of interest to us.

Congressional Oversight

The Government's past record of abuses in the area of civil rights is well documented. Within the past 30 years alone, we have witnessed the effects of Operations MKULTRA, MHCHAOS and COINTELPRO.

Primarily because of MKULTRA, MHCHAOS and COINTELPRO, Executive Orders and implementing regulations were published which prohibited military and CIA domestic covert intelligence operations. Experiments on involuntary human subjects, and the surveillance of /collection of personal information on U.S. citizens, except under strictly regulated conditions were also prohibited.

Congressional committees were created to oversee compliance with these (quasi-) legal prohibitions. We have evidence that this is not being done. Moreover, where there are laws and, in this case, no laws enacted, there are loopholes, as well as individuals and institutions who deliberately capitalize upon the existence of loopholes. Iran-Contra is one of the more blatant recent examples. Loopholes are also found in government resort to "black" intelligence and weapons programs, in the use of contractors, and in the absence of clear definitions of such terms as "national security" and "national security risk."

Executive Orders and regulations which currently limit official U.S. Intelligence activities do not extend to non-intelligence government agencies or to their contractors. In fact, Executive Order 12333 specifies that government contractors do not need to know that their services support U.S. Intelligence objectives.

In its report of July 8, 1992, the Senate Subcommittee on Oversight of Government Management addresses the problem of tracking funds granted to government-contracted research and development (R&D) centers. The report notes that the problem is compounded by DoD's penchant for creating hard-to-monitor "shell" contractors as disbursement centers for funding programs.

Neither shell contractors nor their subcontractors are directly accountable to Congress. Being beyond Congressional oversight, they have the license to operate as Government surrogates in intelligence operations about which, "officially," they know nothing.

In this context, a publication disseminated at DA's "The Soldier As a System" symposium noted that the Army's Research and Technology Program sponsors 42 laboratories and R&D centers, employing approximately 10,000 scientists and engineers. The annual budget of $1.3 billion is only a small part of overall DoD research spending.

Weapons research, which includes the development and testing of "non-lethal" weapons, is not governed by laws restricting the activities of U.S. Intelligence agencies, though it may be presumed that these agencies contribute to and benefit from such research.

Preliminary Findings

1. The technology exists for the types of harassment and experimentation reported to us.

2. About a dozen U.S. citizens have informed us of continuing experiences with effects which directed-energy weapons are designed to produce.

3. U.S. Government-sponsored research into the bioeffects of exposure to microwave radiation is extensive and continuing.

4. The U.S. Government has a past record of having engaged in mind-control experimentation; and various agencies of the Government have a record of circumventing legal restrictions upon their activities.

5. Neither Congress nor the courts appear willing to look closely into "black" intelligence and weapons procurement programs.

6. A number of U.S. Government agencies might have interests in testing directed-energy technologies on U.S. citizens under non-clinical/non-controlled circumstances—DoD, to test ranges and degrees of "non-lethality"; DoE, to explore "safety" limits; CIA, to test "mind-control" capabilities, and NSA, for technological refinement.

PART II - OVERT AND COVERT HARASSMENT

Since publication of the preceding article less than four months ago, the Association of National Security Alumni/Electronic Surveillance Project has heard from an additional 13* individuals who report both overt harassment and a range of symptoms which coincide with the known effects of exposure to microwaves, electromagnetic/radio frequency (RF) radiation and/or infrasound.

The similarity of these symptoms will be addressed in greater detail in future Project reports. Suffice it to say, at this point, that the physical and psychological symptoms being reported to us are consistent with the effects which directed-energy weapons are designed to produce. Indeed, the numerous afflictions (or "inflictions") being reported appear to parallel standard torture "sequelae,"[1] (aftereffects).

Overt Harassment

Overt harassment—which obviously is meant to be observed—may be intended to "precondition" individuals for eventual long-term electronic harassment. Persons terrified by unexplained overt harassment are not likely to cope with the sudden onset of electronic harassment in any more reasoned fashion. This phased pattern of harassment is apparent in all of the cases now being investigated. The fact that the overt harassment continues in these cases even after the electronic targeting commences suggests that the objective is to maintain long-term extremes of stress.

Many of the overt harassment tactics discussed below are surfacing in cases which (so far) have not involved discernible forms of electronic harassment. These are cases involving so-called "whistleblowers" who, because of their inside knowledge of certain potentially newsworthy events, pose particular threats of embarrassment to the Government or to government-affiliated employers. We have noticed that electronic harassment is beginning to surface as a form of retaliation against persons who try to assist electronic "harassees." Retaliation suggests loss of control. Under the circumstances, we are not entirely confident that "whistleblowers" will continue to be exempted from this type of harassment in the long term.

The individuals now in touch with the Project describe their circumstances as involving most, if not all, of the following overt forms of harassment:

- Sudden, bizarrely-rude treatment, isolation and acts of harassment and vandalism by formerly friendly neighbors.
- Harassing telephone calls, which continue even after the targeted individual obtains new, unlisted telephone numbers.
- Mail interception, theft and tampering.
- Noise campaigns.

While unrelenting harassing telephone calls might be considered in this context, other tactics are employed. Blaring horns, whistles, sirens, garbage disposals (run concurrently in apartment settings, for excessively prolonged periods of time), and amplified transmissions of recorded "general racket" have been used on a recurrent basis under circumstances intended to persuade the individual that he or she is under surveillance.

In all of these cases, the individuals' neighbors apparently pretend to be oblivous and/or indifferent to these sudden, continuous explosions of noise.

Door slamming is also a popular pastime, particularly in apartment buildings. One individual reported that, during a peak period of harassment, the neighbor across the hall began entering and leaving his apartment every 10 minutes, slamming his door loudly on each occasion. This was a daily occurrence, encompassing periods of several hours, over a period of several months.

apparently served to trigger a door-slamming "chain reaction" on the part of neighbors both on that floor and on the floors immediately above and below. When our contact politely asked her immediate neighbor to close his door more quietly, he slammed the door in her face. Prior to commencement of this harassment, that neighbor had apparently been quite friendly and courteous.

In another case, the primary door-slammer is an employee of Radix Systems, Inc., Rockville, MD, a DoD contractor engaged in the "super-secret" research and development of some type of electronic equipment.

Several individuals reported recurrent, loud, strange noises in their ventilation systems during the preliminary stages of their harassment. One individual complained of being recurrently awakened in the middle of the night by the sound of wires being fed into his (independent) ventilation system. On checking further, he found that a tubular construction had been built into his vent system which appears to lead to the apartment upstairs. His upstairs neighbor is employed by the Department of Justice.

A number of individuals report that occupants of upstairs and downstairs apartments appear to follow them from room to room, tapping on the floor or engaging in other activities which appear intended to advertise an ongoing surveillance.

The Justice Department employee mentioned above went so far as to offer an unsolicited apology to her downstairs neighbor for the all-night "pacing about" in her bedroom (in the event he had happened to notice it). She claimed to be an insomniac. That pacing-about continued during her recent 36-hour absence from the area. When our contact politely alerted her to the fact that her apartment had apparently been entered during her absence, she told him, in effect, to mind his own business and then immediately complained to the building manager that he was stalking her.

She conveniently forgot to inform the building manager that she had assiduously "courted" this individual for several months, without success; and that she had been stealing his newspapers on a regular basis. (On one occasion, she handed him a week's accumulation of those papers, claiming that they had been left outside the door of another apartment. Her reason for collecting and saving newspapers which had not been delivered to her directly is unknown.)

- Recurrent confrontations by unusually hostile strangers; and comments by strangers which appear intended to evoke "paranoid" reactions.

In this context, we note that several individuals have reported confrontations with "homeless" people who, on closer examination, were found to be fastidiously clean, though garbed in offbeat fashion (wigs included). The same "eccentric" confronted two of the individuals in contact with us, at separate distant locations. He is reported as having feigned mental illness on both occasions, and as having apparently enjoyed creating a public scene.

- Entries into the individual's residence, during late-night hours while he/she is sleeping, and/or during the day when the individual is elsewhere.

In virtually all such cases, the burglars leave evidence of their visits, such as by relocating objects, or by committing petty and not-so-petty acts of vandalism. In two cases, the burglar's "calling card" was to slaughter caged pets, leaving the mangled carcasses inside their locked cages.

In one case, the burglar stole several pieces of correspondence and left a packet of crack cocaine behind as a "calling card." Our contact in this case—an individual who has no criminal record and no history of experimentation with drugs—is also being harassed (stalked) by a police officer in her community. One of his recent acts was to "frame" her with a drug possession charge. After pulling her off the road (a frequent pastime) and subjecting her to an illegal search (done twice, so far), he conveniently managed to find a glassine packet of cocaine eight feet away, in front of his squad car. He retrieved the packet with his fingers and then charged her with Possession. Our contact found the packet of crack cocaine in her apartment shortly after this investigator reminded the attorney handling her case that the police officer had smudged his only piece of evidence with his own fingerprints. It would appear that someone is interested in correcting that police officer's oversight.

In another case, the individual reports that a tremendous amount of money had been stolen from a hiding place in her apartment, within hours after she had withdrawn the money from her bank. There were no obvious signs of entry into her apartment. The police conducted a cursory inquiry which failed to produce evidence of a crime worthy of investigation. (This case is an anomaly. Money is not usually stolen. Documents appear to be the preferred objects of theft, when thefts occur.)

In another case, the burglars replaced installed lightbulbs with "exploding" bulbs, many of which were Made in Hungary. The lightbulbs are now in our possession.

• Rapidly deteriorating health, generally of a digestive nature.

In two cases of the cases reported, massive rectal bleeding accompanied the sudden onset of severe gastrointestinal disturbances. One of these individuals abruptly terminated the deteriorative process simply by changing the locks on her door.

• Sleep disruption/deprivation.

This is achieved by means of both overt and electronic harassment. Sleep deprivation, as a tactic, invariably surfaces when the targeted individual begins exhibiting a strong emotional and irrational response to the other forms of harassment.

• Vandalism of privately-owned vehicles.

Vehicles invite peculiarly ferocious attacks in these harassment campaigns — slashed tires, smashed windows, oil drainage, oil contamination, destruction of electronic components and batteries (frequently involving wildly fluctuating, grounded fuel gauges, often within range of weapons research facilities and/or other microwave emitters); and suddenly failed brakes and clutches (possibly involving anti-traction polymers, which are also in DoD's "non-lethal" weapons arsenal). Recurrent auto thefts have also been reported.

Two individuals reported finding their oil contaminated immediately after having the oil changed by reputable mechanics. In one of these cases, the oil viscosified (thickened) while the individual was driving through a remote rural area. Her car ground to a halt. Getting the "gunk" cleaned out of her engine proved to be an expensive ordeal. (Viscosification agents are also lauded by the U.S. Global Strategy Council as serving "non-lethal" strategic purposes—a topic discussed in Part I of this publication. Had this woman been assaulted while awaiting help in the said isolated area, the "non-lethal" attributes of viscosification agents might have required redefinition.)

Most of those who have experienced these attacks on a recurring basis have abandoned driving altogether—an objective apparently sought by their tormentors as a means of increasing their isolation.

• Staged accidents.

The majority of those in touch with us have reported these types of experiences. One individual, for example, was tailgated at a high rate of speed by two vehicles, while concurrently being threatened with a gun by one of the vehicles' occupants. Two others narrowly avoided what appeared to be deliberately attempted collisions by drivers who quickly sped away from the scene. One avoided three attempts in four days at being run off the road. One survived being run off the road in two incidents within a one-week period, which resulted in "totaling" of her two vehicles. Another narrowly avoided being crushed into an expressway retaining wall, on four occasions, by an off-duty metro bus, as well as, within the same time frame, being "fried" by two suddenly-malfunctioned household appliances which subsequently repaired themselves.

It should be noted that, in some of these cases, "accidental" deaths do occur. One individual in contact with us reported that his mother drove off a cliff to her death, during a period when he was researching evidence that a still-respected, high-level State Department official had passed A-bomb secrets to the Soviet Government during World War II. The accident occurred shortly after her car had undergone routine maintenance. She was returning from a dental appointment when the accident occurred. Witnesses state that it appeared that she had suddenly stepped on the accelerator before running off the road. The accident served to terminate this person's research project.

We are also currently looking into the recent death of a woman in Lexington, MO, who was killed when the brakes on her tractor failed. We are informed that she had been collecting affidavits from persons who believe they are the targets of government harassment and experimentation when her "accident" occurred. We are also informed that those affidavits have disappeared.

Suicides might also qualify as "staged accidents," particularly where "plausibly deniable" government involvement has been surfaced. We are currently looking into the recent suicide of a man in Trappe, PA, who, as early as 1981, had asked the FBI and CIA to intervene in his case. We have copies of that early correspondence. The man, a former U.S. Army radar technician, had a hly technical and—given the date of his correspondence—"precocious" grasp of the experimental objectives apparently being sought in his case. It is apparent m his correspondence that he had wanted to believe it the Soviets were conducting these experiments. The BI and CIA, of course, did not intervene. We are formed that members of his family have also been gets of this experimentation.

- Isolation of the individual from members of his/her immediate family —virtually assured when highly focused forms of electronic harassment commence.

The exception to this is when elderly parents and young children in the family become targets for apparent purposes of intimidation. This situation has been reported in eight of our cases, to date.

One individual (driven to extremes of stress by ongoing electronic harassment focusing on her children) killed one child in an effort to protect her from further pain.[2] It appears that lasers were being used in this individual's case. The targeting intensified after she called the Soviet Embassy to report the harassment, which she believed to be U.S. Government-sponsored. It became even more deadly when, in a further show of defiance, she then called a representative of the Iraqi Government to portray the U.S. Government's war in the Middle East as "hypocritical." She is now hospitalized in a midwestern psychiatric facility, where, apparently, the experimentation is now continuing.

(That psychiatric facility is in a State where a disproportionate number of complaints of electronic harassment are beginning to surface. It is also within range of a U.S. Air Force base which houses a "super secret" research facility. We are currently looking into information that spouses and children of persons employed on that USAF base may be the targets of involuntary experimentation involving directed-energy weapons technologies.)

Another individual, during a telephone conversation, was told by an employee of a local power company that, if she valued the lives of her children, she would drop her public opposition to the company's installation of high power lines. Since receiving that threat, the individual's 11-year-old daughter has been reduced to extremes of pain, resulting in her recurrent hospitalization for treatment of illnesses which cannot be diagnosed. It is now also apparent to this individual that her three-year-old son is on the receiving end of externally-induced auditory input. (DoE figures prominently in this case.)

- Progressive financial impoverishment, brought on by termination of the individual's employment, and compounded by expenses associated with the harassment.

The majority of those now in contact with the Project—educated, white-collar professionals—have lost their jobs. Termination of employment in many of these cases involved prefatory harassment by the employer and co-workers, which coincided with the other overt forms of harassment discussed above..

These overt harassment tactics are being described as recurrent, non-sequential and overlapping. As noted above, the overt harassment continues even after the electronic harassment commences.

Failure of "Establishment" Support Systems

Those individuals who have tried to resolve their respective situations through resort to "establishment" channels have invariably encountered the following:

- Apathy, indifference and/or professed helplessness on the part of members of Congress and state legislatures.

- Dismissal and/or attempted discrediting by psychiatrists who refuse to include the terms, "government harassment," "mind-control experimentation" and "torture" in their vocabulary.

Several individuals, thinking that psychiatrists might help to alleviate the extreme stress associated with their harassment, were accorded "treatment" which clearly pointed to cooperation between their psychiatrists and members of the U.S. Intelligence community. One such psychiatrist, in fact, bragged about being a member of the U.S. Intelligence "inner circle," informing our contact that her harassment was a "Pavlovian Experiment," intended to "break" her.

- Lack of interest, courage and/or competency in legal circles.

Few of those in contact with us have been able to acquire legal assistance—not helped by their straitened financial circumstances. Most have found that few attorneys are willing to risk their careers by pursuing cases involving what is believed to be government-sponsored harassment and experimentation.

A few attorneys reportedly engaged in egregious violations of codes of professional conduct, in what appear to have been deliberate efforts at sabotaging our contacts' cases. Subsequent attempts by two individuals at obtaining legal redress were met with stonewalling, obstruction, and high-level denials of wrongdoing.

- Refusal of the mass media to address this topic, except in those cases where suspected experimentees have been driven to the point of committing murder or suicide.

Such cases (particularly where an individual has claimed to be the victim of CIA-directed mind-control involving auditory input) are treated by the press as "curiosities." An example of this is the individual who shot a Navy officer outside the Pentagon in mid-1991.[3] He claimed to be a victim of CIA mind control, involving auditory input. According to the press, "he worried 'about being run over by trains'..." (ref. incident described in following paragraph). He is now permanently residing in a psychiatric facility. He, being institutionalized, and others in the preliminary stages of his predicament are no longer of interest to the media.

Another recent case which received short-lived press attention[4] involved a woman diagnosed as having "suffered from periods of confusion" who climbed over a fence onto a railroad track and walked into an oncoming train. Because the incident occurred in a community in which an unusually large number of these mind-control experiments have been reported, we are looking into the situation. The woman was reportedly "under a physician's care" because of her "periods of confusion." A family member described the physician to this investigator as "a psychiatrist." We find that the alleged "psychiatrist" is a General Practitioner, otherwise non-accredited, practicing out of his home. We find also that the suicide may have been witnessed under peculiarly-timed circumstances by an alleged "homeless" person who has since disappeared. Needless to say, our interest has been whetted.

- Refusal and/or inability of local police to intervene.

The tendency of local police is to dismiss an individual's complaints of government harassment as the ravings of a "fruitcake." In one case, discussed above, it is apparent that one police officer is actively cooperating in the harassment. Some police agencies, while acknowledging the reality of the situation, hesitate to intervene in cases involving what they believe to be U.S. Intelligence. On a few occasions, certain police officials did attempt to intervene, based on what they perceived to be evidence of a systematic harassment/illegal surveillance campaign. Absent a clear mandate to prosecute "stalkers" acting under the aegis of U.S. Intelligence, the police obviously have their hands tied.

- Refusal of the FBI to intervene in any of the cases brought to our attention, thus far.

FBI spokesmen do acknowledge that they have received a large number of requests for assistance from "mentally disturbed persons" who believe that they are being "zapped by radio waves" and/or "are hearing voices" ..."from Mars, that is."

In one case, an FBI spokesman reacted in an angry, defensive and bizarre fashion when our contact briefly alluded to PROJECT SLAMMER as possibly being related to her surveillance. (PROJECT SLAMMER is a CIA-funded study, managed by CIA and FBI behavioral scientists, which explores the "mental make-up" of alleged security risks, along with their family members and close associates. Participants in PROJECT SLAMMER include NSA, DIA, and Army, Navy and Air Force Intelligence.)

Until PROJECT SLAMMER was mentioned, the FBI spokesman's approach in this case was to politely and redundantly explain that the law, as currently constructed, prevents the FBI's intervening in this individual's case. When she briefly pointed out that the surveillance activities might fall under the purview of PROJECT SLAMMER, the spokesman's response was to abruptly and angrily declaim, "You don't know who is conducting that surveillance! You don't know if that is a state police surveillance! ...or a local police surveillance! It could be a totally unrelated operation! You don't know who is conducting that surveillance! [etc., etc.]!"

It was apparent from this response that the FBI was at least acknowledging the existence of a surveillance, if in somewhat emotional fashion. The individual in question subsequently furnished acquired evidence to the local police, who made it clear that they are not partici-

...ts in the surveillance which, based on the evidence, pointedly suggests that our contact is the target.

- Refusal or inability of the ACLU and Amnesty International to intervene.

Both organizations acknowledge receiving many complaints from persons claiming to be the targets of some type of electronic harassment. An ACLU spokeswoman characterized the complainants as appearing to be rational, except in a few cases. The complaints are not being investigated, she said, because of "limited resources." We have to wonder, of course, why the ACLU could recently find resources to defend the rights of prostitutes and the Ku Klux Klan, yet remains incapable of intervening in cases such as we are now pursuing.

Amnesty International recently informed one of our contacts that they could not intervene in her case because their focus is on the U.S. Government's treatment of prison inmates. While incarceration does appear to be one sought-for objective in these harassment/mind-control experiments, we would like to think that protections by such organizations as Amnesty International can be achieved beforehand.

Related Covert Methodologies

The persons engaged in this harassment tend to become careless, possibly the result of arrogance born of an assumption that nobody can stop them. "Harassees" who have noted this carelessness have furnished us with the following insights into the covert side of these harassment activities.

- Impersonation of military officers.

One individual found that her next-door neighbor had claimed to be a military intelligence officer, assigned to a space technology unit in California, on year-long "TDY" (temporary duty) in the individual's apartment building. It was subsequently determined that this alleged officer is not in fact a member of the U.S. Armed Forces; and that he had used this bogus status to acquire information from a major defense contractor. Our contact is certain that this person's apartment was used as a base of harassment operations.

- Use of concealment devices, and emitters detected to date.

Several individuals and supportive associates report having seen some of the electronic devices being used in these harassment campaigns.

One saw electronic equipment concealed inside a false-front upright piano being moved out of her apartment building. She had previously noted that all of her surrounding neighbors had identical upright pianos in their apartments, not one of which was ever played.

Other suspected participants in the harassment may be concealing devices in oversized stereo speakers, measuring approximately 5' in height x 3' x 3'. Several of our contacts have noted the presence of such speakers in adjacent dwellings.

One individual was told by a resident of her building that her upstairs neighbor has "microwave ovens" in his bedroom and livingroom, but none in the kitchen.

Another individual, while standing outside, looked into her neighbor's window to find that her bedroom appeared to be the target of a gray-colored, elongated box-like device, measuring approximately 1' in length x 5" in height (side view). A large, black-framed lens protruded from the end facing her window. The electrical cord, if any, was not visible from that vantage point. The equipment was being operated by a stranger in a three-piece suit, who appeared to be quite startled to find that he was being observed.

Another was given strong reason to believe that portable emitters are being concealed in oversized, extremely heavy, sometimes expandable "briefcases" for use in places of public assembly, such as meeting halls, auditoriums and restaurants. Smaller varieties are apparently being used on aircraft.

On one 3-hour flight, our contact noticed that the man sitting next to her seemed peculiarly intent on keeping the attache case on his lap propped open with his fingertips, while he gazed "blankly" into the distance during the entire flight. She believed that she was being electronically harassed while on the flight (a common complaint, in most of the cases now being investigated).

Our contact reports that, when they prepared to land, the man opened his attache case to hastily check its contents, thus disclosing the presence of a raised, built-in "concealment device" covering the entire bottom surface of the attache case. The low-slung, lift-off cover did not appear to be capable of concealing a laptop computer. At one point during the flight —apparently aware that his "reverie" was inviting attention, —the man devoted approximately ten minutes to scribbling assorted entries on a sheet of lined paper, which he had placed on top of his briefcase two hours previously. He devoted roughly ten minutes to the effort (obviously preferring a pen to a laptop computer). His attache case remained ajar during this process.[5]

One individual reports that mobile emitters may be installed in certain oversized, non-attributable medical emergency vehicles, possibly for eventual use in civil disturbances. Her unsucessful attempts at following the "medical emergency" vehicle which had surfaced in her case ended with a high-speed chase.

The phony military intelligence officer, when recently moving out of our contact's apartment building, was found to possess a device which resembles an oversized microwave oven, measuring approximately 4' in width x 2' in height x 2-1/2' in depth. A subsequent examination of his apartment revealed that he had tapped numerous additional lines into existing, in-house telephone and TV cables; and that he had gone to great pains to conceal a major excavation into one wall abutting the "harassee's." Judging from photographs taken immediately after this person's departure, the wiring suggests that he was hooked by modem into a computer network, and that at least some of his electronic equipment was situated in a large walk-in closet, again abutting the "harassee's."

When the alleged officer moved out, his equipment (except for the oversized "microwave oven") was packaged in boxes identifying the contents only as stereo components. During his year-long residency in this building, no sounds emanated from his apartment to indicate use of this "stereo" equipment.

• Use of modified license plates and vehicle look-alikes.

Some individuals have noted that their neighbors' vehicles are periodically replaced (during peak periods of harassment) by others which qualify as "rough look-alikes." The tags on these latter closely resemble those on the homeowners' vehicles, with a difference being noted in only one digit or one letter. These modified plates appear to have been acquired through State DMV channels, thus suggesting government/intelligence agency involvement.

In one case, where the individual has obtained police assistance, tracking of one plate surfaced evidence of a drug connection. That plate rapidly disappeared from the vehicle in question, to be replaced by another, again bearing a one-letter modification.

• Use of neighbors' residences as bases of operation and training.

One individual recently saw a team of "technicians" in the house behind hers —a consequence of the team's failure to close the curtains and/or use dim lighting when puttering around in the kitchen at 5:00 in the morning. The three men (strangers to this individual, all stripped down to their T-shirts) behaved as if they were unaware that they were being watched. Their observer had long suspected that this house was being used as a base of electronic harassment operations. The harassment had been ongoing throughout the night.

To provoke a response from these men, the individual eventually commented aloud on their activities. They responded immediately by turning the lights off and switching to the use of flashlights. Why they failed to close the curtains is unknown.

This individual is working with the police in an effort at ending this surveillance and harassment, with mixed results.

Another individual, paying a surprise visit to the apartment upstairs, overheard one of her own telephone conversations being played on a tape recorder inside that apartment. Lacking both a legitimate pretext to enter the apartment and the support of the building's management personnel and/or the police, she was prevented from pursuing this further. Her upstairs neighbor is purportedly employed by Stanford University Hospital, in Stanford, CA.

The target of surveillance and harassment in this case is still also trying to recover from the effects of exposure to potentially lethal doses of radiation, administered in the 1970's by a dangerously "incompetent" dentist. This might explain the involvement of alleged Stanford University Hospital personnel in her situation.

The government is on record as having experimented on unwitting U.S. citizens with radioactive materials during the 1970's (and earlier).[6] The House Subcommittee on Energy and Commerce based their investigation into this matter on a 30-year accumulation of documents maintained by the Department of Energy. Under the circumstances, it will come as no surprise if it is ultimately found that DoE has been involved in this woman's surveillance and harassment.

Another individual paid a surprise visit to the apartment immediately beneath hers, in an attempt to identify the source of a tremendous racket in her ventilation system. Standing outside the door, she could hear an individual moving around, a short distance from the door. She also heard the sound of rustling paper and the steady, sonar-like "pinging" of some type of electronic device. In response to her repeated knockings on the door, the person inside simply stopped moving about. The sound of rustling paper (perhaps a printout of some type) and the steady "...pin-ng! ...pin-ng!" sound continued. The occupant of this apartment resumed moving about only after it was (incorrectly) believed that our contact had departed the area. Typically, this situation could not be pursued further.

All of those who live in apartment buildings report unusual patterns of occupancy in the apartments surrounding their own; i.e., upstairs, downstairs and on all sides. They have become quite convinced—if only because of the highly focused nature of the symptoms being experienced —that these surrounding apartments are being used as bases of operation. Perhaps this encirclement facilitates studies of holographic human telemetries; or perhaps it is intended to increase the prospect of brain entrainment by electronic means ("entrainment" being one published objective sought in mind control experiments).[7]

In examining this situation more closely, a number of individuals have found that surrounding apartments are either permanently vacant, for unknown reasons, or that they have been "sub-let" by the original occupants to persons who are purportedly unknown to the buildings' management personnel. In one case, the surrounding renters all list two residences in the local telephone book. Not one lives in the apartment building in question, though the address is identified as one of the renters' places of residence. One individual suspects that the original occupants of apartments surrounding hers have simply been relocated to other apartments in the same (large) building. Another suspects that an adjacent apartment, which has been permanently rented to the U.S. Government for use by "visitors" is also being used as a base of operations.

One individual found that an immediate neighbor's housemate has the same (unusual) name of a university professor who has engaged in extensive research on behalf of the government, studying the bioeffects of exposure to microwave radiation.

- Use of informants/agents provocateurs, frequently members of the opposite sex.

As noted in the U.S. House of Representatives Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs's draft report, Alyeska Pipeline Service Company Covert Operation (July 1992), the Wackenhut Corporation's Special Investigations Division adopted this tactic when pursuing Alyeska's critics.

A number of the individuals in touch with us report a range of experiences with new "friends" who — apparently posing as confidants —used acquired personalia to abruptly end these "friendships" under deliberately degrading and humiliating circumstances. When taken in the context of the ongoing surveillances and harassment, these exercises appear intended to heighten emotional trauma, perhaps to provoke an uncontrolled response and/or to enforce isolation.

- Misuse of covert intelligence personnel (possible former case officers).

One individual, while under contract to the U.S. Government, properly reported what he believed to be an approach by a hostile intelligence service. Within a few weeks, alleged U.S. Intelligence officers contacted this individual. In addition to questioning him about his background, these alleged intelligence officers asked that he keep in constant touch with them, particularly when planning to travel.

It soon became apparent that the alleged intelligence officers were intent only on forcing this individual to report to them as directed, and to account for his activities. He was not asked to assist the U.S. Government in any form of intelligence operation; he was not asked to execute any form of secrecy affirmation statement acknowledging the classified nature of these meetings; nor was he told why these meetings—involving a total of seven alleged case officers—were necessary.

When he began to balk at a continuation of this process, one of his "handlers" conveyed a threat, suggesting that his continued compliance might be "enforced." Finally, when this individual adamantly refused to cooperate further, massive overt harassment commenced and is currently ongoing.

The operation (clearly intended to bully this individual into submissive compliance for purposes which are still unknown) involved crude tactics formerly prized by the KGB.

Whether or not legitimate U.S. Intelligence case officers were involved in this activity remains to be determined. Some private firms retain former U.S. Intelligence case officers for contracting out as "security specialists." The founder and CEO of one such firm (Gerard P. Burke, The Parvus Company, Silver Spring, MD) has informed us that the activities of contract case officers are neither monitored nor subject to formal restraint.

- Use of psychotropic drugs by cooperative physicians.

Shortly after resigning from the CIA, one of our contacts underwent a range of experiences which suggested that she had been massively drugged. One of the alleged perpetrators, whom we have met, alternately claims to be employed by NASA and/or by a firm in Miami, handling "microwave equipment." NASA has no record of this person under the name furnished.

The "experimentee" ultimately sought the assistance of a psychiatrist, whom her parents had located as a referral. The psychiatrist treated her reported "flashbacks" by immediately placing her on a regimen of Stelazine, which quickly aggravated her condition. He also made comments to this individual which suggested that he had a foreknowledge of her situation, and that he was cooperating with U.S. Intelligence. On one occasion the psychiatrist intimated that our contact might be employable as an assassin; and he repeatedly urged her to move to Great Britain where, he said, she would be put in touch with an unidentified Member of Parliament.

Interestingly, he had a tremendous computer system in his office suite, which he explained as being connected by modem into a national level system which, in turn, connected into private residences. When showing her this equipment, this psychiatrist informed our contact that she had been "CAT scanned," pointing out that she was the subject of the vast series of "A's" and "B's" being printed out by one of the many terminals at his disposal.

Our contact also found that this psychiatrist kept a military uniform in his closet which bore the rank and insignia of a three-star general.

The individual ultimately sought psychiatric support elsewhere. Her new psychiatrist, formerly employed by DoD, immediately put her on a regimen of Haldol Decanoate, Klonopin and Benzatropine. The combined effect of these drugs was loss of memory and a state of mind which, under other circumstances, might be diagnosed as Depersonalization or Dissociative Disorder. All three drugs proved to be highly addictive. Our contact, since severing contact with this psychiatrist as well, has finally successfully overcome the addiction.

Another individual—the one whose psychiatrist had informed her of her role in a "Pavlovian Experiment"—was subjected to attempted drugging by Trazodone, one of the strongest sedatives on the market. The psychiatrist in question kept no record of the individual's outpatient visits, nor of her Trazodone prescriptions. Being unaware that the individual was not adhering to his regimen, the psychiatrist urged her to rapidly increase her dosage, renewing her 30-day prescription after a period of only 11 days.

Though aware of her heart condition, he failed to monitor her condition, dismissing her complaints of (electronically-induced) pains in her heart as inconsequential. Trazodone is known to aggravate heart conditions. Perhaps the intent was to have this individual succumb to a "heart attack" as the result of "imagined" government harassment. Neither the appropriate psychiatric society nor the FBI would touch this case.

Another individual (a clear target of retaliation) sought medical assistance to counter sudden massive headaches and recurrent attacks of vomiting —effects which can be produced by infrasound. The physician to whom she was referred (an alleged specialist in Internal Medicine) placed her on a combination of Compazine and Xanax, prescribing dosages which the Physicians' Desk Reference warns against.

Compazine, in addition to being an anti-emetic, is used in the treatment of psychotic disorders. It can also cause tardive dyskinesia, an irreversible syndrome involving loss of motor control. Xanax is known to induce vomiting. Both drugs can lead to dependency and a worsening of the patient's condition. The effects of all such drugs, in fact, can be mutated in high-energy fields, thus increasing the likelihood of adverse reactions.

We have recently found that this prescribing "physician" is not licensed to practice medicine in the State in which she has been practicing since at least 1989.

Our contact, being concerned about the long-term effects of Xanax and Compazine, consulted another physician in that same office. This physician immediately prescribed Prozac, failing to concurrently recommend that her patient discontinue the Xanax and Compazine prescriptions. When our contact refused to take any psychotropic drugs, the doctor became upset and asked, "Don't you want to get well?"

This second physician is a licensed practitioner in Internal Medicine, with no background in Psychiatry. We have also found that she apparently refers her patients to yet a third physician in the office who claims to be a psychiatrist. She, too, is licensed to practice Internal Medicine, only. Her receptionist described this third physician as having a psychiatric "sub-specialty," ..."as an internist." The receptionist also informed us that this internist "is treating a number of psychiatric patients."

On pursuing this further, we find that these physicians are in a small "medical group" which is not listed by specialty in standard regional telephone directories. The group bears the same name as one of the CIA's most infamous recruited physicians (perhaps best described as "the Mengele of MKULTRA").

The doctors' offices are located in a bank building, which, we have found, is a favored hiding place for security-oriented businesses and government agencies. Two computer firms. co-located with an attorney who represents "Island Resort Development, Ltd.," are situated immediately beneath the doctors' offices. The prospect of our finding island resort developments within 500 miles of this attorney's office is limited.

Our contact, being apprised of these findings, is seeking medical help elsewhere.

In two of our cases, urologists took it upon themselves to play the role of "psychiatrist"; i.e., they rendered psychiatric diagnoses and prescribed psychotropic drugs. One of these urologists, employed by The Mayo Clinic in Rochester, MN, prescribed Haldol, informing our contact that he perceived her to be "psychotic." His efforts at getting a Clinic psychiatrist to confirm this diagnosis were unsuccessful. The psychiatrist, apparently a rare individual who subscribes to codes of medical ethics, found nothing wrong with this woman, even given the nature of her complaints. The urologist's response to this was to issue his own Haldol prescription. Sensing that something was amiss, the woman refused to have the prescription filled.

Yet another individual ended up in the hands of a psychiatrist who, as a purported means of ending the stress associated with her harassment, offered to put her under hypnosis. She described the hypnotic state as "equivalent to floating" and (based on her overall experiences with this physician) has not ruled out the possibility that drugs may have been surreptitiously administered. The psychiatrist claimed to be interested in psychic phenomena and demonstrated an apparently remarkable ability to read this individual's mind.

While in her "hypnotic state, the individual felt a sharp, painful pressure inside her nose, as if something were being shoved up her nostrils to the sinus cavities. She awoke to find blood pouring out of her nostrils. The psychiatrist casually dismissed this as owing to a probable cold.

Shortly after that experience, the individual began to hear loud tones in her head, followed in due course by auditory input. Brain scans have failed to yield evidence of an implanted device. (We have recommended that she undergo a scan by means of a suitably adapted non-linear junction detector, as a preliminary.) Suffice it to say, this individual has severed contact with the psychiatrist and is continuing to cope with ongoing overt and electronic harassment by other non-medical means.

• Use of medical implant devices.

The situation just described is not our first encounter with the apparent use of medical implant devices in these harassment/mind-control cases. Another of our contacts began receiving auditory input roughly 15 years after she had 4 mm. cochlear implants placed in her ears. The "voices" claim to be affiliated with the CIA and, among other things, expressed intentions of running this woman as an agent in denied areas by "piggybacking" their audio transmissions onto standard FM frequencies to avoid detection.

We have been unable to locate the surgeon who implanted these devices, though we do have a copy of his operative reports. A recent CAT scan of this individual failed to disclose the presence of the cochlear implants.

Several years ago, the individual (now a psychologist) applied for a position with the CIA. She was interviewed by four Langley-based, purported psychologists, who allegedly informed her that her job would involve the assessment of certain criminals for purposes of weighing their prospects for loyalty to this agency.

During these interviews, she was told to read several books by such persons as Philip Agee, Stansfield Turner and Ralph McGehee, all of whom were unknown to her. The alleged psychologists claimed that these authors had described the CIA "as it really is." Our contact was not asked to execute a secrecy affirmation statement acknowledging the classified nature of these proceedings.

The unconventional manner of this interview process suggests that this individual was being toyed with, for reasons which remain to be determined. She did not get the job and in fact more recently lost her job with a state penitentiary. She was fired, on the recommendation of the prison's psychiatrist, because of her insistence that she is receiving auditory input from CIA personnel who persist in feeding her classified information.

Interestingly, though this individual was deemed unfit to function as a psychologist in the penitentiary system, the State has rehired her, assigning her to a mental health facility where, apparently, she is to develop a behavioral modification program for retarded adults with diagnosed mental illnesses.

This individual claimed to be receiving and responding to externally-induced auditory "advice" while working with prison inmates. It may be presumed that the process will continue. Under the circumstances, we have to wonder if this case qualifies as a benchmark in mind-control experimentation; i.e., employment of a mind-controlled psychologist to run the equivalent of mind-control experiments on mentally-ill retarded adults. We will continue to monitor the situation.

The individual whom we previously identified as having challenged a local power company also appears to have been "tagged" by some type of implant device. During a recent symposium, she was approached by a man whose business card identifies him as "Program Manager, Electromagnetic Radiation Division," DoE. His approach was suitably sympathetic. Our contact ultimately accepted the man's invitation to continue discussing their common ranges of interest in his hotel room. During this meeting, she accepted the offer of a drink, blacked out after consuming it, and awoke four hours later, still in this man's hotel room, to find that the back of her ear had been punctured and was bleeding. There was no evidence of a sexual assault. The man glibly evaded this woman's requests for an explanation. She has since found two adjacent puncture marks behind her ear, which are not healing properly, and between which she can feel the presence of a "wire" measuring approximately 1/4" in length. We are pursuing this further.

The said DoE Project Manager has more recently initiated contact with yet another activist in touch with this Association. His call was unsolicited. He apparently wanted to know if this woman would be attending an upcoming conference. We have warned the individual to avoid any form of private meeting with the said Project Manager.

To date, we are aware of three cases involving clandestine behavior on the part of alleged DoE employees. The CIA figures prominently (if peculiarly) in the majority of our other cases. Two of those have been discussed above.

In another, also involving auditory input, the individual is certain that the current Director of Central Intelligence (DCI) participated in the "voice transmission" process on at least one occasion. She claims to have recognized his voice. When she commented aloud on the DCI's perceived involvement in this experimentation, the "voice" responded with stuttered and stammered denials. We are told that this particular "voice" has not been heard from since.

In yet another case involving auditory input, the individual has allegedly been informed by her "voices" that the technologies being used against her were stolen from the CIA by a maverick employee, whose group is now targeting her from a distance of 2,000 miles. She reported this to the DCI's office and was allegedly informed by the Deputy DCI that she will be awarded millions of dollars if she can produce the equipment and any of the personnel involved in her harassment.

One unusually-candid CIA spokesman also allegedly informed this individual that, "while the CIA does not deny having this equipment," they "do not use it in this country" Perhaps this explains why a number of our contacts have also been electronically harassed while traveling overseas.

This woman has also been repeatedly assured by CIA DDS (security) personnel of the Agency's sincere concern for her welfare. During a recent telephone conversation with that Office, we confirmed that she is indeed known to the CIA. Based on this, we asked that the Agency "put its money where its mouth is," so to speak, by conducting a long-term electronic sweep of this individual's premises. That was two months ago. No sweep has been conducted, though CIA spokesmen continue to "sympathize" with her predicament.

Another individual, a target of harassment and experimentation since 1952 (apparently singled out because of his student activism while at Penn State University) began hearing "voices" after having most of his teeth capped. He has more recently been informed by his "handlers" that implanted devices are no longer used for purposes of inducing auditory input. No explanation was offered. He was quite visibly surprised when informed by this investigator that auditory input can be achieved solely by means of pulsed microwave audiograms (discussed in Part I of this report).

This individual's "handlers" allegedly have also stated that their experiments on U.S. citizens are in pursuit of a variety of objectives; viz.,

(1) develop an effective means for creating a perfect, "robotized" soldier;

Another case involves a woman whose experiences suggest that she, too, is an MKULTRA experimentee being kept on the books, so to speak. The woman, apparently a "pet" experimentee, found herself being introduced to a wide array of prominent individuals whose connections with the the CIA she believed to be quite apparent. One of those, she states, was Robert Jay Lifton, a well-known author and expert on brainwashing, whose books include The Nazi Doctors: Medical Killing and the Psychology of Genocide (Basic Books, 1986).

Her experiences included a voluntary ("referral") admission to Hollywood Hospital, Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, in 1973, during an era when MKULTRA experiments at the Allan Memorial Institute, McGill University, Montreal, Canada, were only beginning to capture the attention of the U.S. Senate.[8]

More recently, in 1990, she was transported to New York University's Cameron Medical Center, in Westchester, NY (under circumstances which qualify as an abduc

This woman states also that she has met Budd Hopkins, of the Intruders Foundation, and that she had had a long-term, confiding relationship with John E. Mack, Professor of Psychiatry, Harvard Medical School, and founding Director of the Center for Psychological Studies in the Nuclear Age (previously named, Research Program for the Study of Human Continuity; and, still previously, rumored to have cooperated with the CIA in studies of "human ecology").

At one point in their relationship, Professor Mack apparently accompanied this woman to a "support group" meeting of UFO abductees, who, she observed bemusedly, "spent their time comparing [extraterrestrially] implanted devices." Professor Mack is on record as promoting the perception that UFO abductions are legitimate.[9]

Based on this, we asked that the Agency "put its money where its mouth is," so to speak, by conducting a long-term electronic sweep of this individual's premises. That was two months ago. (1) develop an effective means for creating a perfect, "robotized" soldier;

(2) alter individual sexual preferences, such as by turning heterosexuals into homosexuals (they allegedly claim to be having "difficulties" reversing the process): and

(3) enhance or destroy levels of academic achievement, at will, such as by degrading the performance of otherwise brilliant students, and by drastically improving the performance of poor students.

Given the technology at the government's disposal and a predisposition on the part of certain governmental agencies to "play God" in experimental fashion with citizens' lives, these purported projects do not come across as being totally far-fetched.

Another case involves a woman whose experiences suggest that she, too, is an MKULTRA experimentee being kept on the books, so to speak. The woman, apparently a "pet" experimentee, found herself being introduced to a wide array of prominent individuals whose connections with the the CIA she believed to be quite apparent. More recently, in 1990, she was transported to New York University's Cameron Medical Center, in Westchester, NY (under circumstances which qualify as an abduction), where she was forcibly wrestled to the ground by approximately six Center staffers and forcibly confined for a period of approximately three weeks. She was neither psychiatrically counseled nor formally tested while in that facility. The psychiatrists assigned to her case appeared more intent on forcing her to take a combination of neuroleptic drugs, to include Haldol, Navane and Cogentin. (Haldol and Navane can cause tardive dyskinesia.) She resisted those attempts.

A court ultimately ordered this woman released from the Center, stipulating that she was not to be administered drugs. On subsequently acquiring her medical records, under conditions which prevented censoring or doctoring of those records, she found that her psychiatrists had planned to inject her with drugs (in defiance of the court order) on the day of her release. As luck would have it, she was released a day early.

This woman states also that she has met Budd Hopkins, of the Intruders Foundation, and that she had had a long-term, confiding relationship with John E. Mack, Professor of Psychiatry, Harvard Medical School, and founding Director of the Center for Psychological Studies in the Nuclear Age (previously named, Research Program for the Study of Human Continuity; and, still previously, rumored to have cooperated with the CIA in studies of "human ecology").

Professor Mack is on record as promoting the perception that UFO abductions are legitimate.[9]

We frankly doubt that extraterestrials who have a means to commute intergalactically would stoop to implanting comparatively primitive devices in human beings. However, should it be proved that the psychiatrist, surgeon and DoE Project Manager discussed above are extraterrestrials posing as humans, we will be happy to weigh that information. If it is similarly established that the vehicular "abduction" of the woman discussed above was the work of an extraterrestrial named Kaplan, who is posing as a human with Cornell Medical Center connections, we will be happy to ponder that as well.

In the meantime, it would seem reasonable that the government would want the public to believe that extraterrestrial visitations are on the upswing. Mind-altering drugs, externally-induced auditory input, holographic projections (also a DoD capability),[10] appropriately focused directed-energy targeting, device implantations, special effects and abductions are all within this government's capabilities and can be used for purposes of creating illusions of UFO experiences. Persons not cognizant of this might be more inclined to fall for the UFO mythologies now being officially "legitimized."

Other cases, possibly involving U.S. Navy Intelligence, NSA, the Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA) and, peripherally, members of former Soviet Bloc intelligence services will be discussed in future reports.

Harassment Objectives

In his book, Psychiatry and the CIA: Victims of Mind Control, Dr. Harvey Weinstein quotes the following passage from a book entitled, Battle for the Mind: A Physiology of Conversion and Brainwashing, by William Sargant (Greenwood Press, Westport, CT, 1957):

"'By increasing or prolonging stresses in various ways, or inducing physical debilitation, a more thorough alteration of the person's thinking processes may be achieved. ...If the stress or the physical debilitation, or both, are carried one stage further, it may happen that patterns of thought and behavior, especially those of recent acquisition, become disrupted. New patterns can then be substituted, or suppressed patterns allowed to reassert themselves; or the subject may begin to think or act in ways that precisely contradict his former ones.

"'...If a complete sudden collapse can be produced by prolonging or intensifying emotional stress, the cortical slate may be wiped clean temporarily of its more recently implanted patterns of behavior, perhaps allowing others to be substituted more easily.'"

Dr. Weinstein then comments: "The parallel with [Dr. Ewen] Cameron's theory of differential amnesia is striking, and the relationship to brainwashing is abundantly clear."[11] Dr. Cameron, employed by McGill University's Allan Memorial Institute in Montreal, Quebec, Canada, between 1943 and 1964, conducted brainwashing experiments upon select, non-volunteer psychiatric patients on behalf of the CIA. Dr. Weinstein's father was one of Cameron's victims.

Sargant's theorems and Cameron's associated experimental findings appear to be the driving force behind the harassment and experimentation now being reported to this Association. All of these individuals are being subjected to a series of overlapping circumstances which apparently are meant to induce and sustain long-term extremes of stress. All of these individuals have been effectively isolated. Unethical psychiatrists and physicians are involved in the majority of these cases. Mind-altering prescription drugs are being used for clearly non-therapeutic purposes. Evidence of LSD use is also beginning to surface (one of Cameron's favored mind-altering substances). And "psychic driving" techniques—Cameron's pet brainwashing method—are involved in all of these cases, to a much greater and more potentially effective degree where auditory input is involved.

The long-term objectives of these harassment and experimentation campaigns appear to be quite fundamental; viz.,

(1) induce a sense of perverted "loyalty" toward the very agencies engaged in the individual's harassment, to confuse his or her priorities where the possibility of obtaining legal redress might be concerned;

(2) redirect the targeted individual's feelings of hopelessness, anger and frustration toward racial and ethnic groups, and toward select, prominent political figures, to include the President of the United States; and

(3) force the individual to commit an act of violence, whether suicide or murder, under conditions which can be plausibly denied by the government.

An operation's ultimate success apparently hangs on this latter objective. We have successfully obstructed this process in a number of cases now being investigated.

The "Stalker" Phenomenon

In recent weeks, considerable publicity has been given the trauma suffered by victims of "stalkers" (persons who obsessively surveil, harass and, in some cases, kill targeted individuals for assorted, unfathomable reasons). Movie stars who have been stalked recurrently make the news. Stalking, as a problem, is in fact becoming widespread, to the point where, in some States, the activity has finally been specifically proscribed by law.

The individuals in contact with our Association are reporting the same terrifying ranges of experiences as are now being reported in the press on behalf of other victims of stalkers. The only difference in the cases reported to us is that the stalkers operate in groups over extremely prolonged periods of time, and (it would appear) with the blessing of certain agencies of the U.S. Government. The laws being passed to protect victims of stalkers are clearly being selectively applied. We hope to put an end to this situation; that is, in addition to achieving the objectives discussed above.

It should be noted that the FBI, though unwilling to intervene in the cases described above, recently intervened on a massive scale to protect Joy Silverman, a Bush-appointed trustee of the J.F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, from the ardent "stalkings" of her estranged paramour, Sol Wachtler, Chief Justice, Court of Appeals for the State of New York.[12]

Wachtler had apparently threatened to kidnap Silverman's daughter if not paid $20,000. Since no kidnapping had occurred, and the case qualified merely as an attempted extortion, a question arises as to why the New York State Police could not have handled this investigation. Mrs. Silverman resides in New York.

It would appear that the FBI devoted more than 100 agents and technicians to the effort, resolving the case within approximately 30 days. On November 7, 1992, the day of his arrest, Wachtler ran a gantlet of 80 FBI special agents on the Long Island Expressway. Apparently the FBI does not have enough to do, if staking out a lone stalker is their top priority. We have to wonder, of course, if the FBI's massive response was prompted by what was perceived to be Wachtler's usurpation of governmental stalking prerogatives.

Mrs. Silverman's $300,000 donations to Republican Party causes could be considered a basis for the FBI's solicitous concern for her welfare. It would appear, under the circumstances, that the "stalking victims" discussed above—being by now quite poverty-stricken—should abandon all hope of FBI intervention in their respective situations. FBI protection appears to have a price tag, which not one of our contacts can afford.

Obviously the man just described could not have carried a "microcircuitried" attache case aboard a U.S. airliner without first clearing Security. We are advised by a former CIA DDS (Security) employee that credential-carrying members of U.S. Intelligence can bypass airport security checks of their carry-on luggage.

[8] According to a Vancouver Sun archivist, Hollywood Hospital, Ltd. (a privately-owned institution), went out of business in 1975, two years after this woman's hospitalization and after approximately 30 years of doing business. The event coincided with findings by the U.S. Senate Church Committee concerning the CIA's brainwashing experiments under MKULTRA. Our contact also identified the Director of Hollywood Hospital as Dr. Ross MacLean—information also confirmed by the Vancouver Sun. Nothing in these records, copies of which are being obtained, points to CIA involvement with the hospital. Perhaps a portion of history has been overlooked. Cornell Medical Center's role in MKULTRA is a matter of public record. There can never be any justification for torture. It creates an escalation of violence in the internal affairs of states. It spreads like a contagious disease from country to country. It has lasting effects on the mental and physical health of the victim and brutalizes the torturer. It is our fundamental duty as human beings to express what is surely the conscience of humanity and to eradicate this evil.
