To Orthodox Christians, to all citizens of Russia celebrating the Bright Resurrection of Christ

April 12, 2026

Congratulations to Orthodox Christians, all citizens of Russia celebrating the Bright Resurrection of Christ.

The great feast of Easter fills hearts of millions of people with sincere joy, faith in the all-conquering power of life, in the triumph of love, goodness and justice, unites us around the centuries-old patristic traditions, indisputable spiritual, moral values and ideals.

A huge creative role in preserving our rich historical and cultural heritage, strengthening the institution family, the upbringing of the younger generations is played by the Russian Orthodox Church, other Christian denominations. Religious organizations conduct a large, In-demand work aimed at improving constructive interaction with state authorities, harmonization of interreligious and interethnic dialogue in our country, support the participants of the special military operation, their families. Such an important, multifaceted activity is worthy of the deepest recognition.

I wish you health, prosperity and all the best.

Happy holiday!

Vladimir Putin
