

CORONA-HOAX HAD ENOUGH YET?

This blog page, with all it's historical archived pages contains everything anyone would want to know about the pandemic crisis.

I have also written two groundbreaking books. The first was an international best seller that was BANNED BY AMAZON, making it necessary to re submit it with a bullshit cover and title to get it past their censors. After 3 months on the best-seller list they BANNED IT AGAIN AND STOLE MY ROYALTIES!

The original title was "Covid-19 and Induced Anaphylaxis."
 The covert title was "Curious?"

Inside I reveal information you won't hear anyplace else. I explain exactly why and how ALL VACCINES cause injury.

On April 9th, 2022 I self-published my second book, "What Now?" which includes a vax injury treatment protocol, but please DO NOT follow that. While the book contains other good information, I have since been able to test the protocols effectiveness and found it to be lacking, however I have since learned what DOES work and in testing that I saw, and documented, extraordinary results. The new approach reversed a terminal vaccine injury case.

You can review my results here:

I want to cover one simple thing today, and give you an educated opinion on something FEMA is testing on Wednesday, October 4th. I realize that is TWO DAYS away from today. My timing was deliberate, I have been sitting on this information for quite some time now.

There are a couple reasons for that.

First, and probably most important, I have been burying myself in a research bubble the last month, actively trying to gather some credible information about an area of science that people largely know absolutely nothing about, so that anything I talk about has something that can be verified backing it up. This blog is not a fear-porn fire hose. If anything I try to defuse uneducated speculation here and limit my discussion to activities and events that actually should be noted and remembered, and in some cases, actively monitored.

We all have limits on our bandwidth. I have a lot fewer of those than you probably, so I invest my time educating myself as much as I can in areas that require a lot of time and effort to understand, with the goal of being a credible expert in those areas. I have earned a reputation for being able to do that, and I regularly challenge the experts peddled out as such to the public. I selectively attend presentations and participate on panels with other people who are there to evaluate information entering into public discourse. Because I know what questions to ask I frequently win debates with recognized "experts". If their knowledge is biased or lacking in some way I will expose that every time, so my opinion is often sought out and respected by those that ask for it.

Unfortunately, this is not one simple thing. I am going to be forced to touch on a number of other areas that have a relevant cross over that must be considered. You will not be satisfied with the extent I cover those other areas because this post would go on forever. I will however provide a deeper dive into each very soon. This is a "need to know" article.

Let's get into it.

FEMA TO BLAST ALL SMARTPHONES , TVS, RADIOS WITH MASS ALERT TEST ON OCTOBER 4

<https://www.zerohedge.com/markets/fema-blast-all-smartphones-tv-radios-mass-alert-test-october-4>

On Oct. 4, the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) will push mass alerts across the nation on every television, smartphone, and radio with a notice that USA Today said would read:

"This is a nationwide test of the Emergency Alert System, issued by the Federal Emergency Management Agency, covering the United States from 14:20 to 14:50 hours ET. This is only a test. No action is required by the public."

FEMA's last test occurred in 2021 during the Covid pandemic. At the time, the emergency agency sent test alerts nationwide, causing all phones, televisions, and radios to blast an annoying sound.

But its much more than that...

THIS IS AN ILLEGAL HIGHLY SUSPECT EXPERIMENT

<https://www.bitchute.com/video/kGA1WixbiBAV/>

Listen to Mark Steele explain the REAL purpose of this FEMA PSA. My advice? Don't be anywhere near a big crowd at this time and turn off your devices when they blast this message out.

So what is this... really?

Emergency broadcasting systems are in use practically every day, and they have proven themselves to be very useful and important systems. In this case however, consider who is using it. FEMA is not your friend. FEMA is a human livestock management agency, literally. FEMA is deployed whenever there is a need for political damage control and population herding, so nobody with a preference for self-preservation should follow any advice FEMA offers. FEMA reduces a problem by reducing YOU to balance an equation.

The information I provide here and in my book can save your life.

The system FEMA will be testing has a dual purpose. You know the publicly stated purpose: Keep you informed in the event of an emergency. The covert purpose is signals processing that deploys the weapons of electronic warfare. These are weapons you cannot see that cause things you can see, effects that will be explained away mostly as predicable and more or less normal. This is to maintain the secrecy around black project "proof of concept" experimentation.

It can be hard to differentiate between a proof of concept phase and a deployment phase. Typically, common sense will tell you that if a thing happens but it happens in a scattershot or incomplete way, that points more to a testing situation. If a thing happens and the effects are dramatic and unprecedented, that points towards the event being an active deployment. These is a very general and shallow basis of determination, but its all you really have unless you are either involved in some way or have directly specialized or compartmentalized operational knowledge. I have a bit of the latter.

Factually what we know is since March of 2020 there has been a very visible governmental preoccupation with constructing and implementing a myriad of facets supporting a global bio-security super state. There is absolutely no credible reason for this, so like climate change agendas, the entire operation is a smoke screen. A big part of this is the "One Health" campaign being shoved down everyone's throat by the WHO. This includes programs full of people they will tell you are tasked with monitoring and swiftly reacting to biological threats of every kind, and their answer to any they claim to find will come from the Bill and Melinda Gates foundations and its horn-headed evil twin, the GAVI Alliance. Their role will be to deploy "disease firemen" to the scene armed with rapid response testing kits they manufacture to confirm their lies and ultimately, forcefully inject you with a miracle antidote they also manufacture, which they will magically come out with in less than 100 days.

These remedies will undergo no prior testing of any kind, certainly no human testing, and you can expect them to be as lethal, but likely more lethal, than anything produced and distributed as a response to covid.

If you were just born yesterday, covid is a fictitious illness. Covid is radiation sickness and vaccine injury. These people cause every problem they address, NEVER FORGET THAT.

Apple Tells Support Staff To Remain Silent On iPhone Radiation Concern

<https://www.zerohedge.com/technology/apple-tells-support-staff-remain-silent-iphone-radiation-concern>

That shockingly offensive little rodent, Yuval Harawi, has been gloating publicly on behalf of Klaus Schwab, about the amazing capability they intend to bring into reality once you are transhumanized, to "biologically hack you like the animal that you are". They will know what you are thinking, control your behavior, and manage everything you need to live while taxing you for it. This includes food, shelter, air and water. This is the product of the "4th Industrial Revolution". As the modern day Robber-Barons they see themselves as, if you fall out of whatever line they instruct you to cue up in, you will be punished by depriving you of whatever meager allowances they graciously provide, up to and including your right to live.

This is not an exaggeration.

Figuring out how to do exactly this has been the purpose of every grant-funded "philanthropic" penny since the idea first occurred to them in 1922! Today, the fruits of all of those labors have been harvested and installed, pretty much everywhere they need to be, so choosing what to do, how much to do, and the timing of those decisions is all that remains. The details of how this will be accomplished are possible to uncover. I know a lot of these details now, but there are only a handful of people who play the connect-the-dots game at this level. I am aware of three and in contact with two, so hopefully that gives you some idea how effective their game of misdirection has been.

I do not scare easily, but I admit, I have had my moments. This is a credible threat completely outside of anything you or I can control, but let that be a source of serenity if you can. I will give you one more. As dangerous as the world has recently become, even this sort of thing has its challenges. I can't see these plans working out as they expect them to. What I can see happening, what I fully expect to see, is a lot of collateral damage, because they cannot back up now.

Pass or fail, the die is cast.

THE HUMAN BIOFIELD IS A BODY PART

You have been told it does not exist. If you believe it does you have been calling this your aura and a bunch of other things. It is real, and you can even take a photograph of it using Kirlian photography, which is a photographic technique used to capture images of electrical coronal discharges. has an quantifiable, measurable electrical output of about sixty watts. All bodily process are powered by this energy, and approximately 80% of that is used to power your immune system.

This energy can be co-opted, hijacked, and even harvested, to power other systems like internal nano bio-sensors as well as external systems linked to weaponized AI. You heard me right, but I realize you probably don't believe me... YET.

Despite your skepticism, (which I encourage, because without it you would have no reason to listen to me or investigate more), you have been hearing all kinds of people talking about all the ways they will use the data they collect in every possible way to manipulate this system. This includes using YOU, as the backbone of an entire system that has been in place and functioning since 2005, they just don't talk about what that system is.

It is an invisible body part called The Human Biofield.

The slide below is from an IEEE meeting that took place very close to where I live, in Alexandria, Virginia in the spring of 2022. The presenter is explaining electronic drug delivery within the larger context of biosecurity, within which, "health monitoring" plays a huge role. You can watch that conference here if you choose: <https://rumble.com/v3ks9wd-september-25-2023.html> There is also an Easter egg you might be able to find in the comments section that I placed there.

- Transmitted signal
→ Drug Injection in the blood
- Channel → Drug Propagation in the cardiovascular system
- Received signal → Drug Delivery at the targeted location (healing)

These researchers are giddy with excitement as they come ever closer (they think) to eradicating all disease via remotely operated electronic means. In this mythical utopia, everything from drug administration to actual surgery will be possible to accomplish via telemedicine.

Now think about that for a minute, because they haven't done that. Here's what they are selling:

Imagine yourself feeling bad. You reach into your pocket, whip out your cell phone, call up the "feel better" app and mash the green button. But it gets even better, now there is no app, no cell phone, no telemedicine chat bot, no diagnosis. The state will monitor your health and ensure you are in tip top shape from cradle to grave. In this fantasy nobody even knows healthcare is, its just something that happens.

But we know better. We know that if there is a choice where something like this can be used for good or evil the evil use prevails. Anything you can fix can also be broken with the same multi-tool. If there is any functioning grey matter at all left in your head the pattern you ought to be able to recognize by know is one in which good people advocate and fund the evil use, while the benefits they thought they were going to get never materialize, forever remaining in development - but just around the next corner so long as the cash flow continues.

Show me your flying car, free energy, your hover board, the cure for cancer (I have that by the way). In reality, we never receive any of the benefits which are the reasons given to do all kinds of research. But reality is not where they want you to be. They want to you dream of better things. As long as you are asleep, all you will get is more forms of torture, because we were never intended to be the beneficiaries of such efforts. Once a thing can be weaponized, that is what its use is.

In "Wellville" you never meet that guy from the government who introduces himself to you claiming to be there to help.

Right now you do... Whenever you skip a vaccine. That's why vaccinations are just a way to get this ball rolling.

But whether you are vaccinated or not you are infested with biosensors. We ALL are. They are simple devices, nothing like that Mark of the Beast chip Christians are afraid of, and you have literally been eating them and inhaling them since 2005. They have been raining down from the sky, and sprayed on you. They are in every blade of fucking grass now and you had no idea this has been going on, so don't freak out. You ain't dead yet. Right?

The Bio-API is a real thing, trust me on that.

The problems all begin when someone starts flipping switches, logging in, and adjusting the settings on pull down menus included with the interface, and like every piece of software you are familiar with, you access them by purchasing paid subscriptions and signing license agreements.

Why is the IEEE involved? Well, that is the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, and what they do, among other things, is establish the standards for things like the communications protocols used by Wi-Fi enabled devices.

The 802.15.4 protocol is assigned to Bluetooth biosensors!

The 802.15.5 protocol is assigned to wireless body sensor networks!

The 802.15.6 protocol is assigned to Wide Area Body Networks (WBAN)!

This is a pay-to-play, fully commercialized industry you never knew existed, just like your own Biofield, and the state sponsored military, the same one who executed Operation Warp Speed, has an all access pass. What was that about? Well, if you don't know you are probably dead already, but for the sake of those who aren't, it was about executing YOU.

Think this is all defense contracting? Think again. Amazon bought a subscription to this. Amazon AWS can "mesh" with any Body Area Network for its shipping services.

Now We Come To the Meat Of This Article.

(Finally, right?)

This week's FEMA broadcast will either be something or nothing. There have been a lot of alarms sounded by people in the alternative media about this being a dangerous trigger signal. Most of them have a poor understanding of what they are talking about, so this includes people like Todd Callendar and basically any fucking doctor, who by the way, cannot be more unqualified to voice any opinion on this whatsoever, so tune them all out.

I know Todd and used to talk to him frequently, but lately he has been hard to reach. I intend to correct his understanding of how all this works, but I have other priorities as well, so he will either get back to me or not.

These people are expecting widespread breakouts of Marburg, viral releases, and bioweapon activations of all kinds. I like a lot of these folks, some are friends. Some of that has a basis in reality, but unless they have everything correct, and I mean everything, they are a mini-skirt wearing teenager in an auto repair shop telling the mechanic what's wrong with their car.

But all the attention they have been grabbing has put a lot of people on alert, which is not good if you are Dr. Evil and prefer to work in the shadows when nobody is watching.

As doctors go I do like Dr. Lee Merritt. She is no dunce, and because she has actual work experience in advanced bioweaponry research anything she is concerned about is at the very least something you should consider. Lee is doing what I am doing, which is powering down my home at the master circuit switch and leaving town without any devices, to get as far away from people and cell towers as she possibly can. I know that's next to impossible to do on short notice in the middle of a work week. Which is why this test is not being conducted on Sunday afternoon during a holiday weekend. That aside, where does one go? I can't completely isolate, but I can go camp out in a low density area with spotty cell service. That will have to suffice.

There are three main areas of concern with respect to this event:

Nano Payload Releases:

There is a technology out there that has been in use for a lot longer than most people realize, so the high risk groups listed below are ones I am certain of, but I am also sure there are many more that are potentially at risk as well. It involves the use of nano spheres as payload carrying structures. These are manufactured using various meta materials that vary in terms of their durability. Nobody with an optical microscope has ever seen one of these things directly. At three to five nanometers in diameter you need an electron microscope to see them at all. Interestingly, they most resemble the cartoon representation everyone has seen of a spike protein covered cell.

High risk groups include

1. Since 2020, all vaccinated people (this includes Quadrivalent flu shots and nasal sprays).
2. Since 2020, any recipient of a blood transfusion.
3. Since 2018, anyone that has received medical injectables like insulin, or required them to undergo a recent surgery. This includes common dental anesthetics.

The weakest structures were used in early covid vaccines. They ruptured in the vials during transport or at some point after they were thawed out, radically increasing the lethality of the solution, and this resulted in what most of you recall as "hot lots". Those who received injections from these vaccine lot numbers had as much as 600% higher instances of death and permanent disability. I covered all that in archived posts as it happened and throughout the scamdemic.

The structures with the best shelf life are made from carbon silica and are as hard as a ceramic pot. All types are full of perforations that are plugged up by a synthetic molecule called Rotaxane, which ensures that whatever payload the structure carries, it is securely kept inside this box. These nanospheres can harbor any sort of payload that will fit inside of it, anything but a virus, because there is no such thing as a virus. Other possibilities include all kinds of poisons, acetates, antigens, additional bio-sensors, heavy metals and other toxic chemical agents.

As with all extended release medical drug applications that utilize Rotaxane, the molecule is dissolved with a specific resonate pulse modulated electronic frequency, which allows the contents of the nano sphere to be released. Bottle open, Genie out. This is the basis of concern for anyone waiting on the "next one" that Bill Gates alluded to with an evil smirk on his face.

But what you have to understand is that discrete symptoms can be dialed in by manipulating the Biofield. This means that the doctors that will be diagnosing what they see going on as a list of symptoms that match up with this or that, failing to understand that a signal like this is causing them to appear. So they will be used as pawns once again, being fooled by a SIMULATION of an illness

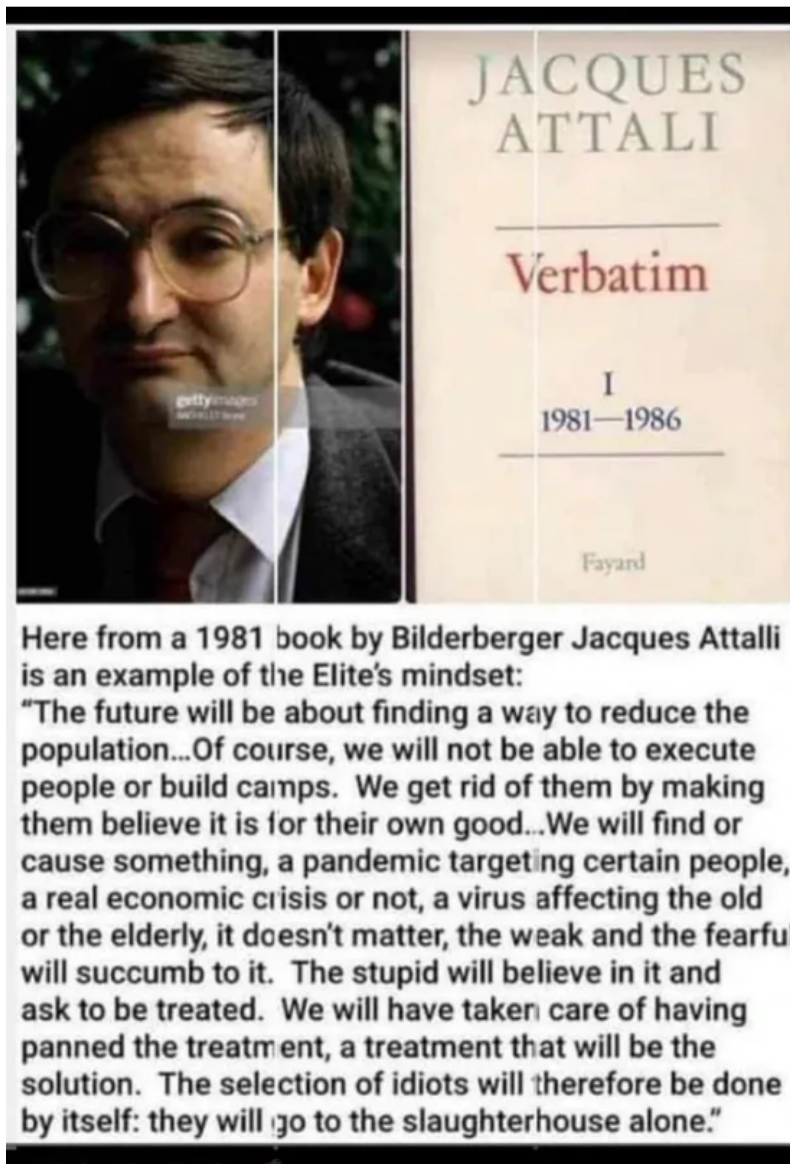

So the minute Todd Callendar hears about someone bleeding out their eyes he is going to scream "Marburg!" Its not Marburg, Todd. It is simply bleeding eyeballs, and you can't catch it unless they also aimed this signal at you. What's worse, is doctors will immediately try to treat whatever they think they see, and if nothing they try fixes it and they complain about that, because they will -- Presto! Instant incurable pandemic of international concern, cue the disease firemen, the covid measures, then out comes the vaccine for it a week later.

These effects can impact everyone susceptible to it in a targeted kill box as easily as they can be directed at just one person through the use of their personal unique identifier. If you got swabbed during the scamdemic you can be sure they have yours on file, because it is derived from your DNA.

What do you think all those low power Blue tooth signal emitting people are broadcasting? Its their exact location and unique identifier.

And here's another newsflash for ya: They don't need a cellular infrastructure to dial you up on the network, because YOU are the network. The guy next to you can just as easily transmit that trigger signal! Now maybe you see why the viral variant narrative works so well. Nobody sneezed on you. You got zapped.

I don't think they are ready just yet to launch the "big one" Its more likely they will cause a small event to encourage more biosecurity measures and re-train you to follow covid measures all over again. I have also heard rumors about this being postponed until later. October 11th was one such date going around. But if the WHO gets their treaty in place, like they plan to next summer, then all bets are off.

Excessive Radiation Risks:

This is one very good reason not to be in a large crowd or surrounded with devices capable of receiving this message. Remember, this has never been done before. Imagine you are at a football game, big stadium, everyone has a phone in their pocket. Add to that every hackable human. Now you are in a microwave oven with 10,000 cell phones all on calls when the oven is turned on. That CAN'T be healthy.

We fry ourselves constantly, but not like that. Consider the common situation below, which is why people frequently feel shagged out after a long road trip:

FMS - THE RADIOLOGICAL TRAP SYSTEM

<https://www.bitchute.com/video/TnWDSo7Mnpw/>

Putting it together yet? Geez, I hope so. I don't know how more obvious I can make this.

Power Consumption And Grid Stress:

This is what Mark Steele mainly warns people about. Pay attention to Mark. Listen to everything he says, because unlike so many other babbling grifters Mark is an actual expert and highly qualified to talk on the subjects he covers. This same sort of test was supposed to happen in the UK not very long ago, but it didn't come off as planned, largely due to awareness efforts made by Mark and others who have become more technologically adept.

This kind of signaling requires a LOT of power. Or does it? We are talking about lighting up literally hundreds of thousands of devices simultaneously. Your phone is always busy, but its not always using a lot of power or creating a lot of emissions. But when your phone gets a text it powers UP from standby mode.

If we are using the cellular network to send a message than yes, that does put stress on the entire power grid. Your phone has a battery to make it light up, but the tower does not. To send that out once it takes whatever that takes. But multiply that number by however many devices need to get the message and you will see transformers catching on fire.

According to Mark, it can potentially be enough to collapse it. The estimate inside the UK was 300,000 devices would be pinged. But in the US that number is tens of millions. I don't think anyone knows what problems that might cause. Will we see a few outages? Widespread and/or long lasting blackouts? Remember, blown transformers have to be replaced. it's not like there is a forty cubic mile warehouse of them stacked up in a pile.

And what about the smart meter on your home? Those things are mostly cheap Chinese made junk, and they catch fire all the time. Check out groups like the "InPower" movement and learn how many people lose their house each year because of these firetraps. It may surprise you just how common the problem is.

One last thing, the MSM has been priming the pump predicatively. It is full of talking head dummies clamoring over the threat of Russian cyber hackers and how they are all conspiring to launch a cyber attack on the US that cripples the country and returns us to the stone age for 10 years cause "Russian man bad".

I'll say it again: These people cause every problem they address, NEVER FORGET THAT.

I hope I have given you some valuable information today. But if not, go listen to others talking about this.

Either way, please help out the cause and share this, or something like it, to everyone you can. Let them make up their own mind. Personally, I don't care if anyone believes me or not. Even inaccurate fear porn can have a positive effect by creating backlash the perps have to deal with.

The enemy wants you DEAD.

They prefer you commit suicide, but ANYTHING that gets that done is on the table, and they have plenty of stealthy ways to do the job now. We The People need to unite against this threat. They will always shoot you in the back, so stare at them and let them all know...

WE SEE YOU.
WE KNOW WHAT YOU ARE DOING.
DO ANY OF THAT,
AND YOU WILL NOT GET AWAY WITH IT.

Thank you for your explanation of things. It is all pretty confusing! your presentation is very clear. I like your attitude. you're attitude; realistic but encouraging.
Is there anything that disables this nano stuff? I have heard Borax and Chlorine dioxide. I take Borax. Supposedly it rusts out the lil' nano critters. I also ordered AEON 213. have not taken it but think I will start!
We are not vaxxed but I believe you when you posit that we all have this filth inside of us from air food and water. I just wanted to thank you for your efforts.
