GENERAL INFORMATION:

At approximately 1025 hrs., on 10/02/17, I arrived at the "Route 91 Harvest Festival" venue at the "Las Vegas Village" area at 3901 S. Las Vegas Blvd., as part of a follow up investigation into a mass homicide/mass casualty event. Numerous personnel from LVMPD and the FBI were present at the time of my response.

I was assigned to photograph and document the southwest corner of the venue, west of the main stage. The area west of the main stage was a backstage area for performers and support staff.

An east-facing trailer labeled "Rte. 91 Dressing Room One" with a sign for "Jason Aldean" was lining the west perimeter border of the venue. A second east-facing trailer was easterly parallel to the first and labeled "Rte. 91 Dressing Room Two" with a sign for "Jake Owen." A south-facing trailer labeled "Rte. 91 Dressing Room Three" with signs for "Josh Abbott Band" and "Big & Rich" lined the north perimeter of the northwest backstage area, and was located north of

Follow Up to Mass
Incident: Homicide/Mass Casualty
Location: 3901 S. Las Vegas Blvd.

Event Number: 171001-3519
Date: 10/2/2017

Dressing Rooms One & Two. "Dressing Room Four" was another south-facing trailer was easterly adjacent to Dressing Room Three, and bore signs for "Artist Settlement" and "Dee Jay Silver." A small trailer housing restrooms sat facing south, just east of Dressing Room Four.

A large white party/food tent occupied the area just east of Dressing Room Two. The tent was outfitted with seating/lounging areas, food stations, and bars. A faux lawn was set up along the east face of the party tent. The centrally located faux lawn was adorned with tables & chairs, outdoor lawn games, and decorative faux greenery. Several pieces of the decorative faux greenery had been knocked over. A bullet fragment [Item #2] was found on the ground next to one of the outdoor games north of and near the northeast corner of the party tent.

A series of three motor coaches—vehicle 2, 3, & 4—were parked facing south, just east of the central faux lawn. Vehicle 1 was parked facing west in front (south) of vehicles 2, 3, & 4. Vehicle 2 had an awning extended on the west side, and a small faux lawn that abutted the central faux lawn of the party tent.

A piece of knocked over faux greenery was propped up against the front of vehicle 1. An apparent penetrating bullet hole [labeled RV1] was observed in the front of vehicle 1 below the "T" in "PREVOST" and just south of the knocked over greenery. Vehicle 1 had additional apparent penetrating bullet holes on the left (south) side—one [labeled RV2] on the left wall of the pop-out expansion below the window, one [labeled RV3] on the same left wall pop-out expansion to the rear (east) of the first hole, and another hole [labeled RV4] on the left wall of the motor coach behind (east) of the pop-expansion and nearer the roof. A bullet fragment [Item #1] rest on the pavement just south of the front of vehicle 1.

Vehicle 4 was the east most south-facing motor coach. Two apparent perforating bullet holes [labeled RV5 & RV6] were located in the front right (west) window to the rear of the motor coach door. An apparent penetrating bullet hole [labeled RV7] was located on the right side of the motor coach below the same damaged window. Another apparent penetrating bullet hole [labeled RV9] was located on the right side of the motor coach, behind the window and near the roof. Another apparent penetrating bullet hole [labeled RV10] was observed in the top front (southeast) corner of the left pop-out expansion of vehicle 4. Inside vehicle 4, there were holes in the blinds covering the front right window next to the front right passenger seat that corresponded to those in the window [labeled RV5, and RV6,]. Another window was located behind the front right passenger seat that served as a divider between the front driving area and the living spaces of the motor coach. There were multiple impacts [labeled RV8] on the glass of the dividing window behind the front passenger seat. Debris littered the floor behind the front right seat, the driver seat, and the walkway to between the two front seats that led to the living spaces.

The main stage was located east of the motor coaches. Two west-facing temporary buildings lined the west side of the stage. The south temporary building bore two apparent bullet impacts—one [labeled RV11] was on the west face of the building near the south end, and the other [labeled RV12] was on the west face of the building near the north end.

Other trailers and temporary buildings lined the south perimeter of the venue as well as the area behind the stage, but no apparent impacts or observations of evidentiary value were readily apparent.

PHOTOGRAPHY

I took overall digital images of the area to which I was assigned and the scene as previously described. I photographed the aforementioned apparent bullet holes with and without scaled markers, and the aforementioned items of evidence marked with orange cones. SCSA C. King #14372 also took digital images of this area.

EVIDENCE

I collected and impounded the two previously mentioned bullet fragments, Items #1 & #2. Please see the Evidence Impound Report for details.

Nothing further at this time.

SCENE INFORMATION:

I arrived at this location at approximately 0200 hours with CSA II T. Paine P#14793 after initially responding to the command post at South Central Area Command. We also returned to this location at approximately 0902 hours to continue with scene documentation.

Las Vegas Boulevard South was oriented north-south and Mandalay Bay Road was oriented east-west. North of the intersection, there were four northbound travel lanes, a center median with landscaping, a southbound left turn lane, four southbound travel lanes, and a southbound right turn lane. East of the intersection, there was one westbound right turn lane, two westbound travel lanes, a median, two additional westbound travel lanes, an additional median, and two eastbound travel lanes. A wedge/triangular-shaped traffic island was located near the northeast corner of the intersection between the central portion of the intersection and the westbound to northbound right turn lane from Mandalay Bay Road to Las Vegas Boulevard South. At the northeast corner of the intersection there was a north-south oriented pedestrian walkway with a south facing gate labeled "Gate 1" that led north into the venue at Las Vegas Village. Both halves of the gate were opened outwards (south) on my arrival. The gate and east edge of the walkway consisted of a chainlink fence covered with green mesh. There was a banner also covering the mesh on the portion of the fence north of the gate. At the south end, the fence angled southeast then south around a palm tree. The west edge of the walkway consisted of a block wall.

consisted of crowd bleachers at the west central side, additional food vendors to north of the bleachers and a large three story VIP Coca-Cola portable suite structure in the northwest corner. Food vendor stands were at the southeast corner to the east of the stage with multiple additional large three story VIP Coca-Cola structures along the east central side.

Two large artificial grass turf plots were at the southern end of the grounds in front of the stage on the west and east sides. Asphalt was on all sides of the artificial turf areas. Metal railings were in between the stage and both the grass turf plots. The metal railing near the stage began near the outer edges and ran towards the center extended platform. The railings then turned northward to form a narrow central walkway with railings on the east and west sides. The central walkway ran north from the extended stage platform and separated the east grass turf area from the west grass turf area. The central walkway led to the stage control booth area at the central portion of the festival's southern half. The stage control area also had the same metal railings as the walkway and stage area on the west, north and east sides. To the north of the stage control area was a small container structure set up as a bar. One large shipping storage container was to the north of that bar. A second bar was on the north side of the shipping storage container. One standalone Maui Jim storage container was to the north of the northern bar between the grass areas.

Both the west and east artificial grass areas had large lighting and speaker towers at the center of their respective northern ends. Smaller bar areas with tables were on the north sides of the speaker towers. The east and west artificial grass turf areas and the areas bordering them were designated as the southwest and southeast quadrants of the festival grounds.

The Route 91 Harvest Festival grounds had a very large amount of trash debris and personal items including cell phones, purses, wallets, various types of clothing on the ground. Upon arrival strong winds were blowing causing trash and personal items to be moved across the grounds. Blood stains were located throughout the festival grounds, primarily on the green artificial turf plots, metal railings, the areas beyond the metal railings near the stage and central walkway and across the asphalt ground of the venue.

THE STAGE:

The stage's extended platform northern end had a large shield symbol with "91" markings on it's face. A drummer station was in the southwest corner of the stage behind the musician platforms, while a keyboard station was in the southeast corner of the stage. Metal ramps led from the floor of the stage upwards along the sides and behind of the drummer and keyboard stations.

There were five hexagon shaped musician performing platforms scattered near around the stage in front of the drummer and keyboard stations. The easternmost hexagon shaped platform on the stage to the north of the keyboard station will be labeled as platform #1 for the purposes of this report. The next platform to the west/southwest of #1 will be #2. The hexagon shaped platform that was west of #1 and #2 as well as south of the north extended platform will be #3. Platform #4 describes the hexagon shaped platform southwest of #3 and north of the drummer station. The westernmost platform will be platform #5, which was also north of the drummer station.

The off stage area to the west of the performer's area had numerous musical instruments, red metal railings, road case kits, tables, chairs and various items. A large north facing partition separated the northwest corner of the stage from the back west off stage area. A red metal railing partially separated the stage's west end from the west off stage portion.
