

A "Nobel Torsion Message" Over Norway?

Part I

On the eve of the President of the United States, Barack Obama, receiving the Nobel Peace Prize in Oslo, Norway ... a remarkable, almost unbelievable apparition appeared over Norway's northern skies--

And no one ... really ... has a clue.

According to early news reports coming out of Norway, just hours ago ... a vast, rapidly expanding "spiral" suddenly appeared in the pre-dawn skies over its northern-most town, a fishing center called "Tromso" (above). Moments later, a corkscrewing "blue beam" seemed to emanate from the exact center of the spiral toward the ground ....

Then, as rapidly as this "glowing spiral" and central "beam" appeared ... the bright core of this rapidly rotating spiral abruptly disappeared ... to be immediately replaced by what could only be described as --

A pitch black, rapidly enlarging circle (below) -- looking eerily like "an expanding black hole ..."

Within a few more hours, these extraordinary Norwegian videos and digital images were being picked up by other on-line news services, wire services and internet sites ... all over the world.

Another "indispensable wonder" of the 21st Century Internet ....

Initially, this visually spectacular event was thought by experts looking at those videos and images to be "just another Russian naval missile test"--

Until the Russian Navy denied it was responsible!

But then, in an abrupt public reversal, the Russian Defense Ministry suddenly claimed that this was, indeed, "a Russian rocket launch ...."

This belated (and 180-degree) lagging Russian "admission," unfortunately, has all the appearances of a hastily-ordered cover-up--

Of something "far more interesting" ....

The possible demonstration, on the literal eve of Obama's arrival in Oslo, of a blatantly public "Hyperdimensional/Torsion Physics technology" ... somehow, also connected to President's Obama's imminent acceptance of his Nobel Prize--

In conjunction with a carefully re-scheduled Russian missile test ....

Is it another "coincidence" that, just over the hill from Tromso, lies a high-tech Norwegian "HAARP antenna farm" -- the EISCAT Ramfjordmoen facility (below) -- specifically designed to broadcast powerful beams of microwave energy high into space ... thereby also creating blatant HD/torsion side-effects in the Earth's highly-electrified upper "plasma" atmosphere (ionosphere)? The facility is officially supported by Norway, Sweden, Finland, Japan ... China ... the United Kingdom ... and Germany.

A technology which -- with minor engineering effort -- could just as easily be turned into an almost unimaginable "torsion interferometry weapon" of mass destruction ... which, in a stroke, would usher in an even more terrifying "arms race" for the entire world ... if militarily deployed!?

Is this astounding apparition, in fact, a "Nobel message" to Obama ... as the most visible and currently powerful Peace Prize nominee in decades ... to alert him to the necessity of reining in these "even more horrific 'torsion weapons of mass destruction'"--

While there's still time?

A torsion weapons technology which -- if utilized inside the Earth's electrified atmosphere -- would appear just like the mysterious "vortex apparition over Norway" ....

Stay tuned.

A "Nobel Torsion Message" Over Norway?

Part II

By Richard C. Hoagland
© 2009 The Enterprise Mission

The spectacular aerial display appearing in the skies of northern Norway a few days ago -- still receiving incredulous reactions from around the world -- has generated a tidal wave of speculation:

"Was it a failed Russian missile?"

"A UFO?"

"Or ... another clandestine test of HAARP (the High Altitude Auroral Research Project which, it turns out, has several not-so-well-known facilities scattered across northern Scandinavia -- a Project steeped in its own multi-layered technology, mysteries and speculations ...)?"

The curiously delayed Russian admission that it had, indeed, conducted another routine missile test on Wednesday morning (when the mysterious "light spiral from Heaven," as papers in Norway are now referring to it, appeared), did nothing to quell this "speculation explosion"; in fact, it only added fuel ....

As we reported in Part I, when initially queried by Norwegian media, the Russian Navy, and the Russian Embassy in Norway, denied all knowledge of the phenomenon -- as well as any rumored "missile tests" they may have been conducting in the same time frame and area.

Only a day later did an AP story finally appear -- quoting the Russian Defense Ministry's eventual, official statement that, indeed "a Bulava missile was launched Wednesday by a nuclear submarine submerged in the White Sea ... and its third stage suffered an unspecified failure ...." (below). The story underscored, however, that this "limited official Ministry acknowledgement" did NOT directly link that missile failure with the growing "Norwegian Spiral" story.

Noted AP--

"... the ministry did not confirm the lights were the result of the failed launch ... but [independent] military analysts said they clearly came from the Bulava explosion [emphasis added] ...."

This very carefully-worded official Defense Ministry admission (which has been misinterpreted by America media as "confirming that the Spiral was caused by their errant missile" ...), also accurately reported by Norwegian Television, raises serious new questions about the underlying facts and context surrounding this entire, extraordinary display ....

But -- perhaps not quite as many as the sudden appearance of this even more obvious "anomalous aerial phenomenon" (below) ....

Quoting:

(MYFOX NATIONAL) - It's a bird? It's a plane? Media reports indicate that hundreds of people spotted what appeared to be a triangular-shaped UFO flying in the skies above the Red Square in Moscow.

The Daily Mail reports that two separate amateur videos were shot, one during the day and one at night, that show the same object in the sky. The UFO made its appearance on Dec. 9, the same night mysterious lights were spotted in Norwegian skies [emphasis added] ....

The same night ....

* * *

The simultaneous appearance of two "UFOs" ... the still mysterious "spiral light over Norway" -- and that same day/night -- a "massive flying triangle," floating serenely over the heart of downtown Moscow--

Both obviously linked to Mother Russia--

Can hardly be treated as "a mere coincidence" ....

However, in the meantime, back in Norway ....

Below are the official parameters of the Bulava (Russian for "Mace") ICBM (also known as the "SS-NX-30" in NATO parlance); as can be seen, it is a three-stage, solid propellant launcher, carrying as many as ten independently targetable nuclear warheads (MIRVs). The latter are housed in a "maneuverable liquid-fueled canister" (or "bus") attached to the third stage -- which separates after burnout and, by maneuvering with small thrusters, positions each warhead during coast for its own reentry ... to its own designated target.

It is the liquid fuel carried in this MIRV "bus" (atop the three-stage solid fueled missile underneath) which is the focus of attention for those now totally believing that the amazing Norway display was simply caused by "this liquid fuel ... being sprayed out in a dramatic spiral into space, as the out-of-control third stage of the Bulava missile spun out of control across the Norwegian skies" ....

Apart from whether this Russian rocket caused the amazing Norwegian light show, given these parameters of the Bulava ICBM, the timing of its latest test raises some extremely serious political questions re the real relationship between the leadership of the Russian Federation ... and the Obama Administration.

Like:

"Why would the Russian government conduct another launch of a new, offensive missile system -- and in the immediate vicinity of Norway -- on the literal eve of the President of the United States arriving in Oslo to accept his Nobel Peace Prize?"

Or:

"How would that Russian missile ... from a submarine supposedly located some 600 miles away from northern Norway (in the White Sea region - see below) ... even be visible (according to all reports ...) from only the comparatively tiny geographical region in western, northern Norway ..?!; if a missile caused the Spiral, why wasn't it also seen in Sweden ... Finland ... even in some western sections of northern Russia itself -- in those, also-beautifully-dark, because-the-sun-never-even-rises-at-this-time-of-year ... pre-dawn skies?!"

A quick look at a polar projection of this nominal "Russian arctic missile range" reveals exactly why these are distinctly "non-trivial" questions ....

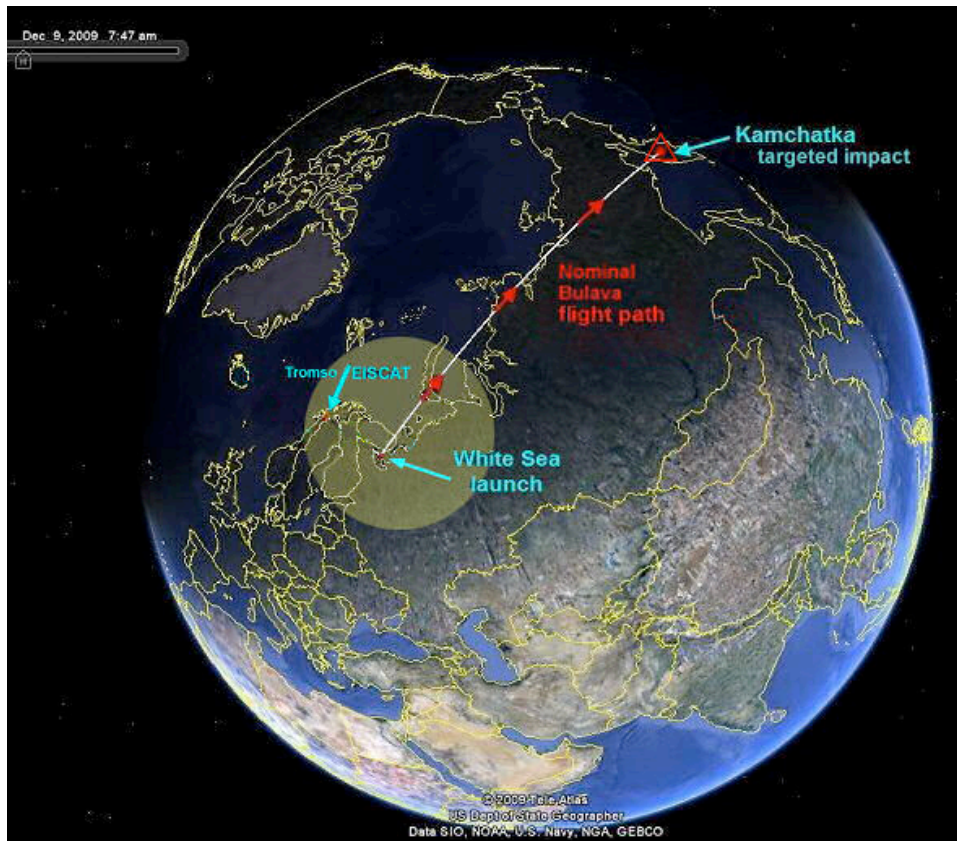

As can be seen, if the first and second solid-rocket stages of this three-stage, sea-launched ballistic missile each fired successfully (as the Russians staunchly now maintain ...), the thrust from the first two stages would have taken the rising 38-ton Bulava several hundred miles to the northeast ... and to an altitude in those first 2 minutes of flight (check the burn times for stages 1 & 2) approaching 100 miles -- more than high enough to be seen by anyone (weather permitting) over an area of literally millions of square miles ... covering northern Norway, Sweden, Finland ... AND Russia!

Why then -- if the "spiral" was simply the product of nothing more exotic than "a spectacular failure of the Bulava's third stage bus ..." -- wasn't it reported and photographed by literally tens of thousands of folks scattered across these northern nations ... home to potentially millions of curious on lookers ...?

Most (these days) equipped with inexpensive, ubiquitous cell phone cameras ..?!

A better way to see this profound contradiction -- between the official military "explanation" (Russian and Norwegian ... with Sweden and Finland's military being deafeningly quiet ...) is to refer to a helpful 3-D visualization (below).

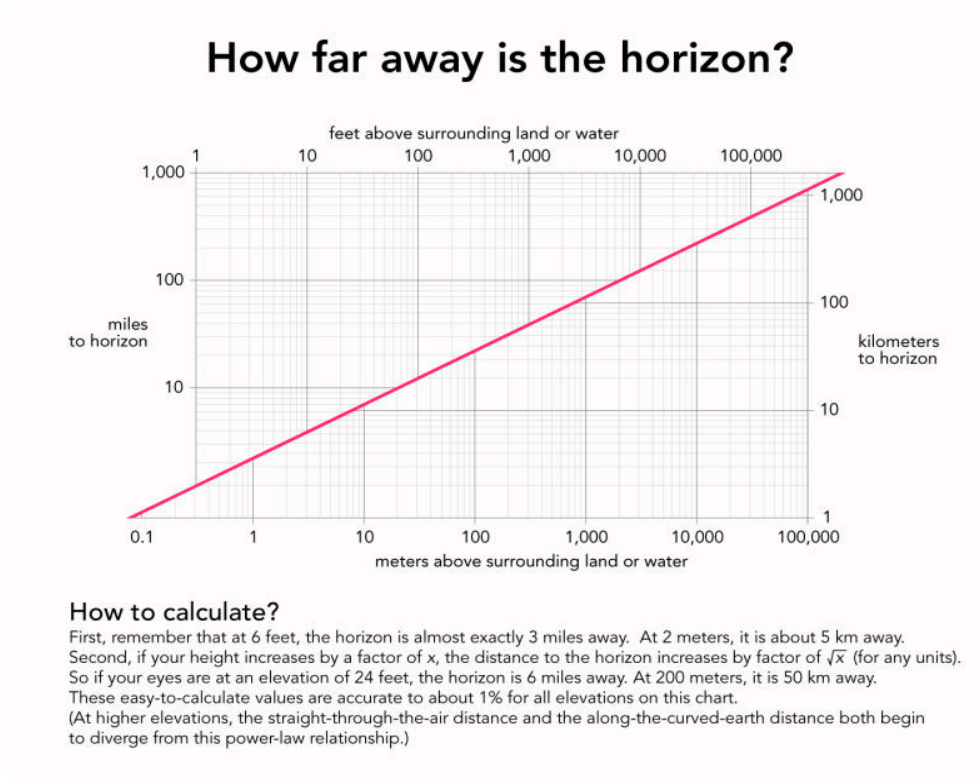

This is the northern hemisphere, as seen from a point in space located roughly over the latitude of Tromso, Norway (site of many of the original reports) -- at ~70 degrees N.

As can easily be seen in this projection, any Russian intercontinental ballistic missile fired from a submerged submarine located at the coordinates provided by the Russians would be visible at second stage burnout (~100 miles altitude) over a HUGE surface area underneath its trajectory (the yellowish circle) ... which would have then shifted ... northeast ... following the intended flight path toward Kamchatka ... an instantaneous viewing area spanning over 1000 miles in radius!

This simple geometric reality can be confirmed by anyone equipped with a small calculator and a basic knowledge of the openly published Bulava flight parameters.

Or, if you're too lazy for that ... simply refer to this handy graphic (below) on Wikipedia:

And, for those who have trouble believing that a rocket launch several hundred miles away could be seen at all, here's an actual photograph (below) -- taken of a White Sand's "pre-dawn, solid-rocket missile test" ... from over 300 miles!

And here's another (below) -- a post-sunset launch from Vandenberg AFB, seen from San Diego, CA (about 250 miles away). The rocket here is a Boeing Delta 4 (with 4 strap-on solids for extra thrust, that burn for the first 78 seconds before dropping away).

Note how the contrail is initially dark (below the shadowed clouds), before the upwardly accelerating rocket bursts into sunlight ... still shining several thousand feet above the darkened launch pad ... and the contrail suddenly turns bright.

Note further how narrow the contrail appears, compared to the visible width of the crescent Moon (approximate 0.5 degrees across); a little trig, and one can easily calculate the contrail's own physical width ... even though it's also ~250 miles away.

The key, of course, is having that critical angular comparison ... and knowing the distance and direction to the launch -- three key parameters missing in all the early Norwegian reports ....

A closer comparison of the same launch (below) ....

After a few minutes, this initially thin contrail expands ... twisting itself into exotic and highly colorful geometries (caused by light-refracting ice crystals at high altitude - below) -- as it is also blown around by strong upper atmospheric winds.

One of the first solid (sorry ...) scientific confirmations that the "missile theory" for Norway might, in fact, be correct ... is contained in the series of published Norway images taken after the Spiral itself had disappeared--

Leaving only a strange "blue mist" hanging in the sky ... "aimed" at a brilliant white, twisted linear formation ... hovering just over the pre-dawn Norwegian horizon--

Looking exactly like the expected contrail of a solid-fueled rocket launch (closer view, circled - below)!

Here's a striking ultra-close-up (below) ....

Sure looks like the aftermath of a missile launch ....

The next test of "the missile theory" would be to determine the actual azimuth of this tell-tale contrail ... and compare that against the known azimuth of the White Sea launch site (according to the Russians) as seen from northern Norway, for the Wednesday "Bulava problem" ....

After countless hours of searching the Internet, finally ... a breakthrough--

An anonymous poster on one of the (many) Internet chat rooms that erupted after the Spiral's appearance -- someone actually doing some real science -- had managed to track down the geographical location of perhaps the most spectacular published image of this early morning apparition (below)--

Using Google Earth, this anonymous individual had then gone on to locate several daytime, matching surface shots of the unique "sawtooth range" seen prominently directly under the Spiral in the photograph ... obviously, taken from very near the Spiral photographer's location (below).

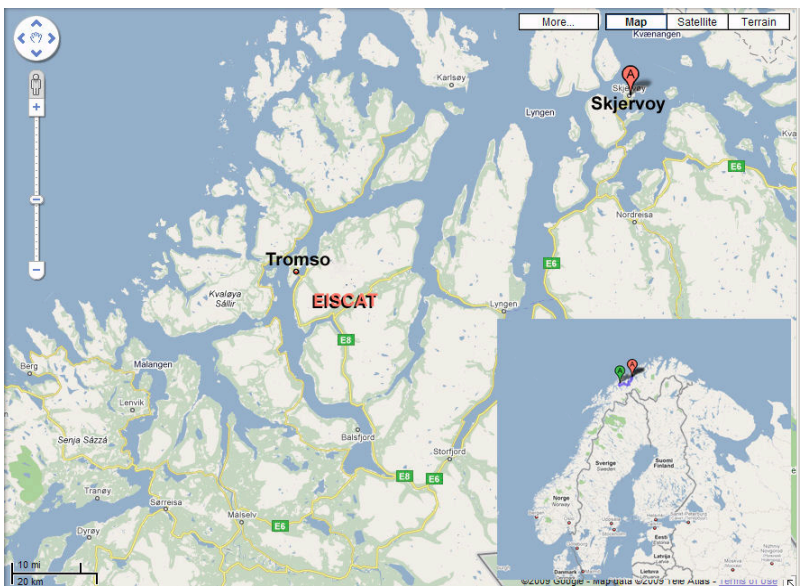

And, a Sawtooth Range close-up:

When composited together (below), the evidence was compelling:

This spectacular, time-lapse "Norway Spiral" image was NOT (as the original press reports led everyone to believe ...) taken from Tromso. Instead, the widely-circulated "Spiral Photograph" had actually, it turns out, been photographed from a location even farther north ... from a tiny fishing camp called "Skjervoy" -- located about 55 miles ("as the crow flies ...") northeast of Tromso (below).

Armed with this vital additional information, it was then a simple matter to go to back Google Maps, and plot the precise azimuth to the top of this suspicious contrail -- peaking over the "sawtooth range" of mountains seen across the fiord ... to Skjervoy's southeast (below).

The next step was to compare this result -- which read "about 21.5 degrees south of east ..." -- with the azimuth direction (~23 degrees ...) of the Russian's claimed launch-site for the Bulava ... "in the southern end of the White Sea, near Arkhangel" (below) ....

Allowing for the fact that the photographer was watching the Spiral over the top of the spectacular and jagged "sawtooth range" -- about 6 miles away from his camera -- and thus physically couldn't see the base of the inclined 1st-stage contrail on the horizon ... the ~1.5 degree northerly "error" from the actual pre-announced Russian submarine location is perfectly within the inclined ("depressed trajectory" is the technical term for the) geometry of a previous Bulava undersea launch (below)!

Here, from another anonymous post, is a 3-D recreation of this approximate launch geometry as seen from orbit (below):

While not super accurate, the general geometry is "close enough for folk music"; if his launch point is moved closer to Arkhangel (as the Russian pre-launch warnings indicated ...), the launch trajectory would also take it further east -- over the isthmus ... moving it even farther away from Skjervoy.

Which is where the observed altitude comes in ....

Because of the known geometry to those unmistakable mountains SE of Skjervoy, we can now measure all the critical angular and scale parameters in the Skjervoy Spiral image -- discovering that the 0.5-degree center of the Spiral (yes, it was about as big as a Full Moon, as witnesses also reported ...) hung almost 6 degrees above the mountains ... and was therefore about 12 degrees above the true horizon.

Which meant -- if the Bulava launch trajectory was ~600 miles east of Skjervoy -- and the Spiral was (somehow ...) caused by the malfunctioning third-stage of the rocket, the Spiral would have been about ~125 miles above the Earth when visible in that striking image taken from Skjervoy.

Again -- all totally consistent with the Russian's pre-launch announcement ....

Against all this mounting evidence, however -- that it was, indeed, the Russian missile that had caused the Spiral -- was one really major flat-out contradiction:

Repeated eyewitnesses testimony that "the moving light came up over the mountain ... and then came to a dead stop ... as it began to spin out this astonishing blue-white spiral ...."

How can a "rising rocket," coasting upward on its enormous momentum (imparted by the burning of literally tons of incredibly explosive fuel)--

Suddenly ... just come to a dead stop!

Answer: it couldn't.

If that behavior, indeed, happened ... it alone would automatically rule out anything as mundane as "a failing Russian rocket."

* * *

To test this "impossibility," Enterprise had to locate at least one good video from Norway (preferably more ...); by measuring the spiral's drift -- frame to frame -- across the sky on this video, we could determine geometrically if the eyewitness reports were true ....

That ... it didn't move.

We finally located the right video -- shot by a young Norwegian military serviceman, Christopher Rakoczy, posted to one of Norway's premiere military bases, at Skjold, Troms -- which, when analyzed frame by frame, revealed the unmistakable motion of the Spiral across Norway's pre-dawn northern skies--

In complete contradiction to the witnesses!

Here (below) are two sequential frames -- grabbed a few seconds apart--

Notice the motion of the stovepipe exhaust between frames (image left - above); the motion of the center of the Spiral is also very obvious (image - center)--

Totally undercutting -- in a stroke -- the misimpressions of multiple eyewitnesses ... with regards to the most significant detail of this entire amazing apparition ....

That "it stood still."

Here (below) is the overlay composite of these two revealing frames.

This elemental video frame comparison -- by unquestionably establishing that the Spiral continued to move slowly across the sky ... even as it rotated -- adds serious additional weight to the idea that, indeed--

The Spiral had been created by the out-of-control Bulava rocket ....

* * *

Case closed, right?

Of course not.

While we at Enterprise have independently proven to our satisfaction that the Russians did, indeed, launch a missile from the White Sea that Wednesday morning ... and, that the tell-tale signs of that event were unquestionable captured on both Norwegian images and videos of the Spiral and its aftermath--

What we have not established by this analysis is any physical evidence that the Bulava was, in fact, directly involved in the generation of the Spiral.

The only case that we ... that anyone ... is capable of making at this point -- based only on analysis of the trajectory of the Bulava -- is completely--

Circumstantial.

While the Russians, stubbornly -- despite all their [inevitable] test telemetry -- for some reason ... continue to refuse to officially link the failed Bulava with the appearance of the Spiral ....

Could they know something we should know ...?

Like--

This--

Which, again, appeared the same night as the Spiral ... but over downtown Moscow--

Stay tuned ....

A "Nobel Torsion Message" Over Norway?

Part III

Updated!

By Richard C. Hoagland
© 2010 The Enterprise Mission

In the extended pre-dawn darkness over Norway last December, as we have recounted in Parts I and II of this Report ... "something" truly amazing happened--

And reaction immediately divided into two totally opposing views:

Those who "bought" the official media story ... that "it was only another failed Russian missile test ..."--

And then ... those who thought "it just might be something else this time ...."

As we have shown previously, there can be little doubt at this point that a Russian rocket was involved.

But--

The conclusion that everyone has jumped to -- with the striking exception of the Russians themselves -- that, somehow, the Russians caused The Spiral--

Well, that's a "leap too far" ....

We can now report, based on analysis of the extensive imaging evidence reported via the Norwegian press, that The Norway Spiral was NOT primarily caused by "a failed Russian missile test ...."

But--

The failed Russian rocket could, in fact, have been caused by whatever forces "created the Norway Spiral ...."

This section of our on-going analysis will describe precisely "how."

* * *

The scientific evidence behind this growing set of suspicions -- that the Spiral somehow caused the Russian missile to fail -- lies in the extraordinary geometric structure that Enterprise has discovered within the too-perfect, too-concentric "shell-like rings" ... making up the Spiral (below)--

A key part of this "impossible" geometry consisted of four, exactly 90-degree darkened "reticle-like" divisions of the Spiral ... precisely separating it into four radiating quadrants (above - right) ....

Geometric behavior simply inconceivable for any "randomly rotating ... fuel-spewing third-stage rocket ...."

* * *

This "too-too-regular-geometry ..." can only be explained by the presence of--

Some kind of energy-induced, standing-wave-pattern in the Spiral ....

Creating--

Narrow, uniform-width concentric striations ... ordered in an underlying medium (the leaking third-stage fuel?) by an external "forcing 3-D energy pattern"--

Then, it hit me:

"Chladni Figures!"

Chladni Figures (or the more modern term "Cymatic Patterns" - above) are two-dimensional geometric shapes, produced (in a laboratory setting) by acoustic vibration of "fine material spread on a thin substrate" (the violin bow "drawn across the edge of the metal plate with sand on it ..." - above left); the figures appear initially as highly-ordered, basic symmetry patterns ... starting with circular, concentric structures (below) ....

The shapes then ascend into a "virtual infinity of much more complex, higher-order geometric patterns ..." as the frequency of the sound is increased, and the "overtones" (created by the mixing of multiple frequencies) increase as well (below) ....

And--

"Chladni Figures" are not limited to sound ....

These fantastic, vibrational, geometric symmetries can ALSO be produced by electromagnetic excitation of "a standing-wave pattern in an electrified medium -- i.e. a plasma" ... like the Earth's ionosphere ... some ~50 miles up.

Or ... like a standing-wave pattern externally imposed upon a cloud of dispersed aerosols ... just like those that would be vented into space--

From "a spinning, failing rocket!"

* * *

In all the Norway Spiral images and eyewitness accounts, all the observers seem to have been universally awed by the Spiral itself ... yet, most completely ignored the blatantly visible "scattering envelope" (below) surrounding this precision geometric figure ... in which the Spiral geometry itself actually "appeared" ....

It is this obvious "surrounding medium" in which TWO "fluid spiral-wave patterns" were created--

The first:

By the simple hydrodynamic process of "a rapidly spinning, jetting fluid container ..." -- spraying its contents in an expanding circle ... into the hard vacuum existing above ~50 miles ....

Our "... leaking third-stage Russian missile 'bus!'"

Producing this amazing Norway image:

This face-on "spiral geometry" has, in fact (as the sceptics correctly insist ...), been seen before--

In the failures of other upper rocket stages, during some of their launches (below). Our first example (below - left) shows a 1989 Chinese missile fiasco "at altitude" -- that immediately created a dramatic "spinning pinwheel ...."

In the second example (above - right), the 2009 Norway Spiral itself appears in its "initial moments ..." -- looking, and acting, EXACTLY like its Chinese rocket counterpart from '89.

Reinforcing our analysis in Part II -- that, at this early phase in "the unfolding Norway phenomenon," the normal fluid disintegration of "a failing rocket" would create EXACTLY what was seen.

Until--

It abruptly turned to this (below)--

And, no, the dramatic difference is NOT caused by "differing photographic time-exposures" (as William C. Treurniet elegantly has confirmed in his independent video analysis ... kindly called to my attention by Peter Gersten).

These two very different vibrational "modes," strikingly demonstrated in two comparison images (below) ... are due directly to "two distinct Spiral energy sources" ... arriving separately ... abruptly changing the original Archimedean spiral pattern of leaking fuel (below - left)--

To be specific:

In the Spiral image on the left (above) -- taken within the first few rotations (count them ...) of its initial appearance -- the spiral pattern is "irregular ... of varying width ... and has a peculiar corkscrewing blue beam aimed airectly at its face-on Center ...."

However, in the image on the right (above and below) -- taken only a minute or so later -- the "blue spiral beam" has developed a remarkable, elongated, "two-forked trunnion" ... which begins precisely where the last "right-angle blue corkscrew segment" ends.

A close examination of this exotic "spiraling beam" (left - below) -- compared to the later image (below - right) -- reveals that the outer blue "corkscrews" (those well away from the core of the big, face-on Spiral ...), starting at this "trunnion," are "leaning" progressively further away from the Spiral's Center ... the farther away they are from that Center ....

An obvious result of "an expanding fluid cloud " ... blowing outward ... past the material making up the "blue corkscrew," thus causing the increasing "tilt" of the more distant spiral corkscrew turns (below - right) ....

Until--

At the point where the first "blue vertical turn" and "trunnion" meet--

From, "a varying-width, fluid-like pattern ..."--

To--

"A precise, mathematically perfect--

Obviously, such a dramatic geometric change --- within a single fluid medium (the "hazy envelope" surrounding the entire spiral and its peculiar "rotating blue beam" ...) -- is only possible if some kind of "outside force" was suddenly being applied ... some external resonant energy ... to interfere with the original fluid-dynamics established internally, at the beginning of this sequence ....

In other words:

Some kind of "extremely advanced, electromagnetic (EM) technology"--

Such as HAARP!

Generating forces that could geometrically imprint (via the inevitable plasma-generated torsion fields ...) the electrified plasma/aerosol mixture that had been previously released at the edge of space ... flung out in all directions by the violently spinning, out-of-control Russian Bulava third-stage ....

Paul Murad, a mechanical and aeronautical engineer, and high-ranking Pentagon official under several past administrations in Washington, published an excellent popular review of Torsion Field Physics a few years ago, titled:

"Torsion Physics: A View from the Trenches."

In the course of this Review, Murad describes working with several Russian physicists who have been methodically seeking to turn the original, theoretical "Einstein-Cartan Torsion Tensor" into a workable, engineering technology for "torsion-field generation and manipulation ...." As part of this major engineering effort, at one key point Murad explicitly states:

" ... torsion [can be] right-handed or left-handed and is based upon a cylindrical field ... and can be created by large accumulations of electricity [plasma] and rotation of a body that if above a certain speed, would enhance the torsion field [below] ...."

And, the Norway Spiral was definitely rotating ... at a rate of about "one complete revolution per second!" And, undoubtedly, it was also highly "electrified" ... as a dense plasma "bubble" created at the electrified boundary between the upper atmosphere and space itself .....

Creation of highly-ordered, resonating "torsion fields" within that electrified plasma would have been inevitable, then ... even if such fields were not the original, primary objective of this vast "HAARP-like" event ....

A HAARP-induced torsion-field looking eerily like--

Our own Enterprise visualizations of much vaster torsion fields generated by the spinning Sun and orbiting planets ... across the entire solar system (below).

This, of course, is one of the scenarios we directly outlined in Part I -- that, somehow, the Norwegian HAARP facility near Tromso called EISCAT (European Incoherent SCATter Facility ...) was, indeed, "involved" in the creation of The Spiral ....

Now we had direct evidence from within the Spiral itself, strongly indicating that some kind of "external energy-field" had, indeed, been exerted on the Russian's "bus" escaping fuel; that, this "field-imprinting" had then immediately created a radically different, concentric, highly-ordered radial pattern ... compared to the previous fluid spiral--

An obvious, "resonant EM standing-wave ... strongly interacting with the fuel/plasma being released from the runaway Russian rocket ... creating a striking Chladni geometric pattern."

But, is there any direct evidence -- from the Norwegian HAARP itself -- that it could have been, indeed, involved in the generation of The Spiral ...?

Yes.

A couple days after Part I was posted, I received an e-mail from David Wilcock; David had been working independently on his own extensive analysis of the Spiral (which eventually turned into an E-book -- which I have deliberately not read, so that our efforts and our conclusions are truly independent ...).

In the e-mail, David shared the fact that one of his "informants" had just located the daily "power-level logs" of the Tromso EISCAT facility (below).

Could I use the info?

Was he kidding?!

And, indeed, according to the published logs (above), the EISCAT facility was, indeed, radiating both VHF and UHF EM radiation ... THROUGHOUT this critical 7:45 AM Spiral "window" on December 9th ....

In fact, EISCAT was specifically scheduled to carry out a high-power ionosphere dual-frequency experiment ... at dawn ....

An experiment called, provocatively, "Tequila Sunrise."

Dr. Anito Kero is one of the EISCAT scientists directly involved in the "Tequila Sunrise" Experiment. His 2008 University of OULU (Finland) Thesis Prologue describes the history and theoretical physics behind the T S Project:

"... after the Second World War, scientists started to explore radio wave heating techniques for modifying ionospheric conditions. The first megawatt-range heating facilities were built in the 1970s (Platteville, Colorado, USA and SURA, Novgorod, USSR). Especially the usage of a periodically heated ionosphere as a large-scale antenna for electromagnetic wave generation at low frequencies was studied extensively. In the USA as well as the former USSR, this research was motivated by the military requirement to communicate with deeply submerged submarines, although in practice, the capability of heating facilities for this purpose turned out to be insufficient [Barr, 1998]. However, scientific usage of active heating techniques expanded to various fields, some of them introduced in Section 1.2. New facilities were built for these purposes in the 1980s (Arecibo, Puerto Rico, USA; Tromsø, Norway; HIPAS, Alaska, USA) and most recently HAARP in Alaska, USA (1995) and SPEAR in Svalbard (2003) ...."

A bit further on, there is a section devoted to "Heating experiments today," which describes--

"... artificial optical emissions Heater-induced plasma turbulence ... responsible for artificial optical emissions similar to natural aurora [e.g. Brändström et al., 1999]. These emissions originate typically slightly below the reflection altitude and their intensity maximises sharply near the magnetic zenith direction. The brightest emissions are O(1D) 630 nm [red] in the F region and O(1S) 557.7 nm [blue] in the E region. [Kosch et al., 2007] [emphasis added] ...."

Which, of course, is obviously why someone couldn't resist calling at least one of those "heating experiments"--

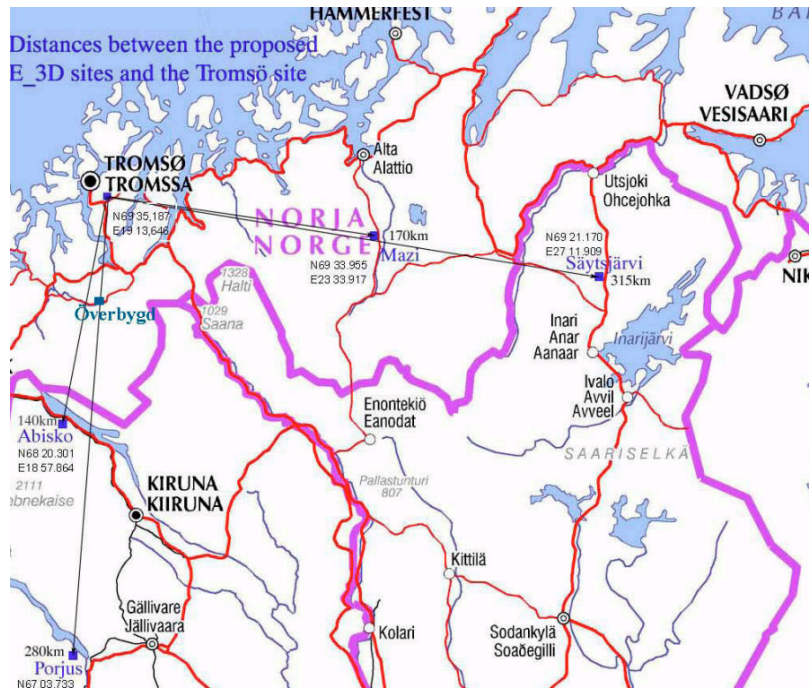

"Tequila Sunrise."

At the conclusion of his 2008 Thesis prologue, Kero notes--

"... in near future, the current EISCAT IS radars will be replaced by a new radar system consisting of multiple phased array antennas in northern Scandinavia and therefore providing a 3D view of the ionosphere at high latitudes. The EISCAT Heating will also be upgraded making it possible to design new heating experiments [emphasis added] ...."

In other words, with these upgrades the EISCAT facility -- in cooperation with other parts of "the northern Scandinavian HAARP antenna network" (below) -- could combine its beams ... and also project them (via their "phased array" technology) considerably off-axis ... towards the horizon.

* * *

Which, of course, is exactly the direction from which the Norway Spiral initially appeared ... southeast of EISCAT, just over that pre-dawn horizon ... as viewed from the geometric center of this (now operational) "northern Scandinavian HAARP Interferometer (above) ...."

The same direction that our own analysis has strongly indicated an EISCAT experiment could, indeed, have caused such a spectacular phenomenon -- that another, totally independent geographic analysis has also now confirmed.

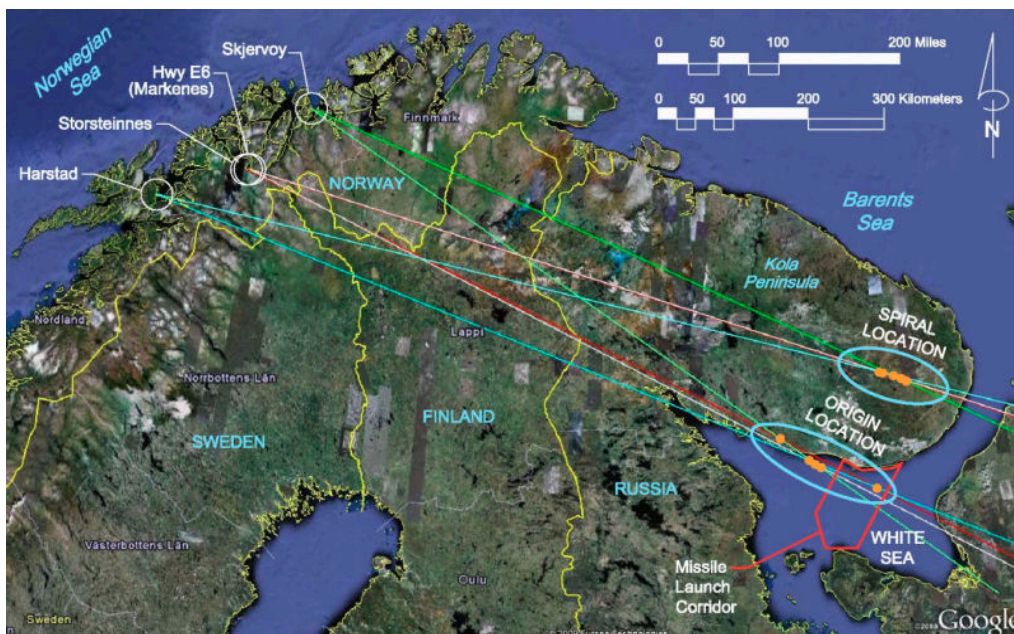

Tony Spell, a professional marine engineer, has carried out an exemplary study of the Spiral's origins ... flight path ... and ultimate disappearance -- seeking trigonometrically to learn exactly "where" the Spiral originated ... and where it was actually located as it evolved.

Spell's methodology (like ours in Part II) was to take Spiral images from known (or knowable) locations, orient the image with respect to recognizable surface landmarks in Google Maps (below), and then measure those now-known angular alignments with respect to key geometric features of The Spiral ....

From multiple sets of images, taken from multiple locations in northern Norway (below), Spell ultimately calculated his "best convergence estimate" of the Spiral's geographic location when it first appeared--

Over the eastern end of Russia's Kola Peninsula -- just north of the White Sea (below)--

Reassuringly, just about where our own initial analysis positioned it (below).

As a cross check, repeated, independent sets of "location measurements" have been carried out over the past several weeks by Enterprise Associate, Greg Ahrens (with the invaluable assistance of Mike Blackburn, who supplied some of the key images and crucial information direct from Norway); again, within the errors inherent in these images, Ahrens' alignments nicely converge on the same Spiral locations (plus or minus ...) as Spell's measurements (below).

When perspective is rotated ~90 degrees, and these "best-estimate" locations over the Peninsula are plotted against time--

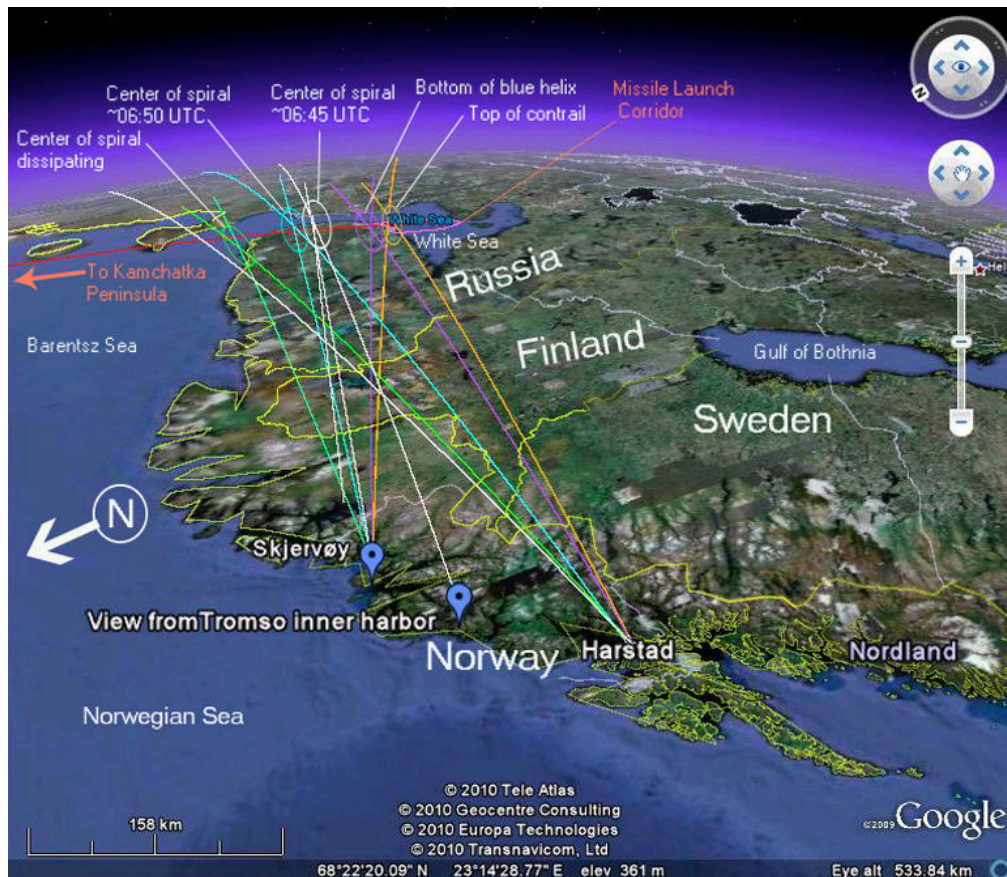

Another "impossible" fact about this entire baffling phenomenon is resoundingly confirmed:

Eyewitness reports that--

"The Spiral stood still!"

At the height of the events -- between 06:45 UTC and 06:50 UTC (below) -- according to these combined, independent measurements, the Spiral only moved laterally north (right to left) by ~20 miles!--

Essentially motionless ... exactly as reported by the witnesses!

Which, of course, is impossible--

For "a simple, malfunctioning third-stage rocket ... supposedly traveling ~9,000 miles per hour" at that point in its projected flight!

Our most dramatic evidence yet that "something," indeed -- a bona fide torsion weapons technology -- somehow "reached out" and literally grabbed the Russian rocket test that morning ... brought it (in seconds!) to a virtual halt ... in mid-flight ... and then forced it to literally "turn cartwheels in the sky, as seen from northern Norway ...."

Similar sets of quantitative image measurements were what allowed Spell -- again, independently -- to carefully calculate just "how large" various elements of the Spiral were, as this amazing phenomenon unfolded ....

In Spell's own words:

"... we now account for the effects of the Earth's curvature, which becomes very significant over these large distances of sight. Projecting the line-of-sight values downrange over an imaginary flat 2D surface, as was described above, the altitudes are taken perpendicular to the Earth's surface resulting in values A through E of 79, 107, 146, 160, and 166 miles (127, 172, 235, 257, and 267 km). Note that the typical orbit for the Space Shuttles is generally in the range from 186 to 242 miles (300 to 390 km) above the Earth, with the top of the dissipating spiral and void clearly into this range. These results [below] combined with the 2D path [above], thus defines the 3D trajectory of the center of the spiral ...."

According to Spell's straightforward calculations, the Norway Spiral was somewhat less than 100 miles across ... when it first appeared (above). As it "died," it expanded rapidly to almost 400 miles across (above) ... the size of several major States!

Spell's own comparison is perhaps even more appropriate:

" ... so in a sense this spiral can be likened to a hurricane ... projected vertically on its side [emphasis added] ...."

A vast, spiraling "hurricane" of--

Propagating torsion ....

On the official United States Naval Research Laboratory "HAARP site," computer simulations are presented for the electrical and magnetic interactions that HAARP's ionospheric heating pattern creates above Alaska -- in the electrified, ionospheric "plasma" above ~50 miles -- heating powered by the "megawatts of interfering RF beams" being radiated skyward from this type of HAARP antenna array (below)--

The result:

An expanding, spiraling pattern ... ultimately as big across as Alaska itself ... and, looking eerily like--

The Norway Spiral turned horizontal!

Which, if you examine it carefully (above - right) is also -- in direct contradiction to the widely-publicized "expert" opinion, that the Spiral was visible only because of pre-dawn sunlight -- in fact, this astonishing ~100-mile-wide apparition was obviously NOT being solely illuminated by the Sun!

The Spiral was also self-illuminated ... from the center outward (note the decreasing brightness ... and outwardly-facing shadows of successive "rings" ...): another confirmation of the high-energy "artificial optical emissions" created specifically by HAARP ... interacting with the escaping, sunlit fuel-turned-to-plasma from the disintegrating Russian missile ....

* * *

In a sense, then, BOTH "instant audience viewpoints" on this astonishing phenomenon -- that "it was only a Russian missile"; and that "it was a top-secret energy weapons test of HAARP" -- would seem to have been simultaneously correct!

It WAS the Russian missile, after all ...

But-

With some "extraordinary help" from the Scandinavian "High Altitude Auroral Reseach Project" ....

Once you know what to look for, the evidence that HAARP -- for some reason ... and somehow (more on this below ...) -- "took control" of this Russian missile-test that December 9th pre-dawn ... is everywhere--

Like ... in the divergence angles of the puzzling "blue corkscrew" that emmenated from the face-on Spiral's Center; as can be measured in this Spiral image (below), the angular-increase-with-distance of this blue "corkscrew" corresponds exactly with the famed "inverse square law" of standard 3-space EM radiation -- providing additional support that "some kind of beaming technology" was, indeed, being applied to the "leaking and rotating Bulava third-stage fuel residue"--

Thus -- creating the precise, resonant Chaldni Pattern seen in the final phases of this spectacular "Event" (below) ....

Further indications of this "outside force" comes from an abrupt, measureable change in the Spiral's flight trajectory ... exactly coincident with the "Chladni Pattern" being externally established (below)!

This direct measurement -- of "an abrupt ~11-degree-angle-course change" in the Spiral's path, once the HAARP RF excitation is "turned on" -- is confirmed by overlays of successive Spiral images (below)--

These simple measurements all confirm a dramatic, sudden application of external energy to the leaking fuel from the initial missile failure

... transforming it into the resonant, vividly geometric Chladni figure that suddenly spread out across the Norwegian skies ....

Strong evidence that HAARP, indeed, "took over" this Russian Bulava missile ... in mid-flight--

Via a torsion force -- created by the intense interaction of the HAARP EM radiation and the plasma gyrations created in the ionosphere as a direct result of that intense, beamed RF radiation--

Conditions ideal, as published in the open scientific literature, for creating highly-energetic, resonant torsion-field effects (below) ....

* * *

Further proof of this "applied external Torsion Force" is also blatantly evident in "how the Spiral died" (below) ....

With the sudden disappearance of its previous, amazingly coherent geometric spiral pattern -- at the precise moment--

It was abruptly replaced--

By what many astonished witnesses described as "... an expanding black hole" (above)!

Again--

All consistent with a scenario where "the third-stage Russian bus suddenly just ran out of leaking fuel" ... and the exterior "energizing field" -- the external HAARP beams creating the intense Chladni pattern seen resonating that diffuse fuel-cloud -- also, simultaneously, was killed--

Leaving only an expanding (and rapidly disappearing) "aerosol fuel ring ..." (below) -- looking just like a classic "black hole"--

Still speared by that "baffling blue corkscrew beam" ... hanging in the air.

Remarkably, as noted above, many of the conclusions reached in this Report have been independently reached by other investigators, via several other routes; one investigation -- carried out by Dan Elder -- provides compelling independent evidence that the Spiral, indeed, was most likely "a direct consequence of HAARP."

Elder reprints portions of an e-mail he received from "a known Naval source," someone intimately familiar with the Alaskan HAARP Project -- both the visible site ... and another one, that's "hidden!"

The source observes--

"... when I saw those photographs and movies of the spiral in the sky over Norway I knew right away what it was. Especially when I saw the blue spiral going up towards the huge white one. We saw that when they 'tested' the heater [in Alaska] on the flats.

"You [sic] got to understand how this thing works. It's kind of a two stage thing. The first stage is where they send increasing power through the antennae farm which is really a phased array. The antennae are all sending out a powerful signal on the same frequency but they are all slightly at a different phase ...

"Anyway the next phase is when they send up the very low frequency transmission. This is the blue spiral. You can actually see the individual waves, or spirals, because it is what is called an "extremely low frequency" bandwidth. A complete cycle at this low a frequency can be miles long. That's what you see. It makes the atmosphere glow blue. You can see it at night [emphasis added] ...."

A post-script:

One of the many e-mails Enterprise has received over the last few weeks, in reaction to our early reporting on The Spiral, describes an amazing first-person account of something eerily similar, seen over the nighttime deserts of the Southwestern United States many years ago--

"... I have my own version of the Norway spiral missile story that took place 10-12 years ago, though what I saw was not a spiral but a square pyramid of light [see drawn illustration - below].

"I was in my mid- to late-teenage years driving with some friends to San Diego from Phoenix in the middle of the night over the desert. The night and the hour escape me as I write this, though I know it was in the year 2000. On the way to San Diego on interstate 8, I suddenly saw a blue/turquoise beam appear in the sky and a growing light start to emit from the head (not the tail). Rather than see a spiral, as depicted in many of the photos from the Norway incident on enterprisemission.com, this was a square 'pyramid' of light that slowly grew and grew until it was so large that it could no longer be seen. The square was divided by lines reaching from corner to corner, as though looking at a pyramid from the air straight above its peak.

"The odd thing was, even after the pyramid had grown/faded to the point of invisibility/indistinguishability, the blue beam remained in the sky and eventually faded away. I remember the whole incident taking about 30 minutes with the beam appearing first for a couple of minutes, the pyramid appearing and growing for another 15 or so, and then the beam fading away (it seemed to be affected by the wind, like images of missile con trails I've seen before) for the next 15 or 20 minutes. I don't know anything about the Norway "missile" or how long it lasted, but I can't describe to you how similar the images are to what I saw, with the exception of the spiral effect [emphasis added] ...."

The witness submitted his remarkable sketch of what he saw (below) ....

Which was--

Another obvious "Chladni Figure"--

Eerily mirroring NASA images of a dying star's powering of its own "Chladni torsion plasma geometry"--

5000 light years away.

* * *

At this point then, we have six main lines of evidence that the Norway Spiral was NOT -- contrary to the major efforts of the mainstream media to "sell" it--

"Just another Russian missile test ...."

That it was, in fact, that--

Plus -- "a LOT, LOT more" ....

Because of--

- 1) The startlingly artificial internal geometry that appeared, simultaneous with the obvious "Chladni-like standing-wave-pattern" the Spiral suddenly assumed ...
- 2) The sudden, confirmed (from two separate studies) "directional change" the Spiral's Center underwent ... just as this standing-wave-pattern "took physical control" ....
- 3) The fact that "something" -- measureably -- brought the Russian missile almost to a dead stop ... and then MADE it "spiral" ....
- 4) The instantaneous disappearance of this internal Spiral resonant geometry -- when, whatever external energy source was powering its striking vibrating interference pattern (being conveyed via whatever was also creating the "spiral blue beam ...?") ... was abruptly "killed."
- 5) Discovery that power-logs for EISCAT the morning of December 9, 2009 reflect an on-going, active experiment in progress ... covering the time when the Spiral first appears.
- 6) Discovery of a specific "pre-dawn HAARP experiment" -- previously scheduled for December 9th, termed ironically "Tequila Sunrise."

* * *

Was this, then, why the Russian Navy ... and then the Russian Defense Ministry itself ... initially denied there had "even been a missile launch"... only to then grudgingly admit "da, it was ours ...." [though, they still firmly (if curiously) deny that "the missile was responsible for the Spiral ..."]?

Was Premiere Putin, in fact, belatedly covering (after he looked at the telemetry ...) for what really happened with his carefully-timed "pre-Obama Peace Prize" missile test ... December 9th?

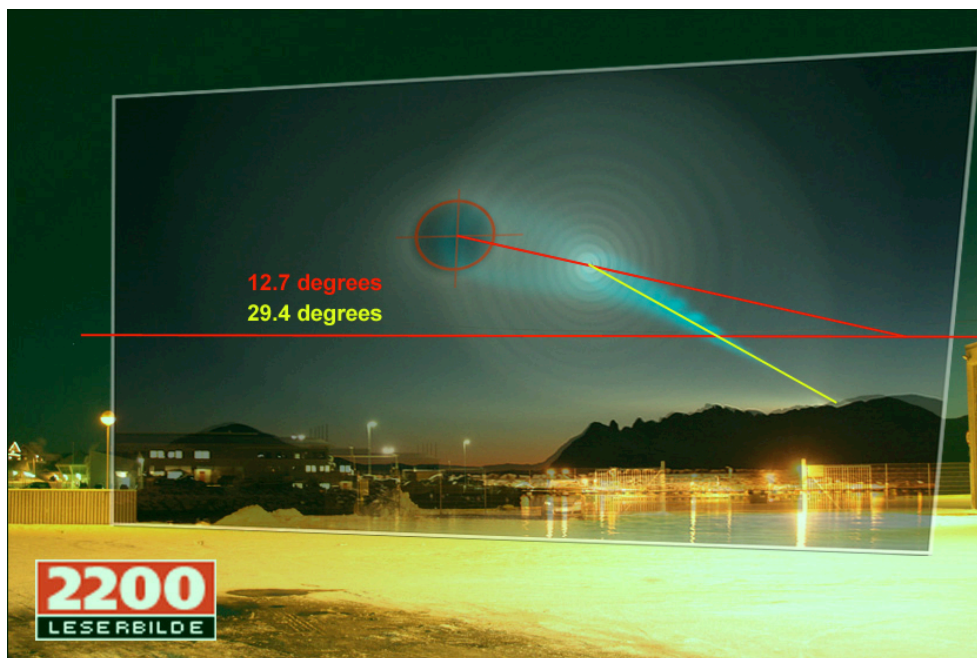

Like--

The embarrassing fact that "something" (or "someone" ...) took physical control of Russia's most advanced weapons system that fateful dawn ....

And then--

Turned it into an all-too-visible global humiliation!?

Our own geometric measurements of the Spiral's "anomalously changing position" in several sets of images, had convinced us that "something" had, indeed, physically intervened in the Russian missile's previous trajectory ... resulting in a sharply-changing flight-path angle across the Norwegian skies (below).

Tony Spell's meticulous and completely independent analysis once again confirmed our own preliminary measurements--

By deriving trigonometrically the "moment-to-moment ground track" positions of the Spiral on a Google Maps vertical projection (below) -- from when it first appeared over the Kola Peninsula--

To when it died ... out over the Barents Sea.

Blatantly demonstrating that "something," indeed, not only physically almost stopped the Russian Bulava in mid-flight ... but had then physically MOVED the "generating center" of the Spiral ... over 50 miles east (from its previous Newtonian missile trajectory, northeast) ... something operating in a definitely "non-Newtonian" fashion!

As we asked in Part I, was someone also sending an unmistakable "message" to the Russian government that morning--

With a blatant demonstration of Hyperdimensional/Torsion Field Physics Technology ...?

And if so--

"Who" ... to "whom" ... and "why?"

And, most important--

Why now?

* * *

Analysis

OK, this is the part where we try to make technical and political sense of some very conflicting information ....

The political questions our preceding analysis of the Norway Spiral raises are non-trivial -- ranging from "why were Putin and Medvedev brandishing their most advanced strategic weapon on the literal eve of Obama's visit to Oslo for his Nobel Peace Prize ...?; to, "was the obvious (now) 'HAARP interaction' with the Russian missile" the result of just "bad timing" (the HAARP experiment "just happened" to coincide with the previously-scheduled Russian test?); or was the use of HAARP to (somehow ...) physically divert and take total control of the Russian Bulava--

Intentional.

And, if the latter, then--

Who was directly "taking on Russia" ... with such a blatant, public demonstration of a stunning "torsion-physics weapons technology?"--

While, at the same time, sending an equally pointed message directly to Obama -- again ... on the literal eve of his high-profile acceptance of a Nobel Prize, for--

World Peace!

What the hell REALLY happened over Norway, that pre-dawn, December 9th!?

This, of course, is where the second "December 9, 2009 Russian sky anomaly" comes in (with gratitude to another Enterprise Associate, Boris Yaroslavtsev, for locating crucial Russian analyses of this amazing apparition ...)--

The "impossible" Moscow Pyramid (below) ....

For, as you may remember from Part II, the same night all this was going down over Norway ... an astonishing video anonymously showed up on "RU" -- the Russian equivalent of YouTube--

December 9th ....

The enhanced screen-grab (above) reveals a stunningly specific geometric structure -- for readers even passingly familiar with the research of the Enterprise Mission -- apparently, brazenly, just "hanging out over the Kremlin" that same December night--

A gigantic ... floating ... Tetrahedron!

Ostensibly -- captured by "two Moscow 20-somethings ... conveniently driving around Red Square late one night, with a video camera ...."

The amazing clip soon moved to YouTube, where it caused additional sensation ... and by then was also being aired, repeatedly, on Russian television ....

Within days, a "daylight" version of "the Moscow Pyramid" suddenly appeared ... and again, was anonymously posted on RU, then on "YouTube" ... and again, was picked up and heavily promoted by Russian TV (below).

As with the Norway Spiral, heated discussions erupted all over the Web re "the Moscow Pyramid" ... unfortunately, revealing the same stark polarities as the other "conversation":

On the offensive:

Those who immediately dismissed "the Pyramid" as "an obvious Photoshop manipulation" ....

Versus--

Those asking "could it, in fact, be Real ...."

Yet, in all the subsequent (and still on-going ...) arguments over these two main viewpoints, the overwhelming scientific and political significance of that specific geometric figure ... "floating over the Kremlin" -- a lazily rotating tetrahedron -- is, to my knowledge, not being discussed anywhere--

I mean, come-on -- it's supposed to be a gigantic ... zero-gravity--

TETRAHEDRON!

Hello!!

TWO blatant representations of "the Physics" (below) suddenly, publicly appear -- within hours of each other -- both over the same former superpower ....

And this is "just coincidence?"

NOT likely ....

As is the fact that the inscribed "tetrahedral angle" -- for a "tetrahedron-inside-a-sphere," which is the representation of the Physics operating inside a rotating sphere ... such as the Earth (above) -- is the canonical--

19.5 degrees.

Precisely the latitude of the Norway Spiral ... minus 90 degrees -- in terms of the angular separation of the Spiral's own latitude (70.5 degrees North) ... relative to the rotational axis of the Earth itself (below)!

While its longitude was--

39 degrees East ... TWICE "19.5" ....

What better, more redundant way to say "this phenomenon represents the Hyperdimensional/Torsion Physics--

"Of the Earth!"

As did -- just a few hours later -- the stunning, redundant appearance of an actual tetrahedron ... floating ... rotating ... directly over the heart of the Capital of the same Nation over which "an intimately connected symbol" of that same "Tetrahedral Physics" -- the Spiral -- had just appeared ... over redundant "tetrahedral" coordinates to boot!

* * *

In terms of "deep connections," there was another inexplicable detail that both the "Norway Spiral" and the "Kremlin Tetrahedron" shared -- despite each phenomenon's great size and distinctive, astonishing geometry: how few eyewitnesses ... out of a potential audience of millions ... there truly were to either ....

In Moscow, for instance:

Out of the literally millions of Moscovites who could have just looked up and seen this amazing "tetrahedral object" with their own eyes ... floating serenely there for "an entire day and night" (according to the Russian reports) ... and even captured amazing images of the amazing figure on their own cell phones ... and then ... flooded RU or Youtube with hundreds of independent videos of this astonishing phenomenon--

In fact, after weeks ... only two anonymous videos of this astonishing "demonstration" over downtown Moscow have appeared--

Which, of course, only reinforces the sceptics' insistence from the beginning that "this was an obvious YouTube hoax ...."

"Ah ... you mean -- just like 'the Norway Spiral' was ONLY 'an obvious Russian missile launch' ...?"

In fact, the situation over Moscow is far more interesting and complex ... going back again to the critical timing of the "Kremlin Tetrahedron" video:

December 9th ....

From one detailed Russian analysis of the sensational "night pyramid video," it is obvious that such a complicated (and expensive!) "special effects production" (if it was, in fact, just that ...) simply precludes "two Moscow amateurs ... faking it in their home computer!"

That--

And the total lack of time for even professionals to "produce" anything of such amazing optical sophistication (below) ... appearing only hours after the Norway Spiral itself had suddenly appeared ....

Here (above) we see another frame-grab from the "Moscow Pyramid video" -- with the "floating tetrahedron" hovering just southwest of St. Basil's Cathedral ... as seen between multiple, moving reflections on the car windows (from the street lights on both sides of the BS Zamoskvoretsky Bridge) ... against the added reflection of the video camera itself (the "ring" seen directly over Red Square in the closed car window ) ... with the brightly lit Square looming up ahead--

All directly under the huge, floating "Tetrahedron in the Kremlin Sky" ....

To get ALL that right -- and, in some home computer system -- and ... within only hours of the appearance of the Spiral--

Would have been simply impossible--

Thus, the simpler hypothesis -- unbelievable content notwithstanding -- was that this was, in fact, a REAL Moscow video--

Of an unbelievably "Real Event"--

Deeply connected to that other, equally "unbelievable event" -- appearing over a thousand miles away ... and just hours earlier--

The Spiral itself.

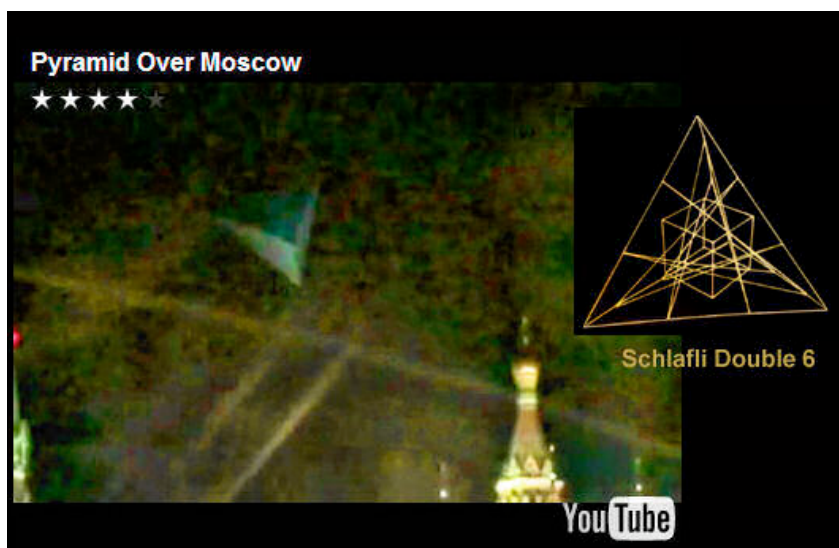

Which, according to the evidence we have uncovered and presented here, was more than likely now caused by HAARP ... deliberately (for some reason ...) applying "Hyperdimensional/Torsion Field Physics" to a Russian missile ....

A Physics whose central icon, representing the underlying mathematics of THAT "multi-dimensional Physics," is a unique geometric figure termed--

The "Schalfi Double-Six"--

Appearing in our three dimensions as "a rotating ... four-dimensional ... Hyperdimensional Tetrahedron" ....

Exactly like what was "videod" calmly floating over Red Square ... that same night.

* * *

So, if the Moscow videos were not "fakes" ... then axiomatically, they had to be real--

Real videos ... of "an equally real, immense Tetrahedron" -- floating with impunity over one of the most heavily-guarded (by the Russian's recent public reaffirmation - see below) air-spaces on the planet!

If that was a Reality, then how come -- as we asked earlier -- only two videographers, of the literally millions of inhabitants of Moscow carrying cell phone cameras these days, even seemed to notice ... let alone capture this extraordinary spectacle on video!?

In other words, if the nighttime Moscow video was real -- and this is critical -- then "millions of Muscovites NOT seeing it ... as it hung brazenly over downtown Moscow ..." strongly implied that "the Tetrahedron"--

Simply WASN'T visible--

To just "anyone" ....

That, in fact, it was employing some kind of "cloaking device" ... some kind of "ultra-stealth technology"--

And thus would only be visible to someone equipped with suitable "stealth-piercing camera technology" (such as certain official Russian agencies ...?).

Or--

Non-Russian "agents," whose presence was carefully timed to be in Moscow that night ... equipped with that same "stealth-piercing video technology"--

Who (for some urgent reason ... right after the appearance of the Spiral) wanted the world to know "what was hanging over Downtown Moscow ..."

If not ... how long it had actually been hanging there!

Because among the many, growing questions around this whole affair, is this one:

"Did this Kremlin 'pyramid event' first occur the night of December 9th ... or earlier?"; for, from another important Russian analysis that Yaroslavtsev forwarded, there is serious reason now to believe that the date of the original RU posting was NOT "December 9th"--

But, perhaps ... as early as "December 1st!"

And, from other Russian identification of the apparent presence of the old "Rossiya Hotel" on the daytime video, it is further possible that that video footage was shot, not in December, 2009 ... but sometime in 2006--

The last year it could have been ... before the Rossiya Hotel was torn down!

It doesn't matter ....

Let me repeat that:

It doesn't matter whether the "Moscow videos" are real ... or fake ... or whether they were shot "live" December 9th ... or re-posted from December 1.

The "message" is in the posting of ANY "tetrahedral Kremlin video" at all ... and the constant running of the "Moscow Pyramid story" on official Russian television--

Right after the appearance of the baffling "Spiral"--

December 9th--

An astonishing aerial phenomenon whose torsion-based Physics was obviously being symbolically reinforced by "the Floating Anti-Gravity Tetrahedron over the Kremlin"--

Regardless of its "reality" ... or not!

But, why officially fake such an obvious and overwhelmingly negative (for Russians ...) political and military message?!

Unless ....

It was the truth?!

Isn't it fascinating then, that the following news item appeared on the official Russian news agency website, RIA Novosti ... just three days AFTER the December 9th posting of the ambiguous video of "the Kremlin Pyramid," boasting that--

"... Moscow is the best protected Russian city, with the sky above the Russian capital guarded by state of the art radars and air defense systems, a top air defense official said Saturday [emphasis added] ...."

* * *

The geopolitical and technical implications of this joint "torsion weapons/power demonstration" -- if that was what the Spiral and the Tetrahedron really were -- are obviously profound ....

Whoever was ultimately responsible for this "technologically dazzling demonstration," not only had apparently used this same torsion technology to physically intervene in the Russian testing of its most advanced ballistic weapons system ... it apparently had also, at some point, defiantly poised the uniquely-redundant geometric symbol of that "torsion weapons superiority"--

Directly over the most guarded air-space in all of Russia--

The Kremlin.

And "someone" -- pretty conclusively the Russians themselves (or, how and why did the Pyramid Video get broadcast again and again on Russian Television!?) -- obviously wanted video of "the Kremlin Tetrahedron" out to the wider world ....

And chose RU, YouTube and Russian Television -- and the guise of "two amateur Moscow videographers ..." -- as their medium for

"making sure the tetrahedron video got out to ... someone."

An object whose sheer presence, floating calmly over Red Square -- despite the belated assurances of Maj. Gen. Pavel Kurachenko, of the Russian Air Force's air defense on RIA Novosti -- was an obvious "military message"--

Not only to Russia ... but the world.

"We are in control!"

Whoever "we" was ... is ....

* * *

Which brings us to the complex Present ....

Given the extraordinary, now proven "Tetrahedral Messages" of both the Norway Spiral and the Kremlin Tetrahedron -- through the obvious importance placed on "19.5" in both -- it is now unmistakable that these were, indeed, nothing less than blatant--

Torsion Physics Demonstrations ....

Specifically linked -- by that "19.5" (surprise ... surprise)--

To the entire, carefully-hidden field ... for the past ~60 years ... of "HD/Torsion Physics."

Further -- this unmistakable connection specifically underscored "a weapons application" for such super-advanced technologies -- i.e. by hanging a startling, anti-gravity, tetrahedron-shaped space vehicle ... right over the Kremlin [and, who's to say what's hanging over the White House in downtown Washington DC, even as I write -- that (because we lack the special technology the Russians seem to have ...) we just can't see ...]!

An obvious spaceship of--

"The Secret Space Program!"

Two overwhelming ... torsion-based ... weapons/space technology demonstrations--

Completely confirming what we could only speculate about in Part I.

OK--

To what end?

Given the obvious proximity of Norway to this "Torsion Weapons Message" -- both in terms of location and in time -- and thus to President Obama's controversial, imminent Nobel Peace Prize acceptance appearance in Oslo -- one of our earliest suspicions was that "the Message" was aimed squarely at--

The President of the United States ... and, thereby, at some policy position(s) of this President ....

Now, of course, we know that Medvedev and Putin were ALSO targeted (it was a Russian missile, after all, that was so dramatically "grabbed" ...) -- which immediately poses the really crucial question--

Why?!--

What could be the ultimate purpose of such a "double-whammy, highly public torsion demonstration" ... and to the leaders of the two militarily most powerful nations on the planet ..!?

The answer to that question, unfortunately, depends totally on the answer to this question:

"Who?"--

Who -- ultimately -- would benefit, from deterring some joint (either current or planned ...) US/Russian action?

Who have now -- in these astonishing apparitions -- publicly taken on BOTH reigning "superpowers" ... here on Planet Earth!?

Again, for those even slightly familiar with the "arc" of our Enterprise investigations over the past 20 or so years, and especially, for those who have read our "magnum opus" on the "radically distorted origins and inside politics" of NASA -- Dark Mission -- it should come as no surprise that our own first thoughts regarding the ultimate "creators" of this obviously "Tetrahedral Warning" was--

The Secret Space Program!

An "over a half-century-long Program" ... completely hidden from all public view ... the REAL Space Program ... based not on "primitive and dangerous space technologies, like rockets ..." -- but on deep-black, cutting-edge, Nazi-WWII-developed HD/torsion technologies--

The development of which has been well-documented in Dark Mission ... and by another Enterprise Associate -- Oxford's Dr. Joseph Farrell.

Apart from being highly relevant to the "Norway situation" (see below), Joseph's unique historical research, serendipitously, now also sheds stunning new light on the real explanation for the long-reigning "UFO distraction" of our time--

Roswell.

Farrell's paradigm-busting research -- based on both newly-declassified WWII Nazi documents, as well as a crucial new perspective on the evidence contained in the various Roswell "eyewitness testimonies," chronicled by other researchers over the years -- is that "Roswell" now, in all probability, represents the deliberate PR distortion of a much more amazing reality--

An entire, hidden, herculian, top-secret, post-WWII torsion research and development program ..."--

Deliberately "smuggled" into the United States at the end of the War.

A program to initially "back-engineer early Nazi-developed WWII torsion technologies and weapons systems ..." -- and then make them operational.

That this -- not "little grey aliens" -- is the Ultra-Top-Secret Reality behind "the sixty-year-old, heavily manipulated, Roswell Legend ..." (below).

An even more startling reality ... artfully hidden behind "the crashed alien UFO cover-story," in all its on-going soap-opera ... for more than 60 years.

The fact is that "Roswell," in Farrell's analysis, is nothing less than a human anti-gravity "torsion" space vehicle ... derived from Nazi-derived technology, brought to the United States at the end of WWII--

Which crashed in a post-WWII "flight test."

Using--

Torsion technologies which, six decades later -- at the beginning of the second decade of the 21st Century -- could easily place "whoever has secretly mastered this real Physics" here on Earth ... and for over ~60 years ... as far ahead of the current US and Russian "space programs" ... as those programs are currently beyond--

The Stone Age!

A fact that someone -- that fateful December 9, 2009 -- wanted both the United States and Russia to vividly remember ....

So ... who?!

* * *

Richard Dolan is a Cold War historian with a deep interest in the post-WWII period. In the course of his staggering effort at original source archives research, Dolan began noting increasingly astonishing "UFO" cases -- occurring repeatedly and worldwide -- throughout this same, early Cold War time period ... appearing in mainstream source materials.

Dolan's eventual critically-acclaimed history of those initial years of "the modern UFO Phenomenon" is titled, appropriately:

UFOs and the National Security State: An Unclassified History, 1941-1973

Volume II of Dolan's research -- UFOs and the National Security State (Vol II): The Cover-Up Exposed, 1973-1991-- contains this perceptive observation (below), relevant to our current Norway/Kremlin problem--

Writes Dolan (with a few editorial "annotations" by Enterprise ...):

"... another thing that had happened was that someone [on Earth] seemed to be developing and flying, if not actual flying saucers, then something very much along those lines. By the late 1980s the signs were becoming clear. Perhaps the Hudson Valley objects were not terrestrial objects, perhaps they were. By the end of the 1980s, however, sightings in California's Antelope Valley and Nevada's Area 51 were of objects that were surely made by the U.S. defense industry. In the judgment not merely of UFO-watchers but aviation and aerospace experts, it looked as if these objects were utilizing a form of field propulsion ...

"That is, anti-gravity.

"Oh what a tangled web we weave when first we practice to deceive ...!"

We can assume that the original lie of the 1940s [that UFOs do not exist] was intended to stall for time; meanwhile, policymakers would frantically try to figure out what was going on. But this lie developed into immense, complex, and ultimately separate [parallel governmental] infrastructure. The longer it continued, the more entrenched the established parties became; the more removed they became from officially established [Constitutional] truths; the less they were able to explain to the rest of the world what was actually going on. It was one thing to explain to the public that one or more extraterrestrial intelligences were freely operating on Planet Earth for purposes which they kept to themselves. It was entirely something else to explain that a massive black infrastructure [of separate, extraterrestrial, human government] had evolved, siphoning off public money, operating in total secrecy for years, developing [and NOT sharing stunning] new technologies, and making profits based on monopolistic exploitation of acquired ET technology. Another still to explain that the U.S. President, or other national leaders for that matter, were not necessarily the key decision-makers when it came to such matters [emphasis added] ...."

Dolan's research provides compelling, independent back-up, then, for our own developing hypothesis -- expressed publicly many, many times ... over many, many years -- that one of these two main types of "ET civilizations," currently interacting with the Earth--

What Dolan calls "a breakthrough civilization"--

Could, in fact, be--

A terrestrially-derived, post-World War II Nazi colony civilization ... attempting to "go home" to the Original--

As extensively detailed in Dark Mission.

Grown outward from Earth ... into the solar system ... inevitably, secretly, building on the Nazi's own early WWII HD/Torsion Physics "anti-gravity" technology ... the same technology also brought to the US as part of Paperclip ... over these past ~60 years.

To become another major component of--

THE Secret Space Program!

What was/is supremely ironic about all this, is the fact that in November, 2009 -- at the Annual "Secrets" Conference, in Tempe, Arizona -- only days before the Norway Spiral and the Kremlin Tetrahedron dramatically appeared ... I presented new results from our on-going Enterprise research into "the origins and political/technical evolution" of such a possible "post-WWII, secret space program" ....

Most critical to this assessment: "who" -- in the "mainstream" -- also has to have politically known about this "hidden reality" ... for those same ~60 years--

The deep, documentable connections now between "Truman" ... "Eisenhower" ... "JFK" ... and yes, "Obama"--

And, shockingly:

"2012"--

As documented, via official Pentagon documents, in the recent NBC-SyFy 2012 Special that we co-produced, airing just last Fall.

Which brings us to--

The current, increasingly provocative manifestations of "some kind of HD/torsion war... currently going on upstairs!"--

A war strongly supporting the idea that there are (now ... after some ~60 years) probably increasing, warring, factions among these Nazi-derived off-world colonies --

As we count down to "2012" ....

And one of those (apparently ...) has now chosen to confront the two largest "conventional" military powers on Earth --

Via "the Norway Spiral" ... and "the Moscow Tetrahedron."

Joseph Farrell's own thoughts on all of this are especially relevant here--

"... so we are left with ... some version of my Nazi International extra-territorial state, with, in my mind, an all but proven track record of the postwar investigation of precisely the technologies to bring down the Towers. Radical and wild and woolly as I think this scenario sounds, it does in my mind rationalize the rather odd signs of 'panic' that 'our' elite has shown since 9/11, for consider the almost frenzied rush into Afghanistan and Iraq (whose true and ultimate purpose, I think, involved much more than oil, and I hint about that ultimate purpose in my books repeatedly). Realizing that they were faced with an extra-territorial state with possession of extraordinarily sophisticated scalar-torsion technology that had been successfully weaponized, they launched a 'war on terror' with radical Islam as the fall guy, when in fact, the real target is something completely different and much more frightening. The behavior of the financial elite during the bailout crisis is another signal, at least to me, that someone has the gun to their heads, they acted like people being blackmailed by some hidden 'protection racket' by insisting on 'no oversight' back in 2008. The only people in the historical record that wielded such financial and technological clout that I can think of were, in fact, the postwar Nazis.

"There is a final, even weirder, consideration, and that's Ian Fleming and his James Bond novels/films. Many people have always considered that he was 'leaking information in the guise of fiction.' Well, consider the movie 'You Only Live Twice,' where you have the following elements clearly displayed:

- 1) An international conspiracy that is extra-territorial, called SPECTRE (Society for the Promotion of Extortion, Criminality, Terrorism, Revenge...);
- 2) That society has a secret space program and is using it to interfere with Russian and American space launches (shades of the recent collision of an American and Russian satellite in orbit above the earth), and to bring the two nations to the brink of war;
- 3) That society has a heavy presence of Japanese criminal underground; and finally,
- 4) It is headed by an obviously German fellow named Ernst Stavro Blohfeld (played by Donald Pleasance, and thus, plump, middle aged, and almost Bormann-esque in appearance)

"So if one grants the proposition that Fleming is 'leaking information', then the conclusion is obvious as to what he's trying to say. And I believe this to be the case because in effect this is what my own research has been able to verify, in that, I have been able to argue points 1,2, and 4 are most likely true, and that would seem to indicate that point 3 is as well.

"So my 'op within an op within an op' scenario is basically that someone, with probable access to hidden space technologies, and with all but certain access to weaponized versions of scalar-torsion technologies, brought the Twin Towers down. That 'someone' is some sort of rogue extra-territorial organization, with deep and historical connections to the radical Islamic underworld, and that leaves me with, guess who, the Nazis. Thus, I believe the second level of that 9/11 conspiracy, our own home-grown elitists, were once again played the fools by the outer and innermost rings of it, in a sort of "squeeze from below squeeze from above" methodology, a methodology that elite has used itself numerous times.

"By using that specific methodology against the very people that use it themselves, the message was sent: we know your game, and lookie-lookie what we can do, what we have possession of. We can literally turn your centers and instrumentalities of power to dust before your very eyes. We are deeply penetrated into your own covert agencies and plans, and the game is now afoot.

"Consider also the Masonic symbolism of what was struck in that way: the Twin Towers, the twin masonic pillars of Jachin and Boaz, sitting in the heart of the Anglo-American elite's financial district. Richard's analysis of the esoteric symbolism {"Who's the Enemy, Really?" at <http://www.enterprisemission.com/tower2.htm>] is as far as I'm concerned right on target, as is his analysis of why radical Islam would be involved. I think, too, he might be willing to entertain my particular "twist" on his scenario, in that one has not only radical Muslims, but worse, unreconstructed Nazis involved with it, after all, the historical connections between the two run very deep. The Muslims do not have access to such technologies, whereas the Nazis were investigating them with a vengeance since at least 1933!

"So, that's it in a nutshell [emphasis added] ...."

Summarizing Farrell's critically important points:

"... so my "op within an op within an op" scenario is basically that someone [human], with probable access to hidden space technologies, and with all but certain access to weaponized versions of scalar-torsion technologies, brought the Twin Towers down. That "someone" is some sort of rogue extra-territorial organization [read -- "off planet Earth" human organization/state], with deep and historical connections to the radical Islamic underworld ...

"And that leaves me with, guess who -- the Nazis [emphasis added] ...."

This -- if in anyway "real" -- changes EVERYTHING--

The "War on Terror" ... "Islamofacism" ... "our invasion of Iraq" ... "the build-up in Afghanistan" ....

And most of all--

"2012."

* * *

One of the stunning "data points" we discovered about half-way through our Spiral investigation totally locks in now with Farrell's "out of the box" Bond comparison--

"... that [movie, extraterrestrial] society has a secret space program and is using it to interfere with Russian and American space launches (shades of the recent collision of an American and Russian satellite in orbit above the earth), and to bring the two nations to the brink of war ...."

It turns out that the EISCAT HAARP facility in northern Norway -- which, as we have now established, was likely involved, somehow, in the generation of the Spiral -- also has a direct, provable connection to this proposed "larger war"; after the mysterious "accidental" satellite collision in early 2009, between the Iridium 33 spacecraft and the old Soviet Union's Cosmos 2251 that Farrell alludes to (above), it turns out that EISCAT was the central HAARP facility used in the subsequent radar detection and cataloguing of the orbital debris from that collision (below)!

An incident which, to me -- as I immediately said on "Coast" when it occurred (to the considerable skepticism of George Noory ...) -- was obviously NOT an accident at all ..."--

Exactly as we can now interpret the dramatic, "simultaneous" appearances of both "the Spiral ... and the Tetrahedron"--

Because--

The war is escalating ....

About a month after the 2009 US/Russian satellite "accident," Maj. Gen. (Ret.) Leonid Shershnev -- a former head of Russia's military space intelligence -- directly accused the United States of having "deliberately destroyed our Cosmos satellite ...."

I immediately reported this on "Coast."

Said Shershnev, in an interview with the Moskovsky Komsomolets newspaper (the same newspaper which has carried detailed coverage of our Enterprise research)--

"... the U.S. satellite involved in the collision was used by the U.S. military as part of the 'dual-purpose' Orbital Express research project, which began in 2007 ...."

This incident (and many more ...) form an unmistakable pattern now, allowing us to trace the potential origins and escalation of this War -- from the Truman Administration ... forward--

Information that, fortunately, is now on DVD ... the remarkably prescient model I was able to present at the Secrets Conference, in November -- which includes uniquely-verifiable, official evidence of exactly "who" murdered President Kennedy ... in light of this new evidence, in part, because he threatened this 'Secret Space Program.'"

Information that will become a much-needed "backgrounder" (if we are right ...) on what is looking to become a heck of a 2010--

"The Year We Make Contact."

With memories of my now-departed friend, Sir Arthur C. Clarke ....

* * *

In the model that Farrel and I are right -- that "there is, indeed, some kind of 'unseen, interplanetary war going on above us at this very moment' ..."--

It's but a small additional step to also ask--

"What other 'signature events' -- besides 911 -- could actually be the result of such a "hidden war" ... with the prodigious and repeated expenditure of "scalar/torsion-field directed energy weapons ... sometimes directed at the Earth ...?"--

One potential answer is a phenomenon called "radar rings" ....

Beginning in about the mid-1990's, two important US technological advances took place:

The Department of Defense "turned on" the first versions of its Alaskan "HAARP" Project ... and the National Weather Service activated the first new "NEXRAD" weather radar systems across the nation.

And thus--

Enabled a nation-wide civilian radar network -- coast to coast -- capable of actually seeing, for the first time, the upper atmosphere/ionosphere "electronic plasma fingerprints" of HAARP experiments (below) ....

And then, on these accumulating NEXRAD radar images of the continental United States ... mysterious, anomalous "radar rings" suddenly began appearing (above)--

And -- have been appearing with increasing frequency ... worldwide ... ever since (below).

Two bizarre features seen on radar over the North West and South East of Australia today ( Jan 22, 2010)
The ring over the south east appeared approximately 30 seconds before the bizarre red star over the north west.

This (above) is a NEXRAD radar image mosaic from January 22, 2010 ... overlaid on a same-day GEOS weather satellite image. It shows two extraordinarily geometric "radar "rings," appearing at opposite ends of the continent of Australia--

Each within 30 seconds of the other!

Even more bizarre, the southeast "ring" (below - right)--

Appeared first -- mirroring to an amazing degree the "torsion-radial-geometry" of the Norway Spiral 44 days earlier ... but in the opposite hemisphere.

Then, 30 seconds later ... the northwest "ring" appeared (below - left)--

Mirroring the final ... "black hole phase" ... of the Spiral's dramatic disappearance ....

The full story of the discovery and evolution of this fascinating southern hemisphere "Spiral-like" radar apparition is chronicled at Colin Andrews' website. Suffice to say, the physics of this phenomenon -- a radar signal being reflected from a highly structured, geometric "target," the geometrically electrified ionosphere overhead -- makes it obvious that if this had occurred at night--

This phenomenon would have "lit up" the Australian skies exactly like those over Norway!

Posing the crucial question:

"How often is this happening now around the world ... and, unlike Norway--

"No one sees it ... because the sun is up!?"

Here's another baffling "spiral" radar example, this one from Switzerland (below) ... from April, 2009:

And here's two "anomalous atmospheric interference patterns," from another weather satellite image, also taken off Australia (below) ....

Joseph Farrel's earlier summation of our conversations -- regarding the increasingly obvious "torsion signatures" we are seeing all around us now including, most pointedly, in the otherwise physically inexplicable, TOTAL destruction of the World Trade Center -- are based in part on the continuing excellent field research conducted into "the physics of 911" by Dr. Judy Wood; Dr. Wood, a former professor of mechanical engineering at Clemson University, South Carolina, has been meticulously sifting the physical and photographic evidence around "911" ever since the attack, attempting to explain the "highly anomalous ways" (below) in which the Towers were actually destroyed.

Based on "impossible" electrical, mechanical and thermal effects experienced by cars and structures miles from Ground Zero (below), Wood's exhaustive research into 911 leaves little doubt now that, indeed, some kind of exotic "directed-energy technology" -- NOT "planes" or "high explosives" -- was responsible for the catastrophic, literal "dustification" (above) of the World Trade Towers on 911 ... and the bizarre collateral damage that "toasted" steel ... but not paper ... literally miles away (below) ....

Based on Wood's remarkable evidence pattern -- for the deployment and use of some kind of advanced "interferometer torsion-field weapon" (our term) in the destruction of the Towers "from afar" -- Farrell has incorporated this astonishing data (with a little kibitzing from Enterprise ...) into his larger "interplanetary war scenario" (above)--

A War obviously "continuing to escalate" ... occurring, perhaps, between some "rebellious faction" of the (in our model) "Nazi-derived Secret Space Program" ... and the "real world" political and economic infrastructure of the rest of this entire Planet ...

An escalation which could now even account for "the tragic catastrophe of Haiti" ....

* * *

In what can only be considered a "reinforcing development" for our far-out "secret space war theory," none other than Hugo Chavez, President of Venezuela, publicly accused the government of the United States, within hours of the Haiti earthquake on January 12th, of using "a HAARP-like energy weapon against the people of Haiti ... deliberately causing Haiti's devastating loss of life ...!"

Even more bizarre ... the original Chavez story (from Spain ...) also ran repeatedly -- precisely like the video of "the Moscow Tetrahedron"--

On Russian television!

Other analysts picked up the narrative, discovering that, ultimately, this could only be viewed as--

The Russians ... publicly attacking Obama ... over "torsion weapons"--

What the hell is really going on!?

Such a "mainstream" political suggestion -- that earthquakes can be used as actual "weapons of mass destruction" -- inevitably brings up the prophetic words of US Secretary of Defense, William Cohen--

And his 1997 public testimony before a US Congressional Committee, where he officially warned that such a devastating technology really does exist ... "whereby they [terrorists] can alter the climate ... set off earthquakes [and] volcanoes remotely ... through the use of electromagnetic waves [emphasis added] ...."

Cohen was describing nothing less than the extreme, weaponized "torsion effects" of ... HAARP!

Is the Russian running of video clips on YouTube, of Hugo Chavez making such outrageous accusations, actually ... another "public message"--

That -- from the Russian's own data (of what actually occurred with their destroyed Bulava?) -- Haiti was also the deliberate victim of such an overwhelming torsion weapon!?

Raising the overriding question--

Who could be next!?

* * *

Is this why Obama's current Secretary of Defense, Robert Gates, on a flight back to Washington from meetings with the government of Pakistan a couple weeks ago, was reported by the New York Times--

"... his final message delivered, he relaxed on the 14-hour trip home by watching "Seven Days in May," the cold war-era film about an attempted military coup in the United States [emphasis added] ...."

"His final message ...?"

More "code" about what might be really going on ...?

And then, what about this--

NASA Administrator, former Marine General, Charlie Bolden, saying just a couple days ago on Israeli Television--

"... one of my jobs as NASA Administrator is to work in coordination with the Secretary of Defense in protection of the planet ... one image that changed everyone's attitude toward that -- I don't know how many of you saw the Hubble image of the asteroid that impacted the planet Jupiter? ... and left a big black spot -- and the spot represented several Earths in diameter. That got everyone's attention all the way up to President Obama. ... understanding Near Earth Objects and things that threaten the planet from outside [emphasis added] ...."

"Things that threaten this planet ...?"

And if this "high political strangeness" was not enough, on January 18th, NASA's latest solar mission, called "STEREO" -- two identical spacecraft, one positioned ahead of the Earth in its annual orbit of the Sun, the other lagging behind -- began streaming some amazing solar images across the Internet (below)--

Images showing strange, identically-sized spherical "objects" -- randomly moving around the constantly updated false-color STEREO images -- in both the "ahead" and "behind" spacecraft cameras.

These sudden appearances caused a flurry of excitement (and apprehension ...) across the "UFO community" on-line ... as some imprudently projected that these "ships" -- compared with the obvious diameter of the near-by Sun itself -- must be--

The size of planets!

In fact, of course -- if real -- they could be much, much smaller ... and simply LOOK "large"--

When projected beside the solar image ... but actually being somewhere much closer to the STEREO spacecraft.

After about 10 days, NASA officially responded--

" ...what you're seeing are compression artifacts, highly magnified. We have to compress the images digitally in order to keep a good rate of taking them and still be able to telemeter them back (across an increasing distance, which weakens the signal and limits how much data we can send per unit time) to earth. The images you are looking at in the video are 'space weather beacon mode' images that are telemetered down nearly continuously ....

Best,

Joe Gurman

(Dr.) Joseph B. Gurman
STEREO Project Scientist"

Not unexpectedly, the dominant web reaction to NASA's belated "explanation" was wide skepticism ....

Which seems to have soon prompted another NASA strategy--

The sudden appearance of STEREO images filled with (obvious!) "electronic artifacts" (below) ...,

Completely concealing any actual "anomalies" ....

Are these, in fact, "massive interplanetary spaceships" ... staging an obvious display for NASA's cameras (note, the wavelength of the cameras ... "195")?

And, is such a display designed to reinforce "the Nobel Message to Obama"--

Of "Norway" and "Moscow?"

By presenting an overwhelming "show of Force ... in Space?"

If the December 9th "Nobel torsion message" was actually a thinly-veiled "torsion intimidation" -- directed at Russia and the United States, but pointedly, on the eve of the US President's Nobel Peace Prize visit ....

Again ... what "Obama policies" could such a repeated "warning" be directed toward?

Could this headline--

"Obama Budget Ends Return-to-Moon Plan!"

--have anything to do with the President of the United States being blackmailed -- by the implicit "warning" behind the Norway Spiral ... and all that has come after--

Into "imprisoning" Humanity on Earth ....

* * *

Update

Developments are proceeding at "Warp Nine" on this continuing investigation ....

Just in:

New video from China--

Which shows another, remarkable, "tetrahedron-shaped spacecraft"--

Just hanging in mid-air ....

According to "People Magazine Daily":

"... In addition to the latest UFO sightings, a pyramid-shaped UFO flying over an unknown part of China was captured on video in December [below] and appears to be the same design as the pyramid UFO that hovered over the Kremlin in Moscow, Russia on Dec. 9, 2009 [emphasis added] ...."

The same "Obama/Kremlin Torsion Message" ... delivered simultaneously to the Chinese leadership!?

This is NOT looking good ....

* * *

Meanwhile, on the NASA front ....

Between January 25th and 29th, Dr. David Jewett (UCLA) -- using the Hubble Space Telescope -- imaged a remarkable solar system anomaly, roughly one Astronomical Unit (~93 million miles) away from Earth ....

An object that, at least to some, eerily resembles a "Klingon Bird of Prey" (below)!

NASA's official explanation is, of course, a bit different ....

"... two small and previously unknown asteroids recently collided, creating a shower of debris that is being swept back into a tail from the collision site by the pressure of sunlight," says Jewitt ....

The timing of this latest NASA "anomaly" -- coming on the heels of all the other anomalies ... Norway ... Moscow ... now China ... the weird stuff near the Sun ... and NASA Administrator Bolden's remarkably prescient comment re asteroids--

"... I don't know how many of you saw the Hubble image of the asteroid that impacted the planet Jupiter [in July, 2009]? ... and left a big black spot -- and the spot represented several Earths in diameter. That got everyone's attention all the way up to President Obama [emphasis added]"--

All lead us to believe that this, too, could be part of the larger "we know where you live" message, which has obviously been resoundingly delivered via several "channels," over the past several weeks ... as we have analyzed above.

Someone really ratcheting up the stakes ...?

Stay tuned.
